350 Turn Out For Keystone Pork Expo

Early Weaning Boasts Health, Cost Benefits For Hog Producers

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

NORTH CORNWALL (Lebanon Co.) — Hog producers can easily benefit with a healthier pig that goes to market a lot sooner, with less expense, if they use some form of segregated early weaning (SEW). An earlier weaned and segregated pig will enjoy a higher health status, eat more efficiently, and go to market faster.

Weaning pigs early and segregating them "is all you need to do" to provide an increase in litters per sow and number of pigs crated per year, according to Dr. L. Kirk Clark, professor, Department of Veterinary Clinical Sciences, School of Veterinary Medicine, Purdue University. Clark said that SEW provides a decrease in days to 250 pounds, boosts feed efficiency, and decreases medication costs and death loss.

Clark spoke on Wednesday during the seminar portion of the Keystone Pork Expo (formerly Pork Congress) at the Lebanon Valley Expo Center at the Lebanon Fairgrounds. About 350 pork producers and industry representatives attended.

The veterinarian reviewed examples of several tests on commercial breeding herds under research near Purdue. Clark told those that the "returns much outweigh the costs" of implementing SEW.

Data on how well the hogs dressed after being raised by SEW will be unveiled at the World Pork Expo this year.

For now, information on one such herd was revealed at the Pork Expo.

The pigs were weaned at 14 days, weighing about 12 pounds. About 500 pigs, purchased from nurseries, were brought in on utility trucks (Ryder was used) to three buildings — simple trailers outfitted with plastic slatted floors and containing fence line feeders. Nipple waterers were used, but cup waterers would prove even more

At the annual Keystone Pork Bowl, a close contest was cinched with the last group of questions. York FFA won first place, beating out the second-place Indiana FFA team 185-130. Maryland Grange Young Couple Enjoy Farming

LOIS SZYMANSKI
Maryland Correspondent

NEW WINDSOR, Md. — Thomas and Brenda Ripley of New Windsor in Carroll County, Maryland, have been named the Maryland State Grange Young Couple of the Year and will attend banquets, dinners, picnics and various Grange events as representatives of the Maryland State Grange. They received the title at a ceremony held at the annual Maryland State Grange session which was held in Hagerstown, Maryland in October.

The Maryland State Grange Young Couple are Tom and Brenda Ripley. The own and operate the Ripley Vale Dairy Farm at New Windsor in Carroll County.

The Ripley's farm, Ripley Vale Farm, is a 225-acre farm which has been in the family for 40 years. Tom and Brenda Ripley took over the farming operation from Tom's parents Ralph and Betty Ripley almost five years ago. Since then, they have added to their farming capabilities by doubling their farmable land with rented parcels. These days the couple farm close to 500 acres.

Tom and Brenda Ripley crop farm much of their land. Last year they farmed 170 acres in corn, 70 acres in soybeans, 125 acres in alfalfa, 20 acres of timothy and 35 acres of barley. They also grew wheat and oats, selling some of their overage.

With approximately 200 grade and registered Holstein cows, Ripley Vale Farm also operates a clean and efficient dairy. The stanchion barn they use for milking is capable of handling 26 head at a time. Currently, with the help of dad, Ralph Ripley, and one hired hand, they milk between 100 and

Changing World For Holstein Breeders

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Members of the Holstein Association USA Inc. have a number of issues to discuss and settle at its upcoming national Holstein convention, set to be held June 25-28 in Pittsburgh, according to discussions and topics covered Thursday at one of the Holstein Association's annual open forums held at the Sheraton Inn in Harrisburg.

John Howard, of Willow Street, and Ron Wood, of Mansfield, both members of the association's board of directors, presided over the forum and sought reaction on a number of issues facing the organization, ranging from amending the bylaws to change whole herd transfer fees to deciding whether a 5-year incremental change, or a rolling base change of Holstein sire values would benefit

National Grain Market

ST. JOSEPH, MO
WEDNESDAY FEBRUARY 15, 1995

DAILY NATIONAL GRAIN SUMMARY

WHEAT PRICES FAILED TO MOVE HIGHER, DESPITE GOOD EXPORT INTERESTS. A PICK UP IN FARMER SELLING THIS WEEK AND SLOW EXPORT DEMAND PUT PRESSURE IN CORN PITS. SOYBEAN PRICES WERE UNEVEN, BUT HIGHER SOYOIL DEMAND AND FUND BUYING OFFERED SOME STRENGTH. WHEAT 2 TO 8 CENTS LOWER. CORN 1 TO 5 CENTS LOWER. SORGHUM MIXED. SOYBEANS MIXED. EXPORT SALES HAVE BEEN GOOD FOR WHEAT THIS WEEK, HOWEVER, FAVORABLE GROWING WEATHER IN WINTER WHEAT AREAS UNDERMINED PRICES. BENEFICIAL SNOWFALL MANY PLACES GAVE PROTECTION TO WHEAT AND PRICES FELL SLIGHTLY. CORN PRICES WERE MODERATELY LOWER IN RESPONSE TO SLOWED EXPORT DEMAND AND LAST WEEK'S CANCELLATION BY CHINA. FARMER SELLING HAS INCREASED LATELY AFTER RECENT PRICE GAINS. REPORTS OF PROBLEMS IN SOUTH AFRICAS MAZE CROP LIMITED U.S.

PRICE DECLINES. EXPORT SOYBEAN SALES ARE SCARCE SO FAR THIS WEEK BUT OIL DEMAND IS UP SOME, ADDING LIGHT SUPPORT TO PRICES. COMMERCIAL BUYING ON THE BOARD WAS FAIRLY HEAVY TODAY. UPCOMING HARVEST IN SOUTH AMERICA KEPT SOME PRESSURE ON BEAN PRICES. GRAINS INSPECTED FOR EXPORT FOR WEEK ENDED 2/9/95: WHEAT TOTALED 23.7 MILLION BUSHELS, CORN 50.0 UP 2.9, SORGHUM 3.5 DOWN 5.0, AND SOYBEANS 21.1 UP 2.9 MILLION BUSHELS COMPARED TO A WEEK AGO. YEAR TO DATE: WHEAT 828.0 DOWN 38.3, CORN 901.3 UP 210.6, SORGHUM 98.8 UP 28.4, AND SOYBEANS 448.6 UP 99.2. The OLD FARMER'S THIS WEEK WITH ALMANAC

FEBRUARY 20-26, 1995

STUDENT VOLUNTEER DAY, FEB. 20.

A GENTLE GIANT

Robert P. Wadlow was not an exceptionally big baby when he was born on February 22, 1918. But at age 2, after a hernia operation, he began growing — really growing. When he entered kindergarten at age 5 he was 5'6" tall. At 9 he was 6'2" and using a specially made school desk. At age 13 he was believed to be the tallest Boy Scout in the world at 7'4". In the face of worldwide notoriety and the considerable everyday problems his size presented, Robert remained friendly and kind to everyone he met. Robert was 8'11.1" and 490 pounds when he died at age 22. He was big, but it was his gentle nature that made him a giant among men.

The great man is he who does not lose his child's heart.

TIP OF THE WEEK

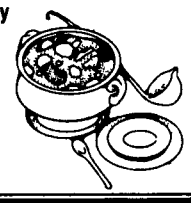
FRENCH FARMER'S BAKED BEEF AND BARLEY

1 1/2 pounds stew beef
3 tablespoons oil
1 medium onion, chopped
5 cups beef stock
1/2 teaspoon thyme
1/2 teaspoon marjoram
1/4 teaspoon rosemary
1 cup barley
1 tablespoon chopped fresh parsley



Trim all fat from beef and cut into 1/2-inch cubes. Heat oil in large skillet and sauté onion. Add beef and brown on all sides. Place onion and beef in 3-quart ungreased casserole. Combine stock, herbs, and barley in the skillet and bring to a boil. Pour stock mixture over the beef, cover, and bake for one hour. Garnish with parsley and serve with French bread.

Makes 4 servings.

The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER PROVERBS

In February if thou hearest thunder, Thou wilt see a summer's wonder.

If it freezes on St. Matthias' Day (24th), it will freeze for a month together.

Special Offer
Handy chart full of interesting weather proverbs. Send $3 to Weather Chart, Dept. UF, The Old Farmer's Almanac, Box 520, Dublin, NH 03444.

With the high cost of today's pesticides, can you afford sloppy application?

Willmar Air Ride™ lets you apply 1/2 ounce per acre at 12 mph.

Today's post-emerge herbicides and insecticides are so powerful they're applied at almost unbelievably low rates. Like 1/2 ounce per acre in solution. That means you need an applicator as precise as the chemistry. And, because timing with these new products is so critical, you need a self-propelled applicator nimble enough to get into fields even in the mud.

For dependable application of today's sophisticated pre-emerge and post-emerge chemicals, more custom applicators and large farmers rely on Willmar Air Ride. Here are just some of the reasons :

- Unequaled visibility, driver comfort and convenience.
- Patented Air Bag Suspension adjusts on-the-go.
- 60 ft. boom, 600 gal. tank for more acres per day.
- Articulated steering minimizes crop damage.
- Wheel tracks adjust from the cab to fit row widths.
- Low-compaction tires grip soft ground, yet won't crush crops.
- Adjustable boom fits various crop heights.
- Reliable John Deere engine, long-term dependability.

With 50 years experience making top-of-the-line ag spreaders, we know quality when we see it. Whether we make it ourselves, or represent it for others: When you get it from Stoltzfus, it's the best you can buy.

If you believe that quality always pays, call us whenever you need fertilizer equipment and accessories. We'll show you many ways quality will pay you back.

OPINION

Nurturing The Bumper Crop

Starting today and all this week FFA members in high schools all over the nation are planning to celebrate and highlight the achievements of FFA and agricultural education during National FFA Week Feb. 18-25.

The theme this year is "FFA — The Leadership Advantage." This theme is certainly appropriate as many young people who have gone through the FFA programs in their local school district have become leaders both in agriculture, agribusiness, and the community at large. Many local, state, and national leaders are former FFA members.

FFA chapters conduct activities which develop leadership skills of high school students. And these experiences give the student good references as proof of integrity and work ethic in later years when they apply for a job or enter some other field of endeavor.

Right now 428,109 members of FFA across the nation are preparing for leadership and careers in the science, business, and technology of agriculture. And behind the 7,257 local chapters are dedicated teachers who not only impart knowledge, but often become the mentors of these young people.

FFA's mission is to make a positive difference in the lives of students by developing their potential for premier leadership, personal growth, and career success through agricultural education. Someone has said a lucky farmer is one who has raised a bumper crop of good boys and girls. We think FFA helps to nurture this crop very nicely.

Thank You!

Now Is The Time

By John Schwartz

Lancaster County Agricultural Agent

To Improve Swine Profitability

The past several months have not been pleasant experiences for swine producers. However, this has not been the first time we have seen low hog prices.

One long-time producer told me this is the third time in his career he had seen such loses.

The important thing to remember is, beyond hog prices, the production-related items with the greatest influence on profit are feed costs, maintaining facilities at capacity, and sow productivity.

The price of feed is difficult to control. Decreasing building capacity will generally reduce profits per pig. However, increasing sow productivity can add dollars to your bottom line, according to Dr. Ken Kephart, Penn State swine specialist.

Most sows will wean at least eight pigs per litter. Increasing that average to 8.5 or 9, the profit over feed costs on those extra pigs, even with today's depressed market, is at least $25 per head.

However, it will take a little extra effort on your part. You will need to make sure things go well at farrowing, to check sow comfort and temperature, and watch pigs throughout lactation and transferring.

Kephart notes of all the things that farmers can do, it is farrowing management that pays major dividends.

To Manage Crop Residues

There are many ways to reduce soil erosion on the farm. A simple and inexpensive way on fields is the management of crop residues.

Crop residues left on the surface of the soil will intercept rain drops and reduce erosion. The more residue, the less erosion. Any field operation will reduce residue and increase the potential for erosion.

Some operations are less damaging to residues. Each time an implement is used in the field, crop residue is reduced. Weathering also contributes to the loss of residue.

Some examples of percent reduction in residue based on various operations are harvesting, 10; moldboard plow, 97; chisel plowing, 50; disking, 60; anhydrous injection, 60; drill with disk openers, 10; drills with hoe openers, 50; and field cultivation, 50.

Crop residue management is another way farmers are helping to protect the environment and maintain the productivity of their soil for future generations.

To Know Cattle Feeding Behavior

According to Glenn Shirk, extension dairy agent, there has been identified a behavior in cows called social facilitation.

In this behavior, when one cow eats, others will also eat whether they are hungry or not. Cows eating in groups eat more than when fed separately. Cows in groups also tend to be more content and less fearful.

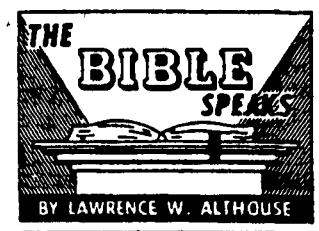
Competition for feed may develop when cows are housed in groups and when manger space is short. In one study, intake of a total mixed ration (TMR) was depressed when manger space was less than 8 inches per cow.

In another study, intake was not different when cows had 8 or 20 inches of manger space. Also, there is evidence that cows feeding with their heads in the natural grazing position produce more saliva than cows eating with their heads held horizontally. This has an impact on rumen function, because saliva acts as a natural buffer.

A commonly overlooked feeding factor is a cow's access to water. Research has shown that cows who had access to feed and water 24 hours a day produced more milk than if access to feed and water were restricted.

The bottom line is to make sure cows have adequate access to feed space, feed, and water.

Feather Prof.'s Footnote: "The moment you commit yourself, the opportunity for success becomes a reality."



SAVE YOURSELF!
February 19, 1995

Background Scripture:
Matthew. 27:1-44
Devotional Reading:
John 3:14-21

In last week's The Bible Speaks I said that I think Jesus could have avoided the cross if he had been willing to temper or forsake his commitment to God. Even after he was arrested there was still another chance or two to avoid crucifixion.

When he was brought before Caiaphas the high priest, Matthew tells us, they found no actual witnesses to testify against Him. Then, when some witnesses were bribed and accused him of saying, "I am able to destroy the temple of God, and to build it in three days," he could have explained that he had been misunderstood, for he was not speaking of the actual Jerusalem temple. When, standing before Pilate he was asked, "Are you the King of the Jews?" Jesus could have talked his way out of the confrontation. He might have said that he never claimed to be king, or that his kingship was spiritual, not temporal.

LEGIONS OF ANGELS

Perhaps Jesus even had an opportunity when he was hanging on the cross. In the Garden of Gethsemane (Matthew 26:53) Jesus had said to his disciples who wanted to resist arrest with violence, "Do you think that I cannot appeal to my Father, and he will at once send me more than twelve legions of angels?" And this is what his tormentors had in mind when they railed at him, "You who would destroy the temple and build it in three days, save yourself! If you are the Son of God, come down from the cross." The chief priests, scribes and elders also taunted him: "He saved others; he cannot save himself" (40-42).

I'm not at all sure Jesus couldn't save himself, but it is apparent that he did not attempt to do so. Had Jesus called down angelic legions to save him from the cross, would he really have been saved? If he had argued his case before Pilate, might he not have been able to get off with a reprimand? If he had gotten out of town before Good Friday, might he not have survived to preach, teach and heal some more?

There are times when we too can save ourselves by muting the message, keeping silent in the face of injustice, going along when our conscience calls for us to "make waves," turning our backs on those who need our help, waiting for someone else to take the lead. But when we save ourselves that way, we find that we are not really saved. Being rejected by others for the sake of our convictions is not the worst thing that can happen to us. Jesus knew that the worst thing that could happen would be to reject God's purpose of him. It is also our own "worst case scenario."

Actually, the one thing that we cannot do — is to save ourselves! Not in the long run. Only God can save us. To save ourselves in the here and now may place us in jeopardy in the hereafter. What Jesus did estranged him from many of the religious people of his day. When we put right before might, principle before profit, eternal security before temporal safety, we may find ourselves estranged from those who march to the world's tempo. But it is better to be estranged from society than from the kingdom of God.

The wonder of Jesus' crucifixion is not that he died, but the way he died, totally innocent of the charges made against him the victim of trumped-up accusations, forsaken by his disciples when he needed them most, reviled by both passers-by and religious officials, suffering an inhuman execution. Jesus could well have thundered threats, curses, and recriminations. Who among us would have resisted the temptation to call out to our tormentors, "You'll all be sorry!"?

But Jesus died as he lived with a power and majesty that the world could neither take away nor diminish. And in doing so he saved both himself and us.

BIG DUTCHMAN LAYER AND PULLET CAGE SYSTEM

BIG DUTCHMAN BROILER SYSTEMS

It's interesting that some Poultry Producers who would never buy the cheapest tractor in the lot will buy the cheapest equipment for their birds. If you want equipment that lasts, that costs little to maintain but delivers a lot in every workday, you want what Producers all across the country have already discovered: Big Dutchman, the "Mark of Excellence" and Hershey Equipment, Co. "A Step Ahead". You can always find cheaper equipment. But these days, who can afford it?

LEBANON® EXTRA
Granulated Starter Fertilizer
"THERE'S MORE TO IT THAN JUST NPK"
For over 47 years, farmers throughout the Mid-Atlantic Area from New York to Virginia have produced millions of dollars of crops using Lebanon Extra fertilizer.
Lebanon Extra is an ammoniated, homogenous. granular NPK fertilizer. With the increased emphasis on using less and precise applications of plant food, Lebanon Extra provides the nutrient sources that you can depend on, and not just NPK but also secondary and six micro-nutrients. The nutrient integrity of Lebanon Extra is superior to bulk blend fertilizer products. When using row applications or banding accurate amounts of plant food it can be important to use a safe, quality, uniform grade product. If you are using a blend with MAP compare the value of Lebanon Extra.
LEBANON EXTRA PLANT FOOD
Ammoniated Granular Fertilizer
Homogenous
Secondary and Micros
Uniform Analysis
Low Chlorine for Sensitive Crops
Safer to use in row applications
Economical to use on all Crops
Get the Starter Effect by staying 2x2
Excellent for No-till Corn

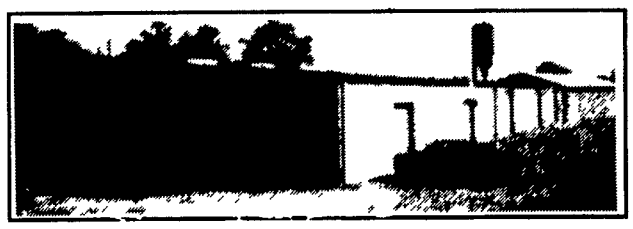
PARADISE TOBACCO SALES

ATTENTION TOBACCO FARMERS

We Couldn't Do It Without You!



Thank you farmers! We are sorry we couldn't get the price any higher. Maybe if farmers don't sign any contracts next year we may have a price increase. If you look at this year's tobacco pricing, there was not much fluctuation - this is what the tobacco companies want.
Tobacco prices at a steady level is not a problem if it were $1.35/Lb. and each buyer gets his share at the same price level with even pricing from start to finish.

A thought for the Farmers: The tobacco company decides, before the auction starts, how much tobacco they will buy out of the auction barn - then they will divide out orders to whomever. Same way on country buying. Also, they decide the price before auction starts, or try to. When dealing with these people, we need to use common sense.

Thank You

Atlantic Locals Hold Annual Meeting

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

MT. JOY (Lancaster Co.) — "The dairy farmer has five things to sell: fat, protein, water, cows, and the farm. The farmer who sells the first three successfully gets to keep the last two."

With this quote, Amy Esbenshade, Lancaster County dairy princess, opened the after-lunch presentations at the annual meeting of Atlantic Dairy's Donegal and Lititz locals of District seven. Amy said it is getting more difficult to be a farmer because farmland is being "gobbled up by big-time developers." She said her home farm has been in the family for 125 years, but even with the surrounding development "we intend to keep it at least that many more years."

"Sticker shock" was what Amy called the price of buildings, silos, computers, and milking and cooling equipment. She listed a free stall barn for 400 cows at $339,527; two bunker silos at $75,782; computers and software, $3,500, and milking cooling equipment at $218,655 for a grand total of $1,631,029.

"Still, we are hanging on," she said. "The American farmers are learning how to manage their land to provide food for people every day. I have tremendous pride knowing I am part of the world's most indispensible industry that provides the basic necessities of life. Agricultrue forms the backbone of our entire earth, and that's something I want to continue to be part of."

Tom and Shirley Krall, young cooperator couple, reported on their activities and recommended others take the opportunity to apply.

Rhelda Royer, director, reported on a number of activities for the cooperative:

• The age for young cooperator couples has been raised to 40 years-old.

• A $500 scholarship is now available for each district to give to a student, son or daughter of a member producer, for any field of study, not just ag or home economics.

The Hershey Foods deal has been completed with 480 shippers to Hershey, choosing to become Atlantic members. This brings total cooperative membership to 3,911, including 189 patrons.

The Communicator cooperative publication will go from a monthly to a quarterly--January, April, July, and October.

• HOLLY MILK PLANT is doing well with the new equipment that added desirable versatility to the manufacturing operation.

Winners of quality premium awards. From left, Rhelda Royer, director, presents awards to Mary and Paul Sauder, and Orpha and John Peters. The Peters' son and daughter-in-law, Dennis and Nancy, are also part of the farming operation.

• Atlantic Cooperative's bottom line increased to over $7 million in 1994 from over $5 million in 1993.

Robert McSparran, president, Atlantic Dairy, said the cooperative's board aimed to be good stewards of your money and make all the profit we can. He said members were the mainstay of the cooperative and deserved the most consideration. However, the people who handle the milk, the milk dealers also deserve consideration. It's the cooperative's responsibility to furnish these handlers milk every day as they want it or to divert it somewhere else and try to get as much money out of the market place as possible.

McSparran said butter has suddenly become popular. In addition, the increase in exports and the excessive rains in California contributed to the rise in the cheese price. He called the price rise temporary but said even though production was up, sales have been up also. In fact, since the approval of BST, milk sales have continued to show a slight increase in consumption.

He said the quality premium and over-order premiums were good for members but said the over-order premiums were not guaranteed. While the cooperative works with neignboring cooperatives to bargain for over-order premiums, the work is being done only on a regional basis, and movement from western markets to the East would continue to put pressure on our markets. But right now the cooperative is the only organization in the nation to pay over-order

Early Weaning Boasts Health, Cost Benefits

effective for this SEW system, according to Clark.

The pigs did well, consumed the medicated feed provided to them readily, and simply "ate and grew," said Clark. Teams carefully monitored the pigs for various diseases, particularly strep suis, and treated as found.

The pigs soon grew into what Clark affectionately referred to as "fat butterballs," and feed uptake, conversion, and weight was carefully monitored.

Up until they were transferred to the finishing house at 45 pounds (56 days old), SEW performance data was monitored. Mortality stood at less than 2 percent. Average daily gain (ADG) was posted at .85 pounds per day. Feed efficiency stood at 1.41.

There were some mild health problems with the pigs, including dehydration (water was added to the feed pellets), some strep suis, some staph hyicus, and some nonspecific bacterial pneumonia (a consistent cough which comes and goes). Because of the slatted floors, there were some incidences of mild foot and leg problems which were readily treated. Overall, mortality was kept low and careful and consistent monitoring checked most disease threats.

(As an example of SEW efficiency, Clark noted that a similar system looked at 2,290 pigs from commercial herds that went to finish. Mortality was 1 percent, ADG was 1.88, days to 230 pounds was 162, and days to 250 pounds was 173.)

Using a network can allow smaller swine finishing businesses to enjoy the same price and profit benefits that large producers enjoy, according to Tom Congelton, marketing manager of the Central Kentucky Hog Marketing Association in Springfield, Ky.

To make use of SEW effectively, producers may have to concentrated vaccination and antibiotic programs on sows. Research proves that more diseases are transmitted to the pigs from the sows the longer the pigs are kept with the sows.

Studies compared the effects of modified early weaning (MEW) using all treatments with SEW using no treatements. Using MEW, it tooks 60 days to rear a 62.5-pound pig. With SEW and no treatments, in 60 days, the pigs weighed 60.5 pounds.

What is surprising, according to the veterinarian, is that many of the pigs in the SEW program came from herds that had PRRS, APP, PRV, and other diseases. But early weaning and segregation alone allowed those pigs to experience a two-pound-per-day gain and less days to 70 pounds.

A continuous flow program, as contrasted to the all-in, all-out SEW system, took many more days (220) than the SEW program (140 days) to 230 pounds.

Researchers now know why, in the old days, pigs were generally healthier — because they were weaned early and allowed to go into the fields, thus segregating the pigs from the older, disease-carrying animals.

For an effective SEW program to work, feed costs and labor will increase. But the days to 250 pounds and medical costs will decrease if proper cleanup and biosecurity is observed. If using the same site, people management is important — work on the new pigs first, then the breeding herd, then the finishing pigs last, and make sure the new pigs are kept free of bacteria and viruses from the older animals.

The SEW nursery should have open flooring, an adequate fenceline feeder, three square foot of space per pig, and airflow equalling two cubic feet/minute. Temperature should be 84 degrees at pig entry and 72 degrees at exit to the finishing house.

The studies concluded that using SEW, benefits included increased litters per sow per year, increased pigs crated per year, days to 250 pounds lowered by 50 days, and feed effeciency lowered by 0.5 pounds. SEW decreases the medication costs and overall death loss — which could mean greater profit for producers.

Using SEW, producers could experience up to a $12-per-hog decrease in rearing costs if using more than 1,200 sows. Producers with 300 sows could see a $6-per-hog decrease in costs. (Simply using all-in, all-out methods, producers with 150 to 1,200 sows more can see a decrease cost per pig ranging from

Managing employees is often an "inexact science" and it is often difficult to determine the motivations as to why certain ones stay or leave, according to Gary G. Maas, executive vice president, AGRIcareers, Inc., Massena, Iowa.

Weaning pigs early and segregating them "is all you need to do" to provide an increase in litters per sow and number of pigs crated per year, according to Dr. L. Kirk Clark, professor, Department of Veterinary Clinical Sciences, School of Veterinary Medicine, Purdue University.

$2-$4, according to Clark.)

Producers who pool their resources into a network and use an off-site cooperative nursery could see a $9 per hog benefit using SEW, according to the veterinarian.

For more information about SEW, contact Clark at Purdue University, Department of Veterinary Clinical Sciences, School of Veterinary Medicine, South Campus Courts — A, West Lafayette, IN 47907-1248, (317) 494-1209.

Swine Co-Op

Using a network can allow smaller swine finishing businesses to enjoy the same price and profit benefits that large producers enjoy, according to Tom Congelton, marketing manager of the Central Kentucky Hog Marketing Association in Springfield, Ky.

Congelton spoke to producers about the hog marketing association, a co-op of producers based in Springfield. The group of small individual producers, which organized in 1990, encompasses a five-county central region in Kentucky. Members of the organization each ship about 10-100 hogs per week to about seven different plants.

The first load shipped was April 1, 1991.

Last year, there were a total of 25 producers who sold more than 30,000 head of animals. In 1995, Congelton projected the membership should total about 40 producers who will market 45,000-50,000 hogs per year.

Congelton examined the risks involved and provided information on how producers can get organized. He emphasized that the network "is a business" and should be run that way.

The price for the co-op's hogs is established using the Mid-South Meat Market broadcast through DTN. A formula for pricing is established using the Meat Market and up-to-the minute quotes from the Direct Indiana/Illinois market price.

For the 30,350 hogs sold, average price per hundredweight was $40.86 in 1994. Total head sold as of Wednesday was 3,274 with an average hundredweight price per head of $40.26, according to Congelton.

By boosting the volume sold, premiums paid for quality animals goes up, at a 52 percent lean hog.

1994 Hog Disaster

The 1994 "hog disaster" provided the lowest prices paid to producers since 1972, according to H. Louis Moore, professor of ag economics at Penn State.

In 1995, "we're going to have the biggest pork supply we've ever had in this country," said Moore at the Expo.

Moore reviewed the dismal, bleak year of 1994 for producers in general.

In the year, seven percent of Pennsylvania pork producers simply quit the business, according to Moore. About two percent of the producers in the state raise 37 percent of the total number of hogs.

Packers and retailers had a banner year, according to the ag economist. Pennsylvania ranks 15th in the country in hog marketing and 10th in hog slaughter.

As a result of liquidation, pork supplies will soar to the highest ever in the country. In 1994, producers share of the retail price of pork dropped to 23 percent (it was 59 percent in 1975).

The Feb. 13 hog futures price (if producers want to hedge) stood at $38.37 per hundredweight in April and $44.15 in June. Moore said that prices this year could reach $42.00-$43.00 per hundredweight but he doesn't see the price going above $45.00.

Overall, U.S. meat production will increase four percent in 1995 (at least) over last year, according to Moore. Broilers will be up at least six percent and turkeys at least nine percent.

What is helping is the movement of pork to Russia, but this is being subsidized by U.S. taxpayers through the Pork Export Enhancement Program.

Keeping Employees

Managing employees is often an "inexact science" and it is often difficult to determine the motivations as to why certain ones stay or leave, according to Gary G. Maas, executive vice president, AGRIcareers, Inc., Massena, Iowa.

Maas provided some of the results of a survey conducted on 687 agribusinesses as to what motivates people in their decision to either stay or leave a company at the Expo.

Achievement, growth, recognition, and responsibility made up 58 percent of what motivated those who stay on the job. Benefits and time off amounted to 6.6 percent. Supervision amounted to 17.8 percent.

Those who do the hiring should look for the employee that works beyond merely getting the paycheck, according to Maas, and for the following qualities: time management, inspired work level, are good teachers, and put in the extra effort.

Contests

Despite the severe weather, at the Expo's junior public speaking contest, 11 youth participated, according to Bruce Lemmon, chairman.

Winner of the junior division was Lacy Miles, 8, Coudersport, daughter of Annette Miles, who spoke about "humor in the pig pen." Lacy is a member of Pigs R Us 4-H.

Winner of the intermediate division was Kelly Dutrey, 14, Dallastown. The daughter of George and Susan Dutrey, Kelly spoke about "pork producers' rights." She is a member of the York County 4-H.

Winner of the senior division was Chrissy Michalik, 16, Sellersville, and Montgomery County 4-H member. She spoke about "Pork: The Other White Meat."

Dairy Network Launches New Program, Seeks Project Leaders

KUTZTOWN (Berks Co.) — A group of regional agriculture and conservation organizations announced a new project - the "Dairy Network Partnership" - to help dairy farmers in southeastern Pennsylvania address key economic and environmental challenges. This two-year project seeks to provide new opportunities for Pennsylvania dairy farmers to improve profitability, conserve natural resources, and address consumer concerns through partnerships with a wide range of stakeholders in the dairy industry.

Organizations that are participating in the project include the Rodale Institute, the Atlantic Dairy Cooperative, the Pennsylvania Association for Sustainable Agriculture, the Chesapeake Bay Foundation, and the Pennsylvania State University. Funding for the initiative is provided by the Pew Charitable Trusts and two new staff persons will be hired.

According to Cary Oshins, Project Coordinator with the Rodale Institute, the formal kick-off for the project will be a "dairy network conference" later this spring to bring together leaders in the region's dairy industry. "This conference will allow us to introduce the project to a wider audience, gain new participants, and identify barriers farmers face in addressing environmental problems," Oshins said. "This process will also help us identify new incentives for farmers and further develop the project's work plan."

The initiative also recognizes that programs to address agricultural nonpoint source pollution will not be successful if they focus solely on the farmer. Conservation programs promoting nutrient management, stream protection, and water quality must be consistent with and supported by other changes and trends in the dairy industry.

New resources being developed by Penn State will be available for the project, including a farmstead evaluation tool. Drawing from the "Farm*A*Syst program developed in the Midwest, the evaluation will help farmers and technical assistants prioritize potential pollution sources for barnyards, pastures, and streams areas. These areas can be sources for concentrated runoff and groundwater pollution.

The project will be hiring two new staff and invites applicants to submit letters of interest and resumes with references. The "Project Leader" will be responsible for day to day management of the project and will work with a wide array of groups, from farmers to dairy processors to community leaders. This person will coordinate among the organizations in the partnership, develop educational materials and convene the conference. The Project Leader will need a strong working knowledge of the Pennsylvania dairy industry.

The second position, the "Project Associate," will be responsible for the project's educational efforts. Since much of this work will be directed toward dairy producers, hands-on experience with dairy farming is required. Other duties will include coordinating on-farm demonstrations and field days and identifying incentives for environmentally sound farming practices. This individual will also work extensively in one-on-one and small group situations.

For more information on the project, contact Cary Oshins at the Rodale Institute (610-683-1400) or Laura England at the Atlantic Dairy Cooperative (215-322-0200).

Letters of interest and resumes can be submitted to: Dairy Network Project, Rodale Institute, 611 Siegfriedale Rd., Kutztown, PA 19530. The deadline for applications is March 1.

Calhoun Named Dairy Promoter

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — Anna Calhoun, Dayton, was recognized this week as the dairy "Promoter of the Year" at the 1995 Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program Annual Meeting, Nittany Lion Inn. State College.

The award is given to recognize an individual who provides outstanding service to local promotion activities in Pennsylvania.

"Anna's contribution to the dairy industry is an example to everyone in dairy promotion," said Harold Shaulis, PDPP Local Promotions Chairman, in announcing the award. "When I heard the list of Anna's activities, I was truly amazed. We consider it an honor to recognize an individual's dedication to Pennsylvania's dairy industry."

Calhoun was 1993-94 Indiana/Armstrong County Dairy Princess when she won the Dairy Princess Promoter Tina Schultz Memorial Award.

In the awards ceremony, John and Orpha Peters and son and daughter-in-law Dennis and Nancy Peters, along with Paul and Marv Sauder, received quality premium awards.

In the election of officers and delegates for the Donegal Local: Steve Hershey, president; Paul Sauder, vice president; Jacob Conley, secretary/teasurer; Earl Landis and David Martin, delegates; Steve Hershey and Homer Hess, alternate delegates.

In the Lititz Local: Nevin Horning, president; Elmer High, vice president; Marvin Sauder, secretary/treasurer; John Wenger, Gerald Martin, Nevin Horning, Marvin Sauder, and Dale Hershey, delegates, and Leonard Martin, Andrew Miller, Harry Becker, Jr., Ed Sensenig, Paul Fahnestock, and Don Hershey, alternate delegates.

In other news, Atlantic announced a $3.78 million distribution to members in patronage refunds. The money represents member equity or investment in the cooperative. The amount distributed to each member is based on the amount of milk each member sold during the 1989 fiscal year. Atlantic distributes its patronage refunds on a five-year revolving schedule.

Judges for the contest were Chris Herr, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, Harrisburg and Mike Firestine, Lebanon Valley Bank.

Cumberland County FFA team, which placed third, is comprised of Angela Hoffman, Michelle Cornman, Curt Lehman, and Heather Lehman. Coach is Bruce Lemmon.

Bethany Alana Elkin, 19, daughter of Sam and Paula Elkin, Marion Center, was appointed pork industry representative at the Expo. A sophomore in ag engineering at Penn State, Bethany helps on her father's 500-sow farrow-to-feeder operation. Bethany has been involved with the Marion Center 4-H.

At the legislative activity fund auction, $9,810 was raised to benefit the fund, according to Abe Fisher, president of the state pork producers council.

Some of the issues during the day-long fourm ranged from the continuing challenge of identification of registered animals to calling for a return to annotating on pedigrees that a sire was rated as a Gold Medal sire in his day.

The open forums are held annually prior to the national convention so that directors, delegates and members can begin the process of building consensus on issues that affect the industry.

For the purpose of facilitating discussions, attendees are given a booklet with a suggested agenda, though groups are invited to create their own agenda, according to what other issues and information members consider to be important.

The issues in the booklet were animal identification, goals of field representatives and how they should coordinate promotional efforts, a review of association finances and expenditures, several proposed bylaws changes, changes in the rules of the National Dairy Herd Improvement Association, changes in the herd's Redbook, semen from foriegn-owned bulls and registration of offspring, an upcoming pilot program (A-Value Program) that is to give cow family traits some comparative values, the existing herd classification programs and average scores since switching from a four-category rating system to a five-category system, among some others topics for review.

When the convention business meetings get underway, some of these issues are expected to be voted upon, while others are expected to receive more attention and discussion.

Overall, according to discussion Thursday, the association is apparently doing well financially, although there has been some delay in getting a new main computer installed. The old mainframe computer has been used long past its practical expectations, and will probably not provide any resale value.

Members generally agreed that the gist of rules changes proposed by National DHIA — which is to put the onus of determining the accuracy of individual producer records on the user of those records, instead of DHIA — will work, and that, while more discussion is necessary, breeders ought to be allowed to be more flexible in testing procedures.

The buyer-beware thinking also seemed to continue into discussions of whether or not the association should support a five-year wait before changing the predicted transmitting abilities of sires based on new daughter information.

According to statements from several in attendance, most of the world's breeding organizations use a five-year interval before recalculating the values. Canada and some others use an annual updating method, called a rolling base, which changes the values annually.

It was said Thursday that prior to the 1980s, a rolling base was used, but breeders complained about losing value on a heifer calf even before she was born because the rating of the sire decreased after 12 months.

Though not demonstrating a strong commitment to either, those attending the Harrisburg forum seemed to consider that both types of base reporting requires more educational efforts to members.

Steve Berland, Holstein Association's director of type evaluations, presented a review of the different breakdown system for classifying animals.

As a result of a survey that was done about client satisfaction with the new classification system, Berland said that the majority of people surveyed understood the new program (56 percent), while 31 percent said they didn't understand it very well.

While the percentages that Berland reported, using cells and an overhead projector, differed slightly from those included in the forum topic guide, they were within a few points of each other.

The survey further showed that 69 percent found their classifier helpful in explaining the new system, and that most people found information material distributed by Holstein Association USA Inc. helpful, while the majority thought the new system beneficial to them as breeders.

What the change has attempted to do is to remove more subjectivity in classification and eliminate some of the "unwanted" ratings. Previously there were a seemingly incongruously large number of 85-point cattle, compared to 84-points, and a lot of 90s compared to 89s.

According to Berland, the new system using five number-valued trait categories has helped arrive at better scores because the classifier doesn't know what the final score will be until he enters the final category score.

Berland also showed a series of charts of average scores of cattle classified and it seemed to reflect dairy breeder selection trends, he said.

A number of other items were discussed, such as the possible positive aspects of "set" classifying versus official classifications. Set classifying refers to the practice of an artificial insemination group paying to have classifications done of daughters of its young sire program.

Some said that some commercial dairymen and breeders may think that classifying only through the set-system may be enough for his herd, and it may discourage them from participation in official classification, while others said that classifying through the set-system gives the Holstein Association an opportunity to promote the organization and its benefits face-to-face.

For more information on some of the issues to come up at the convention, contact a local Holstein association club member, the state association, or the national association.

Dairylea To Sponsor Young Farmer Seminar

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — Recognizing that today's young farmers will provide the dairy industry with direction and leadership well into the next century, Dairylea Cooperative Inc. is sponsoring an informational seminar for members ages 20-40.

On Feb. 25 and 26, more than 100 Dairylea young farmers will gather at the Holiday Inn in Syracuse, N.Y., to hear about issues pertinent to farm operations and the dairy industry. Breakout sessions will be held on herd health and comfort, manure/nutrient management, and family farm transition.

"Knowledge is a key factor in building leadership. Dairylea is committed to keeping our young members up to date on farming and industry matters," said Mark Kenville, Dairylea Director of member relations and communications. "There also is immense benefit in bringing together young farmers who have similar experiences, challenges and goals. Through interaction, many participants return home from our seminar with new approaches and ideas for their farm operations."

A highlight of the two-day annual seminar will be a choice of tours for the Young Farmers to attend. These tours will include the New York State Farm Show in Syracuse, N.Y.; the H.P. Hood Manufacturing Plant in Oneida, N.Y.; and Oakwood Dairy, a large, modern farm operation in Auburn, N.Y.

The seminar also will include guest speaker Judy Gifford of the National Milk Producers Federation, who will inform the participants on "New Developments in Washington."

In addition, the Young Farmers will hear from Dairylea Chief Executive Officer Rick Smith, who will address the Cooperative's progress and its outlook for the future, while a Dairylea and industry update will be given by Dairylea President Clyde Rutherford.

DAVE SLUSSER
DHIA General Manager

Ninety-six members and delegates attended the recently completed round of district meetings for PA DHIA.

Director elections were held in six districts and three resolutions were passed to be introduced to the state annual meeting on March 10.

The topic of the meeting surrounding a round table discussion was "Bringing PA DHIA Together." Also as part of the round table was a discussion of the new herd profile and cow profile proposal being introduced by National DHIA to replace the rules.

Election Results

District 1 - Ralph Gilkinson, Erie County.
District 4 - Marian Butler, Tioga County.
District 6 - William Itle, Cambria County.
District 9 - Lane Sollenberger, Franklin County.
District 10 - Neal McCulloch, Cumberland County.
District 11 - Mark Eby, Sullivan County.

Bringing PA DHIA Together

A discussion was held at each district meeting concerning differences that still occur between counties. Topics discussed include member fees, technician pay, and local annual meetings.

Last fall when the fee adjustments were made, a major step was taken toward a more uniform method of fees to members, it also reflected more our cost of providing service. Our field technicians, and the board of directors were promised a plan by management for a uniform method of pay and bonus for the field technicians by mid-summer.

The plan, after approval by the Technicians Advisory Committee and the board of directors, would be implemented with next year's fiscal budget, beginning Oct. 1, 1995.

Suggestions by delegates at the district meeting included the following:

- Uniform stop pay, plus per cow pay.
- Over a three-year period, bring technicians' pay across the cooperative to a more equal basis.
- Pay technicians based on a percentage of gross sales.
- Use merit award as basis for bonus pay.
- Make every effort possible to keep good field technicians.

The biggest cost to members is people.

These costs continue to increase regardless of the price of milk, therefore employee efficiency must constantly be improved.

Serving more cows per employee is the only solution to low milk prices, therefore A/P testing and other innovative programs that allow members to spread these costs over more cows will be a major part of our future.

However, traditional services will always be available, but must cover their cost. Technicians will be crossing county lines to more efficiently serve our members.

As we make necessary changes, the delegates suggested we work closely with county committees and notify our members when changes are made.

County annual banquet suggestions included the following:

- State develop uniform awards and ribbon programs. Anything different would be up to the county to prepare and fund.
- State pay the ticket to the banquet for field technicians.

The State Annual Meeting is scheduled for March 10 at the Days Inn in State College. An awards breakfast will begin at 8 a.m. and the annual meeting will follow at 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. Delegates and members are encouraged to attend. This is an excellent opportunity to voice your concerns and vote on issues if you are a delegate.

Suggestions For Improved Service

At each round table discussion at the district meeting, delegates and members made suggestions and stated concerns.

The following is a list of those concerns and suggestions:

- Provide low cost, quality service and maintain integrity of organization.
- Provide numbers instead of codes in reporting somatic cell count.
- Conduct DHIA workshops and write more articles on use of records and report information (too many members do not realize the value of the information they receive).
- Improve software-to-software communications between members' computers and technicians' computers.
- Send list of services and supplies with barn sheet reports.
- List heifers with cows on Reproductive Management Report for members on Heifer Management Program.
- Send list of innovative programs out with reports.
- Many members do not know what technicians can provide on test day.
- Help technicians understand farm reports better so they can assist members.
- Evaluate truck cost on samples.
- Develop better communications with veterinarians, feed consultants, and bankers so they understand the value of DHIA information and can better serve the members.

All of these suggestions have been distributed to the board and staff of PA DHIA.

Herd Summary I

Last year at the district meetings a resolution was passed to improve the way feeds were reported to PA DHIA that would more reflect the modern way the dairy cows are fed.

As a result of the resolution and after a year's work, the program has been completed and Herd Summary I has been redesigned. Herd Summary II was not changed.

The new report will appear in your reports in April after the field technicians have been properly trained to collect feed information under the new system. This training will occur starting with the spring Technicians Training Conferences beginning March 17 and ending April 13.

The new Herd Summary I will include the following information:

1. Test period daily averages - very similar to the old summary.
2. Rolling Herd Average.
3. Profile of cow by lactation number - all information will include solid non-fat if you are on SNF program, dry matter fed as percent of body weight, and coded information and recommendations if feeding information has problems.
4. Profile of cows by group number
   - Provide milk information and feed information by group
   - Even if you do not group your cows you can designate groups as in the example below:

   2-year-old cows, under 120 day milk
   2-year-old cows, over 120 day milk
   3-year and older cows, under 120 day milk
   3-year and older cows, over 120 day milk
   You can select any group that you want or put them all in one group.
5. Profile of feeds fed
   - You can report up to 13 different feeds per group and up to five groups of cows.
   - Feed reported as - As Fed, and Dry matter pounds.
   - Feed weights can be measured in tenths of a pound.
   - You can assign any name you want to each feed or forage.
6. Test Day Somatic Cell Count Summary
7. Test Day Herd Summary
8. Rolling 365 day average for last year.
9. Profile of Projected Herd Inventory and Milk sales.
   - Projects for 10 months ahead.
   - Project cows and heifer freshing based on breeding dates.
   - Projects cull cows by month.
   - Projects pounds milk sold.
   - Projects gross milk check based on your history, your numbers of fresh cows and heifers, your culling rate and economic forecast for milk prices.
10. Group milking times
11. Reported milk price either by hundredweight or by pounds. The new Herd Summary I will be an extremely valuable management tool for you, your veterinarians or your feed consultant.

HERD PROFILE

Over the last few years, the official DHI rules have been debated. The vast majority of producers are less willing to pay the cost of prosecuting a small minority that choose to tamper with their records.

Major changes in farm management practices are affecting rule enforcement efforts, such as larger herds. BST, electronic meters, etc. and computer technologies now allow all users of DHIA records to make their own determination regarding the integrity of records.

Major changes are in the wind affecting official DHIA rules. A herd profile report and a cow profile report has been developed by a national committee of dairy producers and industry representatives for the purpose of replacing the rules.

The Herd Profile consists of:

1. Charted graph including Rolling Herd Average for milk, protein, and fat.
2. Average lactation curve of herd compared to normal lactation curves.
3. PTA Distribution.
4. Bulk tank comparison for the entire year which indicates supervised and unsupervised test. Also dates components were taken.
5. M.E. Distribution listed possible and probable outliner cows.
6. Number of cows in herd.
7. ID changes in herd.
8. Percent usable records in herd.
9. Percent cows completing lactations.
10. Percent average U.S.D.A. weighing of accuracy.

In addition to the herd profile, individual cow profiles have been developed. Users of your DHIA information, after getting your permission, can evaluate the accuracy based on these new tools. The users might be bull studs, breed associations, consignment sales and buyers of your cattle. You will hear more of this new development over the next year.

RESOLUTIONS

Three resolutions were passed at district meetings. They will be presented to the Resolutions Committee prior to the annual meeting, and then to the membership for a vote. The three resolutions are listed below.

Resolutions from District 1 and 2

Wheras many PA DHIA members wish to have the options to sort their cows, heifers, and calves by birth date, and;

Whereas, many dairy management practices such as vaccinations and breeding require actions taken by age;

Therefore be it resolved that the PA DHIA DRPC (Dairy Records Processing Center) make available as an option, where practical, sorting by birth date of the animals.

Resolutions from District 9 and 10

Whereas, PA DHIA technicians have difficulty receiving enough Pennsylvania permanent ear tags to apply to calves on test day, and;

Whereas, dairymen have noticed the quality of permanent ear tags have diminished in recent years (ear tag falling out, rusting or impossible to clamp into ear of calf) and;

Whereas, Pennsylvania law requires permanent ear tags in dairy cattle;

Therefore be it resolved that the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture increase the quantity of ear tags available, so PA DHIA technicians can help their members fulfill the law of Pennsylvania and improve the quality of the tags so they will be readable and be in fact permanent.

Average Farm Feed Costs For Handy Reference

To help farmers across the state to have handy reference of commodity input costs in their feeding operations for DHIA record sheets or to develop livestock feed cost data, here's last week's average costs of various ingredients as compiled from regional reports across the state of Pennsylvania. Remember these are averages so you will need to adjust your figures up or down according to your location and the quality of your crop.

Pesticide License Testing Set

ELIZABETHVILLE (Dauphin Co.) — By law, all applicators of certain pest control materials must be licensed by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture. Once an applicator is licensed, she or he must then attend educational programs in order to remain up-to-date on the latest information.

In order to become licensed by the state, applicators must prove their knowledge and understanding regarding pesticide safety and environmental protection by passing a test given by the Department of Agriculture.

Anyone who is interested in taking the test is invited to participate in a training program on Tuesday evening, March 7, from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. in the Ag Science classroom in the Upper Dauphin High School in Elizabethville.

Information will be presented to familiarize attendees with the Pesticide Educational Manual, a study guide for private applicators. Then on Thursday, March 9, from 9 a.m. until noon, a representative from the Department of Agriculture will be giving tests to candidates for the private applicator license.

There is a $15 fee for attending the training session on Tuesday, March 7. This covers the cost of the Pesticide Educational Manual. Attendees can bring their own, previously purchased, manual or else purchase one on March 7. Access to a manual will be required.

For additional information, contact Paul H. Craig (717) 921-8803.

Estate Planning Seminar Set

WEST CHESTER (Chester Co.) — A free estate planning seminar has been scheduled Feb. 22 from 10 a.m.-3 p.m. here at the Governmental Services Building.

The free seminar is sponsored by the Chester County extension office.

Guest speakers include Bruce Rosenfield, Esq.; Sam Goodley, Esq.; Mary Wade Myers, Esq.; Bob Hodge; Bob Lange; Dave King; and Bill Moore.

Mid East UDIA's Annual Meetings Feature Guest Speakers

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Mid East United Dairy Industry Association will offer dairy producers the opportunity to gain farm management tips during its 1995 annual meetings.

Mid East UDIA, the advertising and promotion organization funded by dairy producers in Ohio, West Virginia, western Pennsylvania and northern Kentucky, will host five annual meetings in 1995.

All meetings will begin with registration at 9:30 a.m. The information meeting will begin at 10 a.m. as Mid East UDIA management shares how their team of marketers, dietitians, home economists and communicators work to increase the demand for dairy products. Lunch will be served at noon and is free to those in attendance.

Following the Mid East UDIA information meeting and luncheon, producers may choose to attend one of two breakout sessions. The sessions will feature experts in farm management and a dairy promotion workshop that will provide innovative ideas and resource materials to promote dairy in the local community. Listed below are the dates, places, farm management speakers and their topics:

• Thursday, March 9: Minster, OH - Knights of Columbus Hall, Joe Beiler, OSU Extension, Mercer Co., "Dairy Excel"

• Friday, March 10: Smithville, OH - The Barn, Terry Beck, OSU Extension, Wayne Co., "Dairy Excel"

• Tuesday, March 21: Somerset, PA - Ramada Inn, Lisa Holden, Dept. of Dairy and Animal Sciences, Penn State University, "Surviving for the Future"

• Wednesday, March 22: Meadville, PA - Holiday Inn, Lisa Holden, Dept. of Dairy and Animal Sciences, Penn State University, "Surviving for the Future"

• Wednesday, March 29: Lewisburg, WV - Brier Inn, Dr. Sam Barringer, Division of Animal and Veterinarian Sciences, W. Virginia University, "Herd Improvement & BVD"

Dairy and Nutrition Council Mid East nutrition education consultants will share local promotion ideas during the dairy promotion workshop. Make Mine Milk, the upbeat video about dairy farming and processing and nutrition, and Milk From Cow To You, the education kit teaching how milk gets from the farm to the kitchen table, are just two of the resources available to local promoters that will be highlighted during the workshop.

Dairy producers in F.O. 33 and 36 and the Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program will receive invitations to the annual meetings. Others interested in attending may RSVP by calling Mid East UDIA at (800) 292-MILK.

Open House Pulls Large Crowd

BETHEL (Berks Co.) — Early in the week the number of visitors to Zimmerman's Farm Service, along School Road, was on track to have close to 1,000 people go through the dealership week-long open house for special discounts on parts and hardware. Refreshments were also served.

Carl Zimmerman said sales have been good, and because equipment on the farm is generally getting older, equipmen. sales are expected to continue strong through the year. Zimmerman said that with 15 employees, their dealership is comparatively small, but the employees do a good job and that's what makes the business grow.

Zimmerman also wanted to thank the customers as well, because without customers, there is no business. Customers who bought a large enough order during the week also qualified for discounts on items bought later in the year.

Counter service was brisk at Zimmerman's Farm Service during the week-long open house.

Safety Inspections Extended

CAMP HILL (Cumberland Co.) — The safety inspections of farm vehicles, weighing more than 17,000 pounds, was extended to March 6, according to an announcement by Bradley L. Mallory, acting Pennsylvania Transportation secretary.

The deadline was Feb. 5, which was delayed one month at the request of the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau.

"We appreciate the delay in the enforcement of this new law," said Keith W. Eckel, Pennsylvania Farm Bureau president. "The safety inspections apparently took the farming community by surprise. Farm truck owners, attempting to get their vehicles in for inspections, ran into severe scheduling delays. The 30-day grace period will be a big help."

Legislation passed in December requires the heavier farm trucks and truck-tractors that carry biennial certificates of exemption to have the annual safety inspections. The legislation (Act 115) also increases the mileage radius for off-farm travel by all exempt farm trucks from 10 miles to 25 miles.

Contingency Plans Help If Weather Creates Manure Problems

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Brutal weather last winter not only contributed to frozen water lines, rolling power outages, and collapsed buildings. Those who handled manure faced additional difficulties as well, including topping off of facilities and a general inability to spread the material.

"Last winter, particularly with the heavy snows, the ice cover, the melting and everything — there were just a lot of complaints that we had to respond to," said Don Robinson, administrator for the Lancaster County Conservation District.

Fines were levied by the Pennsylvania Fish and Boat Commission on a few farmers who allowed manure to run into gutters and waterways, a violation of the Pennsylvania Clean Streams Law, according to Derek Pritts, waterways conservation officer with the Commission.

The fines ranged from $250 to $5,000 per day. One farmer was cited for a fifth offense, with a fine of $3,000.

While most farmers are in compliance and do their best, a small percentage need to be aware that a discharge, even if accidental or an act of nature, is still punishable with a fine under the Fish and Boat Code, according to Pritts.

But although the winter was harsh, incidences of violations have remained statistically the same year to year, according to Pritts. Whatever the weather, farmers should have some sort of plans worked out to ensure that discharges do not move into any form of waterway. Discharges include manure, milk, milk waste, silage, and other materials.

"The farmer was really in a bind last winter," said Robinson. "It was such a tough winter. Their manure storages were filled to capacity, threatening to overrun. Even the best of farmers, the good planners, still got caught short."

In some cases, the six-month standard storage plan was exceeded because of the big snows and bitter cold. Farmers couldn't get the pits emptied because of subsequent crusting. They couldn't get out into the fields.

Consequently, farmers were calling for help from the conservation districts all throughout the state. In Lancaster, conservation technicians had a difficult time coming up with adequate recommendations.

Some options were provided, according to Robinson, including placing manure into fields farthest away from a stream or taking the manure to a neighbor's storage unit.

Robinson provided the following "common-sense" approaches to dealing with manure during a harsh winter and what to do to prevent being cited:

- Make sure facilities have adequate storage. The industry standard is six months. Adequate storage is the first priority.
- Have contingency plans in case there is an accident or if bad weather creates an overtopping situation. Know how to contain a possible spill and what to do to clean it up. "Knowing what you're going to do ahead of time is often times good prevention," said Robinson.

"Ask yourself, if this happens, how will I handle the situation?" said Pritts.

- Put in grass buffer strips between the crop field and the road ditch, especially if the ground slopes near a creek or road ditch. In many cases, an adequate strip can contain manure once melting starts. Soil Conservation Service (now Natural Resource Conservation Service) guidelines call for a 20-foot buffer strip and two feet for every percent of slope, according to Robinson.
- Install adequate conservation measures. That is "probably the most important thing that farmers can do to head off potential problems like this," said Robinson. These measures include the installation of contour strips, terraces, diversions, tillage options, and good residue management.

But with a harsh winter like last year's, farmers with good conservation practices "experienced problems," said Robinson. "Even the best of designs, in a winter like last year, where you could not get out in the fields or where you didn't get it completely emptied, the farmers need to have a contingency plan in mind."

It is better to be prepared and to work with the conservation district ahead of time than to face stiff fines, according to Pritts. The Commission works closely with the district to ensure compliance.

"Most farmers don't like to be caught in a situation like that," said Robinson, "and they're usually very willing to work with the district to come into compliance."

For more information, contact Robinson at the conservation district, (717) 299-5361.

Water Rights Meeting Set

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Regulation of water use and its impact on agriculture has received a lot of attention in the past year.

The regulations which were reviewed in public hearings this past summer have been withdrawn and a new proposal is currently under consideration by the Susquehanna River Basin Commission.

This proposal will be discussed, as well as topics on irrigation management, at a meeting on Feb. 22 at the Sheraton Inn Harrisburg.

The Sheraton is located at the Union Deposit exit (exit 29) off of interstate 83. Registration begins at 8:30 a.m. and the meeting will conclude at noon.

Topics on the agenda include drought patterns in Pennsylvania, designing and managing an overhead irrigation system, designing and managing your trickle irrigation system, and consumptive water use in agriculture.

Other topics to be discussed include Pennsylvania water law, Maryland's water registration program, and registration of agricultural water use in Pennsylvania — what's in it for agriculture?

For more information or to register, contact Leon Ressler, Penn State extension office, (717) 394-6851.

Fences, Pastures, Profits With Sheep

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — The Lancaster County Sheep and Wool Growers Association and Penn State Cooperative Extension present "Fences, Pastures, and Profits," a grazing management meeting featuring guest speaker Peter LeVan, livestock herd manager at Penn State.

LeVan will relate his more than 15 years of experience as manager of the University's Haller Research Farm regarding grazing studies with beef and sheep. Topics to be covered are intensive grazing management, fence systems and electric chargers, pasture establishment and maintenance, companion grazing, and economical forage utilization.

This meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. on Monday, Feb. 20, at the Lancaster Farm and Home Center.

A brief meeting of the association will precede the meeting highlighting upcoming educational events, including the sheep shearing school scheduled for April 7-8. For more information, contact Chester D. Hughes, extension agent-livestock, (717) 394-6851.

Resolutions from District 11 and 12

Whereas, dairymen do not memorize state coded ear tag numbers and cannot see them unless the animal is tied;

Whereas, many dairymen use large visible ID numbered ear tags to identify their new born calves;

Whereas, individual cow pages would be more useful if the visible ID of the calf were included in the Cow Progeny Summary;

Therefore, be it resolved that PA DHIA reports include: calf visible ID on applications for identification and registration; calf visible ID in summary of cows progeny on Individual Cow Pages; and calf visible ID on Heifer Management Barn Sheet starting the first month after they are born.

INNOVATIVE PROGRAMS

The new Innovative Programs were discussed and they are listed below.

Innovative Electronic APCS Quarterly Sampling: Herds must have approved electronic meters and data storage. Milk weights are collected monthly from the producer's computer. Every third month the field technician weighs and samples one milking. Data can be uploaded directly from the producer's computer or by Dairy Plan.

Herd Manager Basic: The technician weighs and samples all milking every other month. Alternate months the dairy farmer records his own weights and (optionally) takes a sample.

Innovative Electronic Monthly DHI-APCS: Herds must have approved electronic meters and data storage. (These herds must be able to list each cow's milk weights for the day). The technician weighs and samples one milking each test day and collects the other milk weights for that test day from the producer's computer.

Innovative Alternate Month Sampling DHI-APCS: The technician weighs all milking for each sample day. Every other month, the technician samples one milking. Alternate months, the technician does not take samples and the components are spanned.

Head Manager Electronic IX: This is the same as herd manager-electronic except the herd uploads and processes only one time a month rather than two.

Innovative Electronic Alternate Month DHI-APCS: Herds must have approved electronic meters and data storage. The technician weighs and samples one milking only on alternate test days, and collects the other milk weights for that test day from the producer's computer. The producer furnishes a printout of milk weights only for all milking on the alternate test day when samples are not taken.

Innovative Monthly Sampling DHI-APCS (Non-Electronic): The producer weighs the first milking for a 2X herd, or the first and second milking for a 3X herd using his own DHIA-approved weighing devices of PA DHIA's. These milk weights are supplied to the field technician. The field technician weighs and samples the last milking. Each herd must be reviewed by the director of field services before being enrolled on this program.

Innovative DHIR-APT: Weights and samples are taken at only one milking each test (for herds milking twice a day) or weights are taken at two milkings and a sample is taken at one milking (for herds milking 3X a day). There is no operational timer at the farm.

Innovative Monthly Sampling and Weighing DHI 3X A/P: The technician samples and weighs one milking in a 24-hour period.

Innovative Advance Notice Testing: A dairyman may request to test on a given date or day of the week every month. Each herd must be reviewed by the director of field services on an ongoing basis.

Before you sign up for an Innovative Program:

1. All Innovative Programs must be approved in advance by the director of field operations, Dean Amick.
2. If you are on DHIR, check with your breed association for approval.
3. If you are on a young sire sampling program, get the approval of the bull stud involved.

The PA DHIA Board and employees want to thank the members and delegates for coming out to the district meetings and for the suggestions and support.

Atlantic Breeders Cooperative Considers Merger

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

INTERCOURSE (Lancaster Co.) — A possible merger between Atlantic Breeders Cooperative and two other artificial insemination cooperatives was discussed to some extent during the cooperative's annual banquet-meetings, though final details are not completed.

The last of the cooperative's annual banquet-meetings were held this week, several after press-time. However, the nature of the annual meetings is to inform cooperators directly with information about their association, to elect representatives, and to discuss issues of relevance to members well-being. The financial outline and management message is usually repeated at each meeting.

The meetings are also held to recognize high producing member-herds that exceed the state's average breed production by 10 percent or more, and of which at least 65 percent have been bred by sires owned by the cooperative.

At a Tuesday afternoon meeting in Intercourse for members of District 4, Dave Zimmerman, manager for the cooperative's Region 1, told the group that, at the behest of the board of directors, about 73 questions were posed by cooperative directors, resource managers and employees about a proposed merger between the Lancaster-headquartered ABC, Eastern AIC based in Ithaca, N.Y., and the Louisiana Animal Breeders Cooperative, in New Orleans.

All three of the cooperatives currently cooperate in business through Federated Genetics. The merger would create one cooperative, as of yet, unamed (ideas are being welcomed).

Using a prepared slide program to present the questions and an outline of the answers, Zimmerman said he didn't intend to go over all 73, but highlighted what most people had asked concerning the proposed merger.

Of the highlights of his presentation, Zimmerman said that voting on the merger wasn't ready until more details could be worked out by the board of directors between the cooperatives. However, Zimmerman said that members were assured of a one-member, one-vote procedure in the eventual decision. The amount of membership vote necessary to carry a referendum one way or the other wasn't discussed, but should be contained within the cooperative's bylaws.

Mr. and Mrs. Ty Long and son receive a production award from Bob Keen, Atlantic Breeders Cooperative technician.

According to Landis, the cooperative met or exceeded income goals in every area except in member sales because of last year's severe winter storms. However, the budgeted income from member sales was met, and all other sales incomes were strong.

At the same time, less was spent on conducting business than was projected and the cooperative experienced additional income from savings.

Given that good report, Zimmerman said members may be questioning the need for a merger at this time. The answer, Zimmerman said, is that the merger is to position the members of the cooperative for the future, so that the benefits of belonging to a breeding cooperative would not diminish.

All three artificial insemination cooperatives have been working together under Federated Genetics. After talks and discussions about assets and member goals, it more or less has become apparent to some that a merger could well position members from all three cooperatives to continue to do good business, using sales of cooperative-owned semen to reduce the member-cost of using artificial insemination, allowing competitive operating costs for dairymen and other breeders.

"We are looking down the road to compete in an ever-changing dairy industry and AI industry," Zimmerman said.

He said some of the reasons for a merger are to spread the cost of maintaining an adequate AI program, including semen collection, bull aquisition, proving, and member services; maintain existing programs; make it easier to adapt to new technologies; and reduce the overhead of unecessary employees.

On this last matter, Zimmerman said that he really didn't see much of a change for employees of ABC, except that there could be more opportunity to reward outstanding work.

Efficiencies in decision-making and operations are also a goal of the merger, however Zimmerman said that ABC is not guilty of duplication of effort within its own organization, but some duplication of effort that occurs between the now-partners under Federated could be eliminated and result in savings.

Control of member-business within the proposed merged cooperative would remain with members, as well as would members continue to control cooperative business with non-members.

In explaining how the merger could better position ABC's members for the future, Zimmerman said that in light of a changing industry and a changing world, and with a trend toward increased herd sizes and a decrease in total cow numbers, along with pressure from sales of imported semen, the members of cooperatives would be better able to remain viable dairy farms.

Zimmerman said that the new cooperative would be divided into six major divisions: genetics; semen production; sales and service; member relations, communications; finance; and research.

Lancaster Dairy Days Set

The annual Lancaster County dairy days have been scheduled this year for Tuesday, Feb. 28 and Tuesday, March 7, at the Farm and Home Center. The program is different both days. On the 28th the theme is improving herd profits through cow comfort, good udder health and with well-designed, properly operated milking systems. On the seventh the theme centers on preparing to meet the 21st century with emphasis on business management of the farm and profitable management of the herd.

The program startes at 9 a.m. both days. Watch for the next issue of Lancaster Farming for the full program and list of speakers.

Grazing For Profitability Focus Of March Conference

CARLISLE (Cumberland Co.) — Embers Hotel will be the site of the two-day annual Pennsylvania Grazing Conference on March 1-2.

Terry Smith, director of the Wisconsin Center for Dairy Profitability, Department of Dairy Science, University of Wisconsin, will highlight how grazing can help dairy farmers improve their profitability and remain competitive in the future.

Other speakers for the event include Eric Kolver, New Zealander, working with the Agronomy Department at Penn State. Grazers at the conference will include Forest Stricker, Wernersville; Gary Vandewert, Athens; Curt Dietrich, New Tripoli; and William Yoder, Meyersdale.

Other speakers include a veterinarian, a feed company representative, and Penn State and Soil Conservation Service (Natural Resources Conservation Service) personnel.

To register for the conference, complete the registration form, included in this issue of Lancaster Farming. For lodging reservations, call the Embers Hotel, (800) 692-7315.

Case Corporation Reports Record Performance

RACINE, Wis. — Case Corporation reported operating earnings in the fourth quarter of 1994 of $67 million, compared with $38 million in the fourth quarter of 1993.

For the full year, operating earnings were $315 million, compared to $83 million for 1993 and exceeding the previous high of $228 million set in 1989. Case has now recorded 12 consecutive quarters of substantial year-over-year improvement in operating results.

The company's fourth-quarter net income was $46 million, or 63 cents per share, compared with $21 million for the fourth quarter of 1993. Net income for 1994, before changes in accounting principles and extraordinary items, was $165 million, versus $39 million for 1993.

Net sales in the fourth quarter were $1.1 billion, up 12 percent from the comparable period last year, and were $4.3 billion for 1994, up 14 percent from 1993.

Case introduced several new models of construction and agricultural equipment in North America during the fourth quarter, including a new line of loader/backhoes, new 90B Series excavators, and upgraded combines and cotton pickers equipped with new high-visibility cabs.

"Orders for combines are more than double levels of one year ago and retail orders for our loader/backhoes are triple what they were at the end of 1993," said Jean-Pierre Rosso, president and chief executive officer. "We have dealer orders for our entire production of these units through the first six months of 1995."

Nearly 28 percent of the company's 1994 sales came from products introduced in the last two years. The company expects more than 50 percent of 1995 sales to come from products introduced since 1993. Case is investing more than $745 million, beginning in 1994 and continuing through 1997, in new product development intended to provide a steady stream of new products throughout the rest of the decade.

National FFA Officer Goals: To Teach, Then To Lead

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

ALEXANDRIA, Va. — National FFA Vice President Lee Schroeder has a clear career goal in mind, shared by many who lead agribusiness in Ohio — the skills developed by teaching FFA members to work for a common goal can be transferred to the workplace.

Many Ohio agribusiness leaders first served as FFA instructors before moving on to manage agri-industries in the state, according to Schroeder.

Schroeder, who is in partnership with his father and brother in a swine finishing operation in Leipsic, Ohio, joins five other national FFA officers during National FFA Week, which begins Saturday and lasts through the week.

Schroeder, 19, son of Dan and Nancy Schroeder, served as Ohio Association president and served as leader of his Leipsic FFA Chapter, advised by Don Barnhart. His decision to enter FFA and pursue an agriculture career began when he chased greased pigs at the county fair, he said. Soon after, he became one-half partner with his father, Dan, and then obtained eight steers to finish out. Both enterprises grew, and now, Schroeder increased the number of steers finished to 15 a year and the hogs to about 448 head.

He wanted to farm, originally, after playing a big role in the spring of 1989 to put the crops in, after a wet spring. But he decided that he could find "a lot of self-satisfaction in agribusiness," said Schroeder.

He wants to follow the common perception in Ohio, that by teaching agribusiness at the high school level, viewed as the "biggest challenge," he said, he can serve in a leadership role.

While in Washington, D.C., Schroeder and other national FFA officers will be meeting with state leaders from around the country and visiting political leaders throughout the capitol.

"FFA — The Leadership Advantage" is this year's highlight. During the week, FFA chapters throughout the U.S. conduct activities to develop the leadership skills of high school students to prepare them for future leadership roles.

Agricultural education classes emphasize hands-on experience in diverse areas of agriculture. FFA activities provide leadership and personal development, career training, and award incentives for young people.

Corey D. Flournoy, national FFA president from Chicago, Ill., said, "FFA Week is an important time to share success stories about high school agriculture and FFA. Many leaders in American agriculture were members of FFA and studied agriculture education. They are leaders as well in their communities.

"We are proud of the increasing numbers of members who are joining our ranks," said Flournoy. He said the organization achieved an increase in membership for the first time in a number of years in 1992 and increased again in 1993 and 1994.

"We are also seeing significant changes in the ways chapters and their advisers serve their communities," said Flournoy. The attendance at the National FFA Convention in Kansas City, Mo. in November was a record-breaking 34,491.

At the convention, the national FFA officers were elected. They are:

• Corey D. Flournoy, president, Chicago, Ill. Flournoy, 20, is a member of the Chicago Ag Science FFA Chapter. He served as state vice president. FFA awards include state agricultural processing proficiency and National FFA Foundation scholarship. He is a sophomore in agricultural economics at the University of Illinois.

• Lee Schroeder, vice president, eastern region, Leipsic, Ohio. Schroeder, 19, is a member of the Leipsic FFA Chapter. He served as Ohio Association president. Schroeder's wards include parliamentary procedure, public speaking, and the National FFA Foundation scholarship. He is a freshman studying ag education at Ohio State University.

• Travis D. Hagen, secretary. Hagen, 20, Chico, Calif. is a member of the Chico FFA Chapter. Hagen served as California Association treasurer. Awards include state finalist in both ag sales and service proficiency and state star in agribusiness. He is a sophomore in agriculture science at California Polytechnic University.

• Trisha Bailey, vice president, southern region. Bailey, 20, Dover, Fla., is a member of the Plant City Senior FFA Chapter. She has won awards in national forestry and ornamental horticulture events and was the state finalist in public speaking. Bailey is a sophomore in agricultural communications and sports physiology at the University of Florida.

• Jennafer Neufeld, vice president, central region. Neufeld, 20, Inman, Kan., is a member of the Inman FFA Chapter. She served as Kansas Association secretary. Neufeld's awards include finalist in the state prepared public speaking contest and she was the Kansas FFA grass and grain record keeping winner. She is a sophomore in agricultural economics at Kansas State University.

• Greg Vetter, vice president, western region. Vetter, 19, Carpenter, Wyo., is a member of the Burns FFA Chapter. Vetter's awards include the state winning farm business management team and state proficiency winner in diversified livestock. He is a sophomore in agricultural business at Laramie County Community College.

State Requires Beekeepers To Register

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture is reminding all beekeepers that they must register their apiaries with the department.

"The state Agriculture Code has been amended to require apiary registration, no matter how small or large they are," said Jim Steinhauer, the Department's chief apiary inspector. "The registration system is designed to help the bee industry as well as individual beekeepers."

Registration forms have been mailed to all state beekeepers on the department's current list.

If you keep one or more hives of bees and have not yet received a registration form, contact the Department of Agriculture's Apiary Section by telephone, at (717) 787-5609, or by mail at 2302 North Cameron Street, Harrisburg, PA 17110-9408, to have a form sent to you.

A registration fee of $10 per beekeeper, regardless of the number of apiaries owned, will register the beekeeper for up to two years.

Apiary registration has many benefits. These benefits include an ability to notify beekeepers of potential dangers and benefits to their apiaries, tracking of trends in the distribution of bees, pests and diseases, and an increase in efficiency of the bee inspection program.

The Agriculture Code's amendments also include an increase in fines and penalties for failure to register apiaries.

"Atlantic Dairy Cooperative has marketed our family's milk since 1917. The cooperative provides us a guaranteed market and security — we know our milk check is going to come every month."

—John Frederick
New Hope, PA

ADC Is the Place To Be

A guaranteed market and security – the outstanding benefits that John Frederick refers to – are among the strengths of the premier dairy cooperative in the region.

Atlantic Dairy Cooperative has a 78-year history of excellent service to its members. Financially strong, ADC guarantees a market for all member milk and excels in maximizing returns. ADC is a leader in providing equity payments, quality bonuses and over-order premiums to members.

Nearly 4,000 dairy farmers agree that "ADC is the Place to Be."

Research is needed to keep the cooperative on top of what the market most likely will want and how best to get the cooperative in the competition. Zimmerman said research into semen production, female reproduction and genetic advancements — such as using genetic markers and genetic mapping — is needed because these are things basic to each member's bottom line.

He said that the Lancaster facility, currently housing 275 bulls, would remain, but instead of being a semen production facility, it would be used to house bulls waiting on proofs. According to Zimmerman, the main semen collection would be at the Eastern facility, which is much more modern, larger and constructed to be cooler.

He said that for the naturally cool-climate cattle, semen production has been shown to be better when the climate is cooler, and Ithaca is a cooler climate than Lancaster.

He said the bulls would be grouped in lots of five and go through their entire proofs in groups, to be divided later after the proofs come through and underperformers are culled.

As an aside, Zimmerman said one thing about grouping is that if one is culled early for some reason other than proof, a replacement bull can not be placed into the group. He said the other remaining four would kill the new bull.

Eastern has automated gates, and uses border collies and Australian Blue Heelers to more bulls around, decreasing the amount of labor needed.

According to Zimmerman, there would be about the same number of sires in the new cooperative, as members have access to now. In fact, Zimmerman said that a goal for the future is to reduce the number of bulls used for proof by finding some way of increasing success rate.

Currently, according to Zimmerman, for every bull in the proven lineup, it takes 10 to 12 others bulls to go through the entire testing and proofing program. It cost the cooperative about $25,000 per bull.

If the cooperative can reduce the number of bulls that don't make it to the final lineup, it can make some significant savings in operating expenses.

About the testing program, Zimmerman said that all test codes DHIA 31 and less qualify.

As far as the distribution of semen, it is proposed that it be continued to be done on the basis of sales volume — the service units with the higher volume of semen use would get more of a particular semen.

The new cooperative would offer the same services.

The ABC members would roll its assets into the new cooperative and get full credit. Members would also retain their individually earned revolving fund certificates, called RFCs.

Members of ABC keep 20 percent of their earned profits as a member, with 80 percent put back into the cooperative's operating portfolio in an RFC.

That RFC is paid back in 10 years. After 10 years in the cooperative, a member continues to annually keep 20 percent, but then gets back his 80 percent from 10 years earlier. At the same time, the member invests 80 percent into the cooperative for his future.

Under the new cooperative the ABC RFCs would continued to be valued at their current level, and the new cooperative would issue similar RFCs.

That actually presents one of the merger issues that still needs to be worked out, Zimmerman said.

According to the region director, Eastern, which owns all of its real property, has an established annuity program for its members, under which the retained funds are only paid back to the member at retirement. How those members will be converted from an annuity system to a 10-year revolving fund system is the issue yet to be decided.

"I'm confident our board is not going to move ahead (with the merger) until Eastern is ready to handle and deal with equity at Eastern."

Zimmerman also said that the representative structure of the proposed cooperative would change slightly. There would be 19 delegates per district and 13 districts, each with a director to the board. Overall, it would mean fewer directors, but a strong delegate body.

Further, there is planned that a number of special committees would be needed and members could serve on those, but again, Zimmerman said not all details are out yet. He said that more information will be announced as it develops.

In a related, but different matter, Zimmerman also announced that members would be issued an additional RFC this year. He said that in recent years, the cooperative has been taking profits from its non-member business and putting it aside. That now is currently at more than $1 million. The board of directors has decided to take it and issue it to members as a new RFC.

Also, in other business, Zimmerman said a special meeting has been scheduled to be held March 14 in the Hoffman Building at the Solanco Fair grounds in Quarryville to go over the cooperative's sire lineup and the new USDA sire summary rating which went into effect in January.

He said more details would be announced, and that cooperative technicians and others in service would be providing information soon.

Marek's-Resistant Poultry Possible In Future

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

MANHEIM (Lancaster Co.) — Building a better mousetrap is one thing, but long-term poultry research at the University of Delaware could ultimately build a better bird — one that could be free from developing a disease such as Marek's.

Mark Martin, doctorate student from the University of Delaware, told 40 broiler and layer industry representatives on Monday that in a few years, genetic selection for birds resistant to Marek's disease could be available commercially if breeders make use of Delaware University research.

Martin brought the results of three years of Delmarva poultry research into the nature, spread, study, and control of Marek's Disease to the Poultry Management and Health Seminar at Kreider's Restaurant.

A team of six scientists and researchers are looking into the nature of the herpesvirus that causes Marek's Disease, how it is spread, the effect of vaccinations and combinations thereof, and genetic research into how, in the future, breeders could learn to breed it out of flocks.

In 1991 alone, losses from Marek's Diease totalled $12 million in the U.S., according to Martin. As the broiler and layer industries continue to bring on more birds, the amount of losses will continue to increase.

The disease is spread through the air in houses on feather follicles, dander, and dust in the building. Incubation of the virus varies by breed and other factors, although certain breeds are more susceptible to it.

Though predominately a disease of young birds, Marek's Disease has been noted on older birds, according to Martin. Clinical signs include leg paralysis. Acute disease symptoms include severe depression, gross lesions, and tumors in the heart, liver, spleen, skin, etc.

Vaccines are available to treat the disease, but must be used early. Recovery is rare if treatment is begun too late.

On birds inoculated with the virus in tests, usually severe depression sets in about 2-3 weeks later. In many cases, there is a dormancy period, where the birds appear unaffected. However, soon after, more acute symptoms develop.

The virus is carried throughout the body by T-cells. The virus invades blood cells and replicates itself, destroying the cell in the process.

Combinations of different vaccinations studied their effectiveness. The conclusions vary, depending on type of breed, the disease challenge, and factors such as stress and vaccine handling.

Studies were undertaken on farms in the Delmarva Peninsula. In particular, Sussex County, Delaware has the highest concentration of poultry of any county in the country.

Part of the study involved recording the history of the disease in the flocks from 1980-1994. While the incidence of the disease in the flocks dipped from 1987-1988, in 1992-1993, incidences were on the rise.

One reason for the rise in incidences could be the increasing doses being administered. Researchers are finding that the vaccine really won't work any better beyond the recommended dose.

Other research delves into certain virus isolates and their effect on the flock. Monitoring the flocks for how fast Marek's Disease becomes evident is crucial. Also, samples of the virus are being picked up by examining the dust and dander through the house to see the effects on broilers.

Ultimately, research is studying the "major histocompatibility complex" — in other words, how the map of the bird's genes and the genetic makeup of the virus interact. What they found is that in the birds susceptible to the virus, not one, but several genes are involved. It may be possible, once the genes responsible for susceptibility to Marek's Disease are indentified, to simply breed out those genes from birds.

Once the genetic selection is complete, the potential is there, said Martin, for breeders to use it.

Maryland Grange Young Couple

110 Holsteins producing about 5,600 pounds of milk a day. They have about 50 dry or bred heifers, and 50 young heifers as well as a few young calves. They have begun feeding a total mixed ration, mixing their own corn silage, alfalfa silage, oat and grain mix and a Purina dry feed.

When asked if they were surprised by the award, Brenda replied, "We pretty much knew we were getting it before we went to Hagerstown." Then she smiled. "We were the only couple to run!" Tom and Brenda Ripley are the first Maryland State Grange Young Couple this state has had in two years, due to a shortage of candidates.

Tom and Brenda met years ago through youth groups within their church, Linganore United Methodist Church. They have been married 10 years and have three children. Their oldest daughter, Nicole is 8 years old. Monica is 5 and Matthew is 2 years old.

Tom Ripley looks over his farm with affection. "I've lived here all of my life," he said.

"I grew up on a farm, too," Brenda revealed. Her parents, Raymond and Mary Katherine Mathews operated a dairy farm in Unionville, Frederick County. "I helped my dad milk 250 cows for several years," she recalled with a smile.

As part of their Grange duties, Brenda and Tom Ripley are keeping a scrapbook of their farming progress. "We are supposed to keep a scrapbook and bring them to meetings to share," Mrs. Ripley said. "It is a lot of fun looking at the books and seeing (other) members when they were young. A lot of people in our Grange (Linganore $410), have been Maryland State Young Couple," Mrs. Ripley said, "and Tommy's parents were Maryland Young Couple once!

"Basically, we'll try to go to everything we can," said Brenda of upcoming Grange functions. In November, at the close of their reign as Maryland State Grange Young Couple, the pair hopes to attend the National Grange Session in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania. "That is," Brenda added with a smile, "if we can get someone to milk our cows!"

AMERICA'S ALFALFA MAKE A STAND...

...with the introduction of NEW +Z alfalfa varieties.

New +Z varieties with high levels of seedling resistance produce powerful results for alfalfa growers including: thick and healthy stands, better winterhardiness, longer stand life, and higher yield potential.

+Z Variety

Total +Z The Persistent Multileaf

This top-performing variety features very dark green color and high multileaf quality. It has scored in the top 10 in university yield trials. This variety features high resistance to all 5 major alfalfa diseases, +Z seedling resistance to Phytophthora and Aphanomyces, and better winterhardines than other multileaf varieties. Fall dormancy rating: 3.4

Supply Very Limited. Sow 20 Lbs. per acre.

Innovator +Z High stem protein, high digestibility

This high-quality variety was NIRS selected for high stem protein and total protein. It outyielded 80 other Alfalfa varieties in university yield trials, and offers high digestibility to produce more milk and meat per day. It features high resistence to 4 major alfalfa diseases, +Z seedling resistance to Phytophthora and Aphanomyces, and excellent winter survival. Fall dormancy rating: 3.0

Supply Very Limited. Sow 20 Lbs. per acre.

MECHANICAL FLY CONTROL IS JUST ONE PART OF AN INTEGRATED PEST MANAGEMENT PROGRAM

Dr. Paul H. Patterson
Assistant Professor
Dept. Of
Poultry Science

The common house fly is the predominate fly that pullet and egg producers must deal with year-round in the poultry industry.

Because of the warm, moist conditions common to Pennsylvania's high-rise houses, these flies can breed and multiply very rapidly.

Today, producers are motivated to control these pests not only to reduce the fly spots on their eggs, equipment and buildings and the bacteria they may deposit with every stop, but also the terrible nuisance they can incur upon the neighbors.

Nuisance complaints are on the rise as poultry farms are no longer situated in remote rural locations. Survival of poultry producers in some communities may well depend on their ability to manage flies to their neighbors' satisfaction.

Integrated pest management (IPM) is a double-barreled shotgun approach to dealing with flies. It doesn't rely on a single bullet approach to fly control, but uses many methods from each barrel.

One could say that the integrated approaches to fly control in a modern IPM program might even constitute a triple-barrel approach using mechanical, biological and chemical strategies to reduce fly populations.

No single approach can eliminate all your flies; furthermore, no short-term concentrated effort will eliminate them either. One must be prepared to work at fly control year-round, day after day with the same dedication that brushing your teeth daily can mean to reducing tooth decay.

Both biological and chemical control strategies have been addressed previously by Dr. Charlie Pitts, professor of entomology, in a previous Lancaster Farming article (April 3, 1993, page C2).

For this reason, I wanted to focus on mechanical fly control strategies that in some cases you can build into a hen or pullet house from the very beginning.

For example, there are dry manure housing designs on the market that can reduce the manure moisture below that critical 50 percent level that does not allow for fly breeding. Both domestic and foreign systems are available to producers in Pennsylvania and abroad.

Like everything, there is always a cost associated with these systems.

But one might consider them a worthwhile investment if you consider that some producers have spent as much as $15,000 a year to control flies in a 100,000-bird hen house. Furthermore, it is not uncommon to hear of others spending $5,000 to $10,000 for chemical control alone.

The two basic systems for drying manure in these new houses are one, to channel manure into narrow piles beneath the birds and deliver high velocity air on top of the piles to bring about drying. The second is to collect manure on belts and force warm drier air over the belts, thus reducing manure moisture.

These systems can add as much as $50,000 or more to the price of a basic 118,000-bird, side-wall inlet, negative-pressure house.

While on the subject of ventilation systems, there are some installations that are better than others for drying manure. One design that places all the exhaust fans on one side of the pit tends to dry manure well on that side where air velocity is greatest and less so on the other side. Exhaust fans mounted in pit walls at a height of three or more feet from the pit floor tend to do a poor job of drying the low-lying fresh manure on the floor of a recently cleaned pit, or the manure from a recently housed flock.

Not until the manure piles reach a critical height, that exhausting air moves over the pile, will these piles begin to dry. It is not uncommon to see fans mounted too high in the rear of long houses where the floor is dropped for drainage purposes without considering the increasing height of the pit fan.

Under low ventilation periods in a pullet or layer house of conventional design, it is difficult to move very much warm air over the manure. Under these situations, it may be an advantage to add circulating fans in the pit to remove manure moisture. Fans placed every 50 feet, pushing air in the same direction in a racetrack design, tend to pick up additional manure moisture for the exhaust fans under low ventilation periods.

Controlling water entry into the manure pit from any source is critical to maintaining dry manure for fly control. This means walking the pit daily to check for leaking waterers, monitoring water consumption and maintenance of the watering system (making sure there is correct filters and pressure), sanitation, and regular flushing. Nipple or cup placement within the cage can have an impact on jarring the device and shaking off additional water. Cups tend to allow more spillage than do nipples, but any device that is not well maintained can be a significant source of water leakage into the pit.

Another source of water that can be designed out of the pit includes groundwater coming from improperly sealed joints at the pit wall, pit floor junction, no drain tile, or aggregate at the footings or an improperly sloped system. If the slope of the pit door ramp comes back into the building, it will collect water and funnel it into the manure pit.

Some sanitation steps one can take to control flies include keeping all types of organic matter cleaned up. For example, moist feed attracts flies as it ferments and serves as a breeding site, as does manure. Therefore, prevent feed spillage into the pit from hoppers, troughs, or corner devices. Keep concrete feed bin pads cleaned of wasted feed. Don't allow broken eggs to accumulate under the rod conveyers or belts. Lastly, dead birds that are not properly disposed of to incineration, composting, or rendering can attract green and blue bottle flies that feed on dead animals. These dead birds can carry disease that flies can carry to your healthy bird.

Spreading poultry manure to fertilize your crops is an excellent use for the manure nutrients, but how one spreads manure influences fly emergence as well as the nutrient value of the manure. Manure spreaders that distribute large chunks of manure allow for further fly emergence because larva and pupa contained in large pieces may not be killed by the drying action of the sun and wind. Preliminary research results suggest that incorporating poultry manure with a moldboard plow reduces fly emergence better than use of a chisel plow. The chisel did a better job of incorporation than a disk and the disk was better than not incorporating the manure at all.

Similarly, the better job one can do in covering up the manure, the less ammonia, nitrogen and other nutrients will be lost to the atmosphere or run off from fields. Spring and fall fly emergence from fields has been a frequent nuisance to neighbors. Consider the fly egg, larva, and pupa status of the manure before spreading it on fields with neighbors in close proximity.

Lastly, fly traps that utilize an insect hormone attractant can serve as a part of an IPM program. Placed either inside the poultry house or outside beyond the exhaust fans, these can catch a considerable number of potential breeders and reduce the number that spread outside the poultry house.

Recently, a company has scaled up a bug zapper that will electrocute flies. When placed in the pit under the cage row walkways at 15 to 20 per house, they can have a significant impact on the adult fly population. Two ultraviolet tubes per unit attract the flies to the low amperage electrical unit that kills the adult fly.

No single component of an IPM program can eliminate all the flies in your poultry house. It will take manure management as well as taking several of the suggestions outlined above to make an impact. Chemical as well as biological control will most likely be needed in concert with mechanical measures to bring about long-term fly control.

Today, we not only control flies for our own benefit and the benefit of our birds, but to foster good relations with our neighbors.

Tobacco Growers Hold Meeting In Paradise

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

PARADISE (Lancaster Co.) — Tobacco growers gathered at the tobacco auction barn to receive information about growing and marketing tobacco. Dr. David Smith, tobacco specialist, North Carolina State University, told the group about a successful plant raising float system used in the South.

Growers form a water bed with 2x6 framing and line it with plastic. Then the bed is filled with four inches of water. A polystyrene tray is filled with an artificial potting medium that is floated in the water. The tobacco seeds are planted in the tray, which is divided into sections. A hole in the bottom of the tray allows water to wick up to the plant seeds, much like oil to a wick in a lamp. Later, as the plants grow, the roots are extended down to the water. These systems can be used in greenhouses or small hot bed type structures can be made over the float system for protection of the plants and to utilize a supplemental heating system if needed.

When the plants are ready, the whole tray is taken to the transplanter, and the operator pulls the plants from the tray and places them in the row all in one operation.

Bill Cornell, lobbiest in Harrisburg for the Lancaster County Tobacco Association, gave figures that show the extent of tax revenues to national, state, and local governments. Figuring federal excise, state excise, and state sales taxes on 72,000 packs of cigarettes, you get $48,000 per acre in taxes. From this acre the farmer would get approximately $3100.00. "When the farmer plants tobacco seeds, he is really growing money for the government," Cornell said.

John Barley, representative from Lancaster County, said no new taxes on tobacco products were likely this year. And he identified with the growers because he grew up on a Lancaster County farm and helped raise tobacco as a youth. Barley said that raising tobacco allows farm families to pull together. And in Pennsylvania, 80,000 jobs are directly attributed to the tobacco industry.

Larry Weaver, president, said a number of legislators from Lancaster County in Harrisburg are farmers and therefore understand what farmers are going through. He said farmers were fortunate to have these people in Harrisburg but that the farmers needed to become members of the association so they have a greater voice of support.

Kathy Baxter from the Consolidated Farm Service Agency reminded farmers the tobacco referendum will be this spring. The exact dates have not been set, but they should watch the papers, contact the agency at the Farm and Home Center, or contact directors of the association.

Mac Bailey, a buyer from Virginia, reported that market conditions this year were much like in the late 80's when the bottom dropped out of the market. Fortunately, the price did not go as low as it might have. Bailey also showed samples of imported tobacco that can be obtained for manufacture much cheaper than U.S tobacco.

Bailey also farms 241 acres on his 1,200 acre farm that has been in the family for many generations. In 1994, along with son Steve, the Baileys started to manufacture a cigarette that uses only U.S blends, including 609 from Lancaster County. The market for this new product is growing in Virginia, and they hope to sell also in North Carolina and Lancaster County. The fledgling enterprise is of special interest to local growers because of the use of local tobacco in the product.

The Baileys are from Keysville, Virginia, and use a logo of an old barn that Mac played in as a boy. Mac said you don't need a license to manufacture the product, but you need a wholesale license to sell. That's what he is seeking so that he can distribute in Pennsylvania, hopefully in the next several weeks.

The Pennsylvania Tobacco Growers have a mailing list of over 1200 growers.

Mill Celebrates 50 Years In Feed Business

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster Co.) — Sensenig's Feed Mill, celebrating 50 years in the feed business, since 1945, held their annual Dairy Informational Meetings with over 275 area producers attending. The introduction of Master Mix Feeds' new AIM (Amino Acid Impact Management) technology was the main topic of discussion. Featured speakers from Master Mix's research and marketing department included Dr. R. Don Jaquette, dairy nutritionist, Dr. Merril May, dairy nutritionist and Matt Schrage, dairy marketing manager. Results from the AIM studies conducted at Master Mix Feeds' research facilities, independent university studies and nine Lancaster County herds were presented.

The introduction of the AIM technology in Lancaster County field tests presented by Mike Sensenig. Mike reviewed the test results from nine herds totaling in excess of 325 cows. These herds represented a cross section of various sizes, feeding programs, and management levels. Results from producers using either existing Master Mix technology or competitive nutritional programs were compared. The average milk response of the herds was 5.7 lbs. milk per cow per day. Herds converted to the AIM program from competitive feed programs, responded with an average 10 lbs. more milk per cow per day.

AIM represents the third generation of industry leading patented protein technology from Master Mix Feeds' continued commitment to research. Its technology focuses on increasing the total essential amino acid flow to the small intestine. AIM feeds feature higher rumen undegraded protein (RUP) levels with defined concentrations of lysine and methionine. This is achieved using highly patatable, highly digestible plant protein sources for optimal protein efficiency. AIM technology offers the producer greater flexibility within the product line and physical form.

Pennsylvania Young Farmers Hold Convention

BROOKVILLE (Jefferson Co.) — Commenting on the Pennsylvania Young Farmers' Convention last week, Richard Hoppes, PYFA reporter, noted that the convention was very successful with tours, awards, business meetings, workshops, and fellowship. The state officers, their wives, and especially state president Jim Berry and his wife Pam were commended for their hard work to make the convention successful. The association also thanks the exhibitors, sponsors of meals, donors, and young farmer chapters for their support.

The Hon. Don Wilson, mayor of Brookville, gave the welcome and gave an overview of Jefferson County. Jenny Zerby brought greetings from Pennsylvania FFA. The delegates were seated at the business meeting. They approved a $26,025 budget for 1995.

The election of officers is as follows: James Stutzman, Meyersdale, president, Garry Maurer, Lebanon, president-elect; Robert Cornman, Centre Hall, secretary; A. DAle Herr, Kirkwood, treasurer; Grace Hoppes, Hamburg, PRD, and James Berry, Jr., Brookville, is past president.

Regional vice presidents are: Region 2, David Groff, Manheim; Region 3, Dale Rossman, Spring Mills; Region 4, Jeffrey Rohrer, Chambersburg; Region 5, Paul Kemerer, Latrobe; Region 7, Paul Zimmerman, Bernville; Membership, Terry Martin, Sr., Chambersburg; and Newsletter Editors, Richard and Grace Hoppes, Hamburg.

Awards were given as follows:

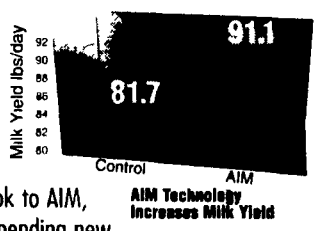
Announcing Amino Acid Impact Management (AIM), technology for better dairy herd performance

If you're constantly searching for ways to increase milk production, look to AIM, the patent-pending new feed technology from Master Mix Feeds.



AIM Technology Increases Milk Yield

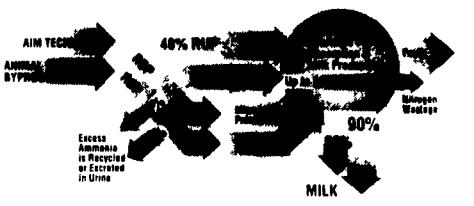
Meeting essential amino acid needs

Researchers from Master Mix Feeds have developed a patent-pending technology that significantly improves the concentrations of rumen undegradeable amino acids of highly digestible proteins. AIM enhances the flow of high quality amino acids directly to the small intestine where they are absorbed and used for milk and milk protein synthesis. AIM technology provides a balanced, and consistent source of essential amino acids that lead to increased milk yields and improved lactational performance.

Optimize protein efficiency

AIM works where other feed systems often come up short. Research has demonstrated that AIM technology optimizes the supply of both feed derived and microbial amino acids to the small intestine. This balanced supply means more efficient amino acid utilization.

Ready Aim Fire



Position your dairy operation for the future

AIM is the perfect complement to sound management practices. It provides a precise feed management system. AIM gives you a solution for improving milk and milk component yields.

Call or write today for a free AIM brochure. 1-800-292-FEED, Ext.5111.

Where Ducks Are Just Like Kids

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

ELVERSON (Chester Co.) — Duck farmers are a bit scarce. If they are like Luke and Elmeta Hollinger of Elverson, what they lack in numbers they make up for in enthusiasm.

"I love ducks — they're just like my kids," said Luke who with his wife raises 12,000 Peking ducks with a new 3,000-head batch rotating every two weeks.

For 30 years, the Hollingers had raised 30,000 layer hens. When the equipment and housing became obsolete, and it became more and more difficult to contract 30,000 layers, the couple decided against expanding and updating their facilities. About five years ago, they quit the egg business.

Luke thought he'd concentrate on his full-time cabinet job where he'd been employed for years.

But he missed having something to tend.

"I get very bored if there's nothing to do," he said.

The Hollingers started checking out options. The feed company that had supplied their poultry operation for years suggested they try raising geese.

The Hollingers did try it for a season, but the geese market did not pan out like expected.

Ducks were another alternative for raising in the obsolete poultry houses, but the Hollingers were skeptical.

They didn't want to rush into anything, especially if the market wasn't there. But they found that cities with a large ethnic Oriental population provide a steady market. They contracted with a Shartlesville grower who delivers newly hatched ducklings, picks up the finished ducks every two weeks,

(Turn to Page B3)

Luke and Elmeta Hollinger never tire of talking about ducks. Luke said, "The ducks are just like my children. I feel better when I'm sleeping at home with them. If I go away, I always have the ducks in back of mind just like they're my kids. I keep calling home to see how they're doing.".

and takes care of the dressing and marketing of the ducklings. The company also has a duck veterinarian who checks on the flocks periodically. Payment is based on price per pound, and paid every two weeks.

Although chickens and ducks are both birds, the Hollingers said, "Ducks are natured completely different than chickens."

When the Hollingers list the comparison, ducks come out on top every time.

They find the ducklings humorous to watch. Ducks can't fly over barriers. They have no problem with pesty flies. And, ducks are disease resistent.

"Ducks are super. They aren't time consuming to care for; they're docile, you don't need to vaccinate, and you can mix ages," Luke said.

Ducks do need to be debeaked. Debeaking is done at four weeks of age. It takes about two and a half hours to debeak 3,000 chickens.

Elmeta, who works for a dry cleaning business, helps with the debeaking, moving, and loading of the ducklings.

"It takes about six hours to load and debeak a batch," Elmeta said. "We start at 3 a.m. and are finished by 9 a.m.

When the Hollingers made the transition from chickens to ducks, they removed the cages used for the layers. They installed a vinyl coated wire floor on top of pressure treated 2x4s.

Previously some duck growers used litter instead of wire on the floor. But litter is prone to problems and is a breeding ground for bacteria and mold.

"Ducks are very sensitive to mold," said Luke, who keeps a sharp lookout for mold in feed and for any that might break off the housing environment.

Buyers want nice clean birds because the feathers are sold for use in down pillows and comforters.

"Wire works best for wet droppings. Those who use litter can't produce a clean bird," Luke said. The chicken houses were divided into four sections. Two sections are uses as starting pens for the ducklings, which are delivered the day they are hatched. Two weeks later, the ducklings are walked into the next section called the growing pen. After two weeks, they are walked into the finisher pen.

Moving the ducklings from one section to another is easy because the sections are on the same floor and are divided with plywood and a door. When it is time to move a flock, the door is opened. Elmeta slowly walks behind the ducks that move as one mass to the opened door.

"We must move slowly because ducks can't move fast." she said.

If moved too quickly, ducks may suffer heart attacks because they are not accustomed to exercise although they do have a large open room in which to move.

Ducks drink lots of water. An ozone system is used for water purification. Feeders and water troughs designed for ducks are not available for purchase. Luke, who prides himself in constructing whatever is needed, designed waterers from polyvinylchloride (PVC) pipe and feeders from used plastic 20-gallon drums.

"I like to take stuff that people discard and resurrect it," Lloyd said. He's known to attain many lawn mowers in that fashion.

Because ducks are waterfowl, condensation forms from the breath of the ducklings. Metal rusts quickly in this atmosphere.

The same manure pit cleaners used for the chickens works well for the ducklings to move the manure into a holding tank. A neighboring farmer spreads the manure on fields.

"I'm told duck manure is superior to cattle manure," Luke said. "We're really glad we have an outlet for it; otherwise, we couldn't raise ducks.

Mortality rate is low for ducks. No matter how cold temperatures drop, it doesn't seem to affect the ducklings. In fact, Luke said, the one section that has less heat from the heat lamps used, has resulted in less mortality than the warmer sections.

Hot weather is harder on the ducks and the mortality rate increases a bit during hot weather stretches. Large fans are used for cooling during hot weather months.

A formulated, computer-balanced duck ration is given to the ducklings. Started on pellets, the ducklings are switched to a growing ration and later a finishing ration.

For a duck that may become lame or exhibit some other disability, a small portion in the one pen is roped off for a duck hospital.

When ducks are spread out, they are satisfied and happy. Sometimes Luke walks through the ducks to spread them out a bit more as they tend to be passive and not move around much.

The Hollingers have four adult children and 10 grandchildren for which they added a large all-pupose room their home in order to accomodate many family gatherings. Luke is a Sunday school superintendent and Elmeta is active in the women's ministry at their church. She also plays the organ.

The couple have a cottage at Landisville Campgrounds, about an hour's drive away. During the summer months, they often spend weekends there, but Luke usually returns to sleep with his ducklings.

Although a son who lives nearby will care for the ducklings, Luke is reluctant to stay away overnight.

"The ducks are just like my children. I feel better when I'm sleeping at home with them. If I go away, I always have the ducks in back of mind just like they're my kids. I keep calling home to see how they're doing."

Luke and Elmeta Hollinger stand in front of the chicken houses that they converted into duck pens, which hold 12,000 Peking ducks. Although chickens and ducks are both birds, the Hollingers said that ducks are natured completely different than chickens.

Elmeta holds a newly-hatched duckling. At four weeks of age, the ducks will be debeaked.

Feeders and water troughs designed for ducks are not available for purchase. Luke, used polyvinylchloride (PVC) pipe and used plastic 20-gallon drums to construct feeders and waterers.

Luke, who will be 65, will retire from his full-time job as a cabinet maker next year.

"But I'll keep tending my ducks. I love getting up in the morning and having something to tend. It's in my blood. I miss it if it's not there," he said.

Homestead Notes

On Being a Farm Wife (and other hazards)

Joyce Bupp

Snow had been falling, softly, silently, but swiftly, piling up for the past several hours.

With only a half-hour until the start of milking chores, the phone rang. It was John, scheduled for milking and wondering if The Farmer could fetch him in the farm pickup. Snow on most roads was rapidly deepening and his small car might have problems plowing through at spots.

Just as the pickup headed up the road for the few-minute trip, the phone rang again. Expecting it to be our other scheduled milker, Angie, calling to say she couldn't get out the long lane due to the deepening snow, I was surprised to hear her mother's voice instead. And it was calm and controlled, considering the reason behind the call.

"I think we have a chimney fire," she said, asking if The Farmer could quickly run over to take a look at it, since her husband was working and she was there alone with their three teenage/young-adult children.

While no walls felt hot and no evidence of fire was escaping the chimney, she was extremely concerned over the repeated blaring of their smoke detector and the crackling sounds in the woodstove pipe. And she was understandably reluctant to begin tearing pipes apart in the event it might further stoke flames if there was a problem.

"He just left," I hated to tell her, "but he should be back in a few minutes."

"I'd better call 911," she decided.

Though I listened for sirens from the fire company just a mile and a half away, they never sounded. The longer it went, the more I began to worry. When the pickup pulled in front of the house soon afterward, my message sent The Farmer hurrying back up the road through the accumulating several inches of snow.

Calling Diane back to affirm that he was on his way, I was astounded when she told me that firemen were already there. Not more than six or eight minutes could have elapsed from her initial call to me.

And, thankfully, everything seemed to be under control.

Relieved over that news, I bundled up in sweatshirts and hat, pulled on a pair of rubber boots and headed out to help start the milking, since we were now minus two for the barn chores. The calmness and quiet outside and the normal peacefulness of the cows chewing their cuds inside the warm barn made a direct contrast with the adrenalin still pumping through my system over this potential disaster for our friends.

Milkers were busy on the first round of cows when The Farmer returned. In through the door with him came Angie, who had hitched a ride over in the pickup from her house, now safe, thanks to our instant-response neighborhood fire fighters. One had even plowed the snow in the lane on his way in with his work truck, clearing the way for any needed equipment.

But the problem had been mostly a backup of fumes that set off the smoke detectors, and an extra hot fire that had spurred the crackling in the pipes. Knowing how quickly a slight overheat can become a major inferno, we all breathed a collective sigh of relief and renewed our appreciation for the dedication of firefighters everywhere.

The Farmer departed to return back to the scene of the woodstove scare one more time, just to make sure there were no further problems. After the milking was well under way and everything running smoothly, I returned to the house to calm down.

Shortly afterward, The Farmer returned, joined me at the kitchen table and observed with a grin that the day had already generated more excitement (for farmers and firemen alike) than we often see in a week.

All before breakfast. It was just 7 a.m.

Museum Classes Scheduled In Hershey

HERSHEY (Dauphin Co.) — Hershey Museum offers a delightful array of children's classes scheduled from the beginning of March through late April. Class sizes are limited to allow instructors lots of time to meet the needs of each child. Pre-registration is necessary and a class fee is charged. For more information about classes and registration call (717) 534-3439.

MAKE AND BAKE PRETZEL CLASS gives active youngsters ages 4-6 the opportunity to roll, twist, bake and eat pretzels "made from scratch." Children will also measure and mix the ingredients. Saturday, March 4, 10 - 11:30 a.m.

WAXWORKS gives participants ages 6-9 the opportunity to experience a bit of the history of home lighting before 1860. By the time the class is over, youngsters will have dipped four, fat, ready-to-use beeswax candles to take home. Saturday, March 4, 1 - 2:30 p.m.

During MADE WITH CHOCOLATE, children ages 4-6 measure, mix, bake and sample scrumptious brownies, paint chocolate pictures, explore the Hershey exhibit and get some cocoa beans to take home. Saturday, March 11, 10 - 11:30 a.m.

THIS IS THE WAY WE SPIN THE WOOL teaches youngsters ages 7-9 the skills to card, spin and weave wool. Children will try to master the art of the drop spindle, and use a spinning wheel, then weave the yarn on a simple loom. Saturday, March 11, 10 a.m. - noon.

In EGGS IN A BASKET, children ages 4-6 color and decorate eggs, then embellish a wooden oval box in which to keep the eggs with all sorts of special materials. Saturday, April 8, 10 - 11:30 a.m.

FOOD GLORIOUS FOOD is a lively class with all sorts of food as the focus of interactive songs and activities. Musician Jan Dunkle leads the group scheduled for Saturday, April 22, from 10 - 11 a.m.

BEANS TO BARS, scheduled for Saturday, April 22, from 10 - 11:30 a.m. for ages 8-10 gives young people the chance to work with what the Aztecs considered the "food of the gods." A variety of chocolate-related activities include mapping where cocoa comes from, taste-testing, and making a chocolate lollypop.

Day Camp To Teach Kids Farm Safety

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

VILLAGE OF OREGON (Lancaster Co.) — The statistics are grim: two children in Lancaster County in the past decade have been killed because of silo gas. Many more are injured.

Of 8,000 children that die per year from entirely preventable, avoidable injuries in the country, 300 of them are farm kids.

There are more children that die of injury than of all diseases combined, according to farm safety experts.

What's to be done?

The local chapter of the Farm Safety 4 Just Kids, together with the Safe Kids Coalition, are presenting a special Farm Safety Day Camp for farm children ages 8-13 on Saturday, June 3, at the Oregon Dairy Farm on Oregon Pike.

The day camp, according to sponsors, is open to farm children to promote education of farm safety. Beginning at 8 a.m., children will view safety demonstrations that show the hazards of tractors, grain flow wagons, PTOs, skid loaders, all-terrain vehicles, mowers, and electrical systems. Also, special stations will show children the dangers of animal handling, farm chemicals, hidden hazards, and other equipment. Also, special courses will help children understand the importance of learning about fire prevention, first aid, and roadway/buggy safety.

The day-long Farm Safety Day Camp will provide lots of free food for breakfast and lunch. Ice cream snacks will be provided. Also, contests will be held throughout the day to demonstrate safety awareness.

For Plain farm children, bus transportation from churches will be provided.

Oregan Dairy Farm is providing free use of their farm for the day camp and will provide the food for the children. Also, donations have been accepted from Cargill Grain, U.S. Health Care, and local physicians and other organizations to hold the event.

Organizers of the day camp say they need donations to make the day camp a success.

People often refer to situations where a child gets hurt on a farm as an "accident." But these are not acts of fate, according to Dr. Albert C. Price, Roseville Pediatrics, senior adviser to the Safe Kids Coalition and Farm Safety 4 Just Kids.

"They are avoidable injuries," he said. "The children are not being supervised. They're on equipment they shouldn't be on. They're doing jobs that are beyond their physical or mental capability."

Recently, Price, who is helping to coordinate the day camp, said he participated in a court case involving a nine year old child that was being "allowed and trained to drive a combine.

"Maybe that's not what that child should be doing," he said. Often, parents believe that if they had to drive a combine when they were 10 years old, then their kids should too — which can easily prove disastrous.

Price is excited about the day camp and how it may help reduce preventable injuries and death of children on the farm. He mentioned the implementation of rules for medicine, including childproof seals for containers, a move which helped reduce injuries and death.

When you make the kids wear bike helmets, injuries drop significantly, said Price. "There are many things that you can use for statistics that show that good, preventive education does something."

At this year's Farm Show, the two organizations sponsored a booth that provided information and handouts about farm safety. These are some of the items that will be provided free at the day camp.

Dr. Albert C. Price, Roseville Pediatrics, senior adviser to the Safe Kids Coalition and Farm Safety 4 Just Kids, is helping to coordinate the Farm Safety Day Camp in June. Kids can eat for free, learn farm safety, and take home coloring books and stickers about farm safety.

Price said that farming is different from the work of the general population, in that the farmer depends on his children in the work cycle. Unfortunately, said Price, children sometimes don't belong in that work cycle. "They ought to be in a different kind of job."

In the past year, the Farm Safety 4 Just Kids organization has worked hard to bring the message about safety to farm families. In July last year, Shari Burgus, director of program serves for the national group, based in Earlham, Iowa, spoke to the Lancaster County Coalition of Safe Kids at the Farm and Home Center. At the Farm Show, the two organizations sponsored a booth that provided information and handouts about farm safety.

The coalition, according to Price, is the only organization on the East Coast devoted to not only the safety of children in the city, but also the farm.

The day camp is modeled after the first safety day camp in Cedar Falls, Iowa, in 1988.

Price recently asked a farm boy about the dangers of a silo. "He had no concept of what the problems were," said Price. Because of this ignorance, and lack of farm community involvement, a lot of kids have been injured as a result of entirely preventable accidents.

"What we're saying is, if you don't want us to legislate, like with the bike helmets, then come up with good education programs for your children and decide what you want to do with these projects. We'll help you."

Eventually, Price hopes that more "family" day camps can be set up to teach kids not only farm safety, but to teach parents such things as first aid.

"Farmers do not want a lot of legislation — that's understandable, because they've paid the price for a lot of legislation. But we're saying, all right, come and help us. Work with us."

Cherry Recipes Brighten Winter Meals

Life is more than a bowl of cherries, but anyone with a taste for delicious desserts knows that cherries brighten the day.

Tart cherries — sometimes called pie cherries — are a mainstay in many of America's favorite dishes.

For more information and recipes on cherries, call the Cherry Marketing Institute at (517) 347-0010.

LAYERED CHERRY DELIGHT

2 cups crushed pretzels
1 cup chopped pecans
3 tablespoons sugar
½ cup butter

Melt butter. Mix with pretzels, pecans, and sugar. Put in bottom of 9x13-inch pan. Bake 8-10 minutes at 350 degrees. Cool.

8-ounces cream cheese
1 cup confectioners' sugar
8-ounces whipped topping
2 cans cherry pie filling

Beat cream cheese, sugar and whipped topping. Spread on top of pretzel mixture. Refrigerate 30 minutes. Top with pie filling. Chill and enjoy.

Louise Graybeal

FESTIVE CHERRY CAKE

1 white cake mix
1½ cups whipping cream
⅓ cup confectioners' sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
22-ounce can cherry pie filling

Mix cake according to directions. Bake in 2 9-inch round cake pans greased and floured at 350 degrees for 35 minutes. Cool on wire rack.

Whip cream until stiff, beat in confectioners' sugar and vanilla.

Spread 1 cup whipped cream on bottom layer. Spoon ½ cup pie filling, mostly juice, on top. Place second layer on top. Frost sides and top of cake with remaining cream mixture. Place in freezer about 30 minutes.

Spoon cherry pie filling over top of cake allowing some to drip down sides. Chill in refrigerator until serving. Serves 12.

CHERRY YUM YUM

3 cups graham cracker crumbs
¾ cup butter
16-ounces cream cheese
¾ cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 packages Dream Whip
2 jars cherry pie filling

Melt butter, pour into graham cracker crumbs. Press ⅔ crumbs into 9x13-inch pan. Beat Dream Whip with milk. Add cream cheese, sugar, and vanilla. Put half on crumbs, then 1 jar pie filling, remaining Dream Whip and one jar of pie filling. Sprinkle remaining crumbs on top.

Rising Sun, Md.

CHERRY PIE FILLING

21 cups sour cherries
7 cups water
7 tablespoons lemon juice
2 teaspoons red food coloring, optional
1¼ teaspoon almond extract
3½ cups brown sugar
3½ cups granulated sugar
1¼ cups plus 1 tablespoon instant Clear Jel
1 teaspoon salt

Mix wet ingredients. Mix dry ingredients. Stir together. Mix well. Fill jars to the bottom of the ring. Makes approximately 7 quarts. Can in hot water bath for 25 minutes. Do not boil too rapidly. Allow jars to set in canner approximately 5 minutes after boiling to prevent filling from cooking out of the jars.

Filling may be used in recipes calling for cherry pie filling.

DUMP CAKE

Dump evenly in a 13x9x2-inch cake pan:

1 can cherry pie filling
1 can crushed pineapple, undrained

Mix 1 box yellow or white cake mix as package directs. Pour mix evenly over fruit. Melt 2 sticks butter and pour over cake mix. Top cake by evenly sprinkling the following over the butter:

1 cup coconut
1 cup chopped nuts

Bake at 325 degrees for one hour. Good, served warm with whipped topping.

HAWAIIAN FRIENDSHIP FRUIT CAKE

Day 1: Pour 1 pint starter into a glass gallon jar. Add 1 can sliced peaches and its juice. Cut each slice peach into 4 pieces. Add 2 cups sugar. Cover jar loosely and leave at room temperature. Stir every day for 10 days. (Do not cover airtight or refrigerate.

Day 10: Add 16-ounce can pineapple chunks and its juice. Cut each piece in half and add 2 cups sugar. Stir every day for next 10 days. Color has changed and your fruit will foam when stirred.

Day 20: Add 2 10-ounce jars of maraschino cherries. Do not add juice. Slice each cherry in half. Add 2 cups sugar and stir final 10 days. The cherries will give your fruit back its pinkish color.

Day 31: You are ready to bake your cakes. You will need 3 tube pans. Mix one cake at a time. Preheat oven to 300 degrees, if glass, 275 degrees. Grease and flour cake pans.

All may be baked at the same time if they will fit in your oven.

Bake for 55 to 65 minutes. Some need to bake longer. Use a broom straw to test for doneness.

Drain fruit into large bowl. Pour the juice into 3 pint jars. These are new starters for your friends. No juice is used in your cakes, only the fruit. You will need to triple the following ingredients to make your three cakes.

Pour into large bowl:
1 box butter golden cake mix
1 box vanilla pudding (small)
4 eggs
⅔ cup oil
1½ cups drained fruit

1 cup raisins
1 cup pecans
1 cup walnuts
1 cup coconut

Stir, pour into tube pan. Mix second and third cake the same and bake. Mix each cake separately.

GENERAL GEORGE'S CHERRY TARTS

Tarts:
2 cups tart cherries in syrup
6 3-inch diameter graham cracker tart shells
2 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
¼ cup granulated sugar

Topping:
¾ cup all-purpose flour
⅓ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
⅓ cup butter
⅓ cup walnuts
Whipped cream or ice cream, if desired

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. For tarts, drain cherries, reserve 2 tablespoons syrup. Place graham cracker tart shells on cookie sheet; set aside. Combine drained cherries, reserved syrup tapioca, and granulated sugar in large bowl. For topping, in separate bowl, blend flour, brown sugar, and cinnamon. Cut in butter with pastry blender, 2 knives, or with fingers. Stir in nuts. Mix until crumbly. Spoon cherry mixture into tart shells. Spoon topping onto each tart, completely covering cherries; press topping gently into cherry mixture. Bake 30 minutes or until golden brown. Transfer tarts to wire racks. Serve warm or at room temperature with whipped cream or ice cream.

Take advantage of all that snow outside by using it to make homemade ice cream. Use snow in place of ice while churning ice cream.

That suggestion comes from Sullivan County Dairy Princess Susan Pardo. She lives on Pardoe Brothers Valley View Farm, four miles off Route 154 from Estella.

Her father James (Jake) and his brother John own 525 acres and rent an additional 160 acres. They have 125 head of cattle.

Not only is Susan traveling across her county to promote milk but she also spends an hour on the road to attend Sullivan County High School, where she is a senior.

"I have had to learn how to budget my time between homework, school activities, and dairy promotion," she said.

Susan said her mom Dottie, grandmother Evelyn Higley, and two brothers Sam and Tom often provide transportation to dairy promotions. A younger sister Kristina is one of the county's dairy maids.

Here is one of Susan's favorite ice cream recipes. She said that you can add your favorite fruit or cookies.

MY MOM'S HOMEMADE ICE CREAM

6 eggs
1½ cups sugar
1 cup milk
1 pint heavy cream, optional
2 cups fruit or broken cookies

Mix together eggs, sugar, milk, and cream in blender, add fruit or cookies. Pour into ice cream freezer. Add milk to the full line and freeze according to instructions on your ice cream freezer.

Rocky Horse Ridge Farm For Equine Lovers

BETH MILLER
Cumberland Co.
Correspondent

CARLISLE (Cumberland Co.) — The Rocking Horse Ridge Farm near Carlisle is a busy place these days.

Pat and Doreen Corbosiero, the owners of the farm, have plenty to do boarding horses and teaching riding classes that they say are becoming more popular every year.

"There seems to be a real growing interest in horses and riding, maybe because of the popularity of dude ranches, western music and western style," Doreen said. "People have seemed to get caught up in it."

The Corbosieros said they became involved with the farm more or less by chance in 1993. The couple, who are from New Jersey, said they just happened to run across the farm during a trip to this area one weekend.

Her brother is responsible for them buying the place, Doreen joked.

He is a real estate agent in Harrisburg, she said, and while they were visiting, he said he had a place to show them. He did and the rest is history, Doreen said.

Running the farm most certainly is a full-time business, the Corbosieros said.

Between 50 and 90 riding lessons are given by outside instructors at the 30-acre farm each week, from basic classes to the most advanced courses.

Three instructors teach basic riding techniques and one instructs advanced classes to teach children how to perfect their riding skills. The two Western riding classes cover everything from basic techniques to barrel racing and special Western events.

English riding classes are among their most popular offerings, the Corbosieros said. "There has always been a certain amount of interest in English riding," Doreen said.

The Corbosieros really know what they are doing, too, since Doreen has worked with horses all her life. She graduated from college with a degree in animal sciences.

As one would expect, the summer is the busiest time at the farm.

This year, The Corbosieros said they will start a five-week basic program for beginning riders. They said that program will cover basic horse care, grooming and saddling. It will be followed by a free riding lesson.

Rocking Horse Ridge has impressive facilities to back up all of its activities.

The place has a show ring, a lighted outdoor arena, a lighted indoor arena and a whole network of wooded riding trails. The Corbosieros also offer trailering services.

The couple holds shows at the farm and are in the Blue and Gray Show Circuit, which involves events throughout Pennsylvania and Maryland. They are involved in the Cumberland County 4-H and Pony Club activities as well.

Doreen and Pat Corbosiero, the owners of the Rocking Horse Ridge Farm, give their daughter Caitlin a ride on Coco while walking Case Me In Oiki with the help of the dog Bogie.

The thing that the Corbosieros like the most about their business is seeing young people learning about horses and enjoying themselves, Doreen said.

"Kids seem to have an interest in horses. And it's an activity that teaches them responsibility and keeps them off the street," she said

PUNCH BOWL CAKE

18.25-ounce butter cake mix, plus ingredients to prepare cake.
6-ounce package instant vanilla pudding, plus ingredients to prepare the mix
20-ounce can crushed pineapple, divided
2 21-ounce cans cherry pie filling, divided
12-ounces whipped topping
½ cup chopped nuts, divided

Prepare and bake the cake mix according to the package directions; cool completely. Prepare the pudding mix according to the package directions. Crumble half of the cake into the bottom of a large bowl. A small punch bowl works well. On top of the cake, layer half of the pudding, half of the pineapple, 1 can of the cherry pie filling, half of the whipped topping and ¼ cup of the nuts. If desired, reserve a few cherries from the second can for a garnish. Repeat the layers, using the remaining cake, pudding, pineapple, cherry pie filling, and nuts. Pipe the remaining whipped topping decoratively on the op or mound the topping allowing the cherry pie filling to show through. Garnish with the reserved cherries.

Coconut Cake

1 package yellow cake mix
1 package French vanilla instant pudding
¼ cup vegetable oil
1 teaspoon coconut flavoring
4 eggs
1 cup water

Combine all ingredients in a large mixing bowl. Blend; then beat at medium speed for 2 minutes. Pour into greased and floured 13x9-inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 to 35 minutes. Cool in pan 15 minutes. Finish cooling on rack then frost.

Coconut Frosting

Cook together and let cool:
1 cup milk
5 tablespoons flour

In mixing bowl put cooled milk and flour mixture
½ cup shortening
¼ cup butter
1 teaspoon coconut flavoring
1 cup granulated sugar
Pinch salt

Beat on high speed until thick and fluffy.
Spread on cake. Spread 1 can flake coconut on top.

Potato Soup

4 quarts potatoes, diced

Cook with water and salt until tender. Save broth. Add the following:
4 hard cooked eggs, diced
8-10 slices bacon, fried and crumbled
1 diced onion, chopped

White sauce:
8 tablespoons butter
8 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper

Melt butter and add flour, salt and pepper. Add slowly and cook until thick:
4 cups milk

Pour over potatoes. Add broth as needed for desired consistency.

ANSWER — Livina Fisher, Mifflin, wanted a recipe for stuffed chicken breasts. Thanks to Kathy Keeny, Glen Rock, and A. Fetherolf, Hamburg, for sending recipes.

Chicken Cordon Bleu

Frozen chicken breasts, thawed
Sliced Swiss cheese
Sliced baked ham
3 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon paprika
Butter
½ cup dry white cooking wine
1 cube chicken bouillon
Cornstarch and cream

Place one slice cheese and one slice ham in each breast. Fold in half and secure with toothpicks. Coat with flour and paprika. Brown in butter. Add wine and bouillon and simmer until fork tender. Remove toothpicks. Blend cornstarch with cream and stir into skillet. Pour over chicken. Terrific.

Entire cooking time: about 1¼ hours. Note: Cornstarch and cream should be mixed like gravy.

LAZY DAY COBBLER

½ cup butter
2 cups sugar
2 cups flour
1½ cups milk
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoons salt
1 quart seeded pie cherries, undrained

Melt butter in 9x13-inch pan on top of stove. Mix sugar, flour, milk, baking powder, and salt until smooth. Pour in pan. Spoon 1-quart cherries, undrained, over the top. Bake at 400 degrees for 35 to 40 minutes. Serve warm with milk or ice cream.

PENNSYLVANIA COUNTRY CHERRY BARS

Bottom layer:
½ cup brown sugar
1 egg
½ cup butter, softened
1¼ cup flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon baking soda
2 tablespoons water

Cream sugar, butter, and egg. Add flour, baking powder, and baking soda. Mix well. Add water. Mix well and pat into the bottom of a 9x13-inch cake pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 12 minutes.

Middle layer:
2 pounds sweet cherries
½ cup sugar
1 3-ounce box cherry Jell-O

Drain cherries. Mix all together and place over baked layer.

Top layer:
1 cup sugar
½ cup butter, softened
1¼ cup flour
2 teaspoons cinnamon
½ teaspoon pumpkin pie spice

Mix together into crumbs. Place over cherry layer. Bake at 350 degrees for 40 to 45 minutes.

I came up with this original recipe one year during cherry picking time. My family just loves this dessert.

CHERRY CHEESECAKE

2 cups crushed potato chips
¼ cup flour
¼ cup confectioners' sugar
1 tablespoon vegetable oil
3 eggs
3 3-ounce packages cream cheese, softened
1 cup sugar
2 teaspoons grated lemon peel
½ teaspoon vanilla
16-ounces pitted tart red cherries, drained, reserve liquid
¼ cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Combine chips, flour, confectioners' sugar and oil in medium bowl; blend well. Press mixture into bottom of 9-inch springform pan. Bake 10 minutes. Combine eggs, cream cheese, sugar, lemon peel, and vanilla in large bowl; beat with electric mixer until smooth. Pour over crust; spread evenly to edge. Reduce oven temperature to 300 degrees. Bake one hour or until filling is set. Cool in pan on wire rack one hour. Pour reserved cherry liquid into small saucepan. Add sugar and cornstarch; stir to dissolve cornstarch. Cook on high heat until mixture comes to a rolling boil, stirring constantly. Stir in cherries. Spoon cherry mixture evenly over cheesecake. Refrigerate at least 3 hours before serving. 8 servings.

When snow is on the ground and my husband is shoveling our driveway, then I can really appreciate my blooming flowers. Actually, most of them are foliage plants. Only the poinsettias, begonias, impatiens and kalanchoes are blooming. Even so the ferns, spider plants and vines are a nice contrast to the frozen outdoors.

The other night we kept our grandchildren for several hours. The youngest is just starting to walk and he can really throw a ball. He imitates his big brother who likes our small plastic animals and metal toy barn. We've accumulated about 100 cows, horses, pigs, chickens, sheep and geese. Bradley likes the two goats and takes them on imaginary walks all over the table.

I've been rereading leters that my oldest daughter wrote to me in the 1960s when she was in college and training to be a nurse. She lived in Syracuse, N.Y. and worked in a hospital. She wrote every few days and told about the first operations that she attended. She was a sophomore in college and three years later was in charge of the Intensive Care Unit at night time in a Rochester hospital. Later she got her master's degree in Medical-Surgical nursing in Seattle, Washington and now is a nurse practitioner in New Jersey.

After reading all of those letters, I felt like phoning her. When I called, her son said that she was in Washington, D.C. as she is on a national committee who write tests for nurse practitioners. Our 14-year-old grandson David was making a chocolate mousse. When I questioned him about it, he said it was for a French class assignment.

Fron age eight, our own boys and girls always cooked and baked. I am glad to hear that our grandchildren are doing the same.

Amazing Shapes Family Workshops

CHADDS FORD (Chester Co.) — Families are invited to discover the "Amazing Shapes" that go into Amish quiltmaking on Saturday, March 4, at the Brandywine River Museum. They will explore with a guide the exhibition Amish Quilts from the Museum of American Folk Art. The workshop will be offered to families with young children (ages 3-5) from 10 to 11 a.m. and to families with older children (ages 5 and above) from 1 to 2:30 p.m.

Family members will search for shapes in Amish quilts during a gallery tour, and then create their own geometric paper quilt designs using a variety of art materials. A museum educator will lead the activity.

The workshops are free with regular museum admission. To register, contact the Education Office at (610) 388-8376.

The Brandywine River Museum is located on US Route 1 in Chadds Ford, Pennsylvania. The Museum is open daily, 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., except Christmas Day. Admission is $5 for adults; $2.50 for senior citizens and students; free for children under 6. Call 610-388-2700 for more information.

Gerhart Home Buzzes With Activity

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

MOUNTVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — The Gerhart home in Mountville buzzes with activity. It's the center for honey bee promotion and home for Brock, 6, and Drew, 3.

The energetic brothers are the sons of Dave and Becky Fisher Gerhart.

"Pap Fisher and Uncle Dyson have bees," Brock said.

Pap is Brock's grandfather. The boys like to watch their grandfather extract honey from the bee hive. But more than that, the boys like to eat honey. They like honey drizzled on ice cream and cereal. But their favorite way to eat ice cream is to stir it into a cup of warm milk.

Maybe it's honey that gives the boys lots of energy.

"I like to run," Brock said. "Every night I race with Drew all through the house."

The Gerharts live in 10 rooms of the 17-room house. They have fish, a dog Ginger and a cat Smidgen.

Brock is in kindergarten at Mountville Elementary School. Since November, Brock has been taking karate lessons.

"It's awesome. It's for self defense," he said as he demonstrated the different poses.

Although Drew is only three years old, he's good at imitating his older brother.

They like to play games like Guess Who, Connect Two, and Nintendo on the computer with their dad. Both boys enjoy playing with Super Heroes Spider Men.

The brothers also like to read. Their favorite book is one about dinosauers, which is required reading by their baby sitter, Jona Hoover.

Jona is not only their baby sitter but the Pennsylvania Honey Queen. She spends a lot of time with the Gerharts because the boys' mother is the coordinator for the Honey Bee Queen Program. Their mother was a former queen for the program, and continues to promote honey and bees for the industry. She believes everyone should use honey and her sons are learning to share her enthusiasm.

Brock is eager to take an observation hive to school. During Show and Tell, he plans to tell his classmates all about bees.

As baby sitter for Brock and Drew, Jona Hoover received an introduction to honey bee keeping and the uses of honey. Jona is now the Pennsylvania Honey Queen, but she still finds time to read the boys' favorite book about dinosauers.

Meat Producers Help Consumers Discover Nutrition

CHICAGO, Il. — New ways of helping consumers take charge of their nutrition habits will debut during National Nutrition Month® in March, thanks to an effort by the National Live Stock and Meat Board, The American Dietetic Association (ADA) and the Food Marketing Institute. The three organizations have joined forces to produce The Discover Nutrition Tool Kit, a guide for implementing nutrition education programs in supermarkets and restaurants.

The tool kit builds on the ADA's National Nutrition Month campaign, Discover Nutrition Anytime, Anywhere. It has been distributed to dietitians, supermarket consumer affairs professionals and state beef and pork councils for use as a program guide.

Among tool kit features are dozens of "idea starters," including a supermarket tour based on healthful eating. Kit users are shown how to promote the consumer tour and receive an aisle by aisle tour guide, as well as reproducible handouts such as the Food Guide Pyramid. Logos, ad copy, news releases and media alerts are also elements of the kit.

Also included in the tool kit are ways foodservice operations can help educate their patrons. The kit features the Discover Nutrition Lunch Club, with a Discover Nutrition Day that operators can promote. Lunch Club materials included in the kit are four quantity beef and pork recipes, a reproducible membership card and coupon, as well as sample promotional copy and appropriate logos.

Another tool kit feature is a section detailing education efforts at the supermarket meat counter, showing dietitians and others how to demonstrate the nutritional benefits of beef, veal, pork and lamb to consumers.

Artist And Farm Wife Debbie Cornman

BETH MILLER
Cumberland Correspondent

BOILING SPRINGS (Cumberland Co.) — If you went to the 1994 State Holstein Convention in Gettysburg, chances are you saw some of Debbie Cornman's work.

You really couldn't miss it because Debbie, who lives near Boiling Springs, designed the logo for the convention. That symbol consisted of a cow's head with some picket fences.

Debbie's work was so well received that she has been commissioned to do the logo for the 1995 National Holstein Convention scheduled for June 25 to 28 in Pittsburgh.

That logo will again feature a cow's head over an outline of the state of Pennsylvania, Debbie said. She said the whole thing will have the word "PRIDE" written across it.

Her work on the logos is really symbolic of her life as an artist and a farm wife. There also is a good deal of natural talent in the mix.

Debbie's art started in 1973 when she took calligraphy, which is a form of decorative writing. She learned how to do it on her own.

"Basically, I am self-taught," Debbie said.

In 1978, she began adding oil painting to her range of work and maintained her focus on doing portraits of animals.

She finally took her first painting lessons in 1980 when she and her husband, Steve, were living and farming near Fresno, Calif. It was during that time that Debbie was introduced to tole and decorative paintings, which she enthusiastically added to her list of skills.

Debbie, Steve, and their daughter, Becky, returned to work on Steve's family farm near Boiling Springs in 1981. A son Aaron was born later. Debbie began teaching art classes for local adult education programs and area craft shops.

Throughout all this, Debbie and her family have been very active in local farming and Cumberland County 4-H activities.

On their dairy farm, they manage 70 head of animals, with a mix of Milking Shorthorns, Jerseys, Brown Swiss, and Holsteins. They farm approximately 100 acres.

Becky, who is 13, and Aaron, who is 10, are members of the Cumberland County 4-H Dairy Calf Club and own several animals themselves. They show at several local fairs and also at the All-American Dairy Show and the State Farm Show.

Debbie is the organizational leader of the 4-H Flying Fingers Club in the county. The group is a multi-purpose club that can take on a variety of projects. She organized it five years ago.

Debbie also has been a Sunday School teacher for 10 years and has been a member of the Farm Women Group 23 for 11 years. She has been a president and vice president of that group, and is currently its corresponding secretary.

All those duties have not kept her away from her art, however.

She still teaches art classes during the spring, fall and winter sessions of the South Middleton Township Park and Recreation Department.

She taught decorative painting and calligraphy last year and started youth drawing classes. Debbie said she has a lot of repeat students who really enjoy the classes and want to keep improving on their painting skills.

Her calligraphy classes seem to be particularly popular since they draw many new students each session.

Not all of her artwork is tied to agriculture. She has taken her tole paintings to local craft shows and has a home calligraphy business doing documents like wedding certificates, graduation certificates, and birth announcements.

She gained some added notice in her community in 1993 when she did pen and ink drawings for sale during the well-attended Foundry Day festival held every year in Boiling Springs.

Debbie's time has become even more limited in recent months because she has returned to working full time off the farm.

That can put a crimp in her schedule at times, but Debbie said she will always find at least a few moments to do what she enjoys the most—drawing and paintings.

Tips For Better Soups And Casseroles

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LEBANON (Lebanon Co.) — With soup simmering on the stove, winter's chill doesn't seem as harsh. Intersperse those soup days with some easy-to-make casseroles.

In addition to delicious taste, the advantage of concocting your own soups and casseroles is that it's easy to adapt to using what you have on hand. Soups and casseroles are not like cakes and breads where every ingredient must be exactly measured or it flops.

Recently, a workshop on making hearty soups and casseroles was held at the Lebanon County Extension Center. Alletta Schadler, home economist and extension director, stirred up a bunch of different recipes for attendees to sample.

Time-saving techniques for making flavorful recipes was the focus of the workshop. Adapting and modifying recipes to cut fat but maintain flavor and nutrition was also explored.

Seasoned cooks know that the key to a rich full-bodied soup lies in the stock. The instructions to making the best chicken and beef stocks are included in this article. Make a large batch, divide and freeze in containers, and you have a head start whenever you want to use the stock for a soup base.

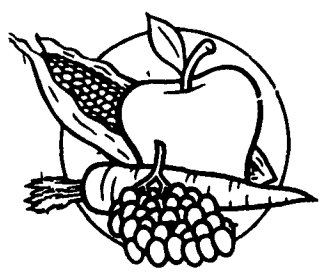
Make sure that you allow the broth to cool and remove the fat that forms at the top before using.

If you like cream soups, check out the recipe for Cream of Anything Soup. The recipe included in this article has a make-ahead-dry-mix that may be kept in a glass jar on the kitchen counter. When you are ready to make soup, the liquid ingredients, vegetables and meat can be combined with the dry mix to make a quick and delicious cream soup.

Pearl barley, wild rice, dried beans, and pasta add interesting flavor to soups and casseroles. Cumin is a flavoring that adds taste to soups and casseroles. Sprinkle parmesan cheese on top of dishes to add a punch of flavor without the fat.

Dried beans and lentils are hailed as excellent sources of protein without fat. They are being heavily advocated in diets of those who want to cut cholesterol and fat. Several recipes using both canned beans and the dried package version were given at the workshop. These will be printed in the upcoming issue of this paper in the "Home On The Range" section. If you want to learn about the complementary protein combinations needed to make a complete protein and varied ways to prepare dried beans and lentils, make sure you watch for the article.

Here are recipes for soups and casseroles prepared at the workshop. If you are hesitant to prepare new recipes, especially lower-fat ones, because the taste may be bland, you needed be concerned about these. These all received the endorsement for great taste from workshop attendees.



CREAM OF ANYTHING SOUP
Quick Mix

2 cups non-fat dry milk powder
¼ cup cornstarch or regular clear-jel
3 tablespoons instant granular chicken bouillon
2 tablespoons instant minced onion
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1¼ teaspoon dry herbs
¼ teaspoon ground pepper

Combine all ingredients in a dry one-quart container. Stir or shake to mix. Keep covered tightly and store at room temperature. (4 tablespoons of mix will thicken and flavor 1 cup water).

TO MAKE SOUP:

3 cups water
⅔ cup mix
1 to 2 cups cooked vegetables
2 to 3 slices processed cheese, optional

Blend water and mix together. Bring to a boil, stirring occasionally. Add cooked vegetables. Pour into blender container. Blend to texture desired. You may want to blend this in two batches. Return to saucepan, add cheese if desired, and heat to serving temperature. Add meat or fish cubes, if desired.

This recipe makes enough mix to prepare about 12 cups cream soup. You can vary the flavor of granular bouillon used and change the herb seasoning used. Suggested blends might be McCormick Salad Herbs, thyme, marjoram, parsley, or rosemary.

You can add one or several combinations of cooked vegetables. Suggested vegetables are broccoli, cauliflower, carrots, asparagus, watercress, peas, celery, or mushrooms. Meat or tuna may be added before or after blending.

As prepared, this is a low-fat recipe. To make it richer, add several slices processed cheese to the batch after it is thickened. This adds calcium, calories, and salt.

If you are on a sodium restricted diet, use 5 to 6 envelopes low sodium bouillon powder in place of 3 tablespoons regular granulated bouillon.

Note: This same mixture may be used to make a sauce for vegetables Combine:

1¾ cups water
⅔ cup mix
2 tablespoons butter

LES HALLES FRENCH ONION SOUP

6 cups brown beef stock
6 large yellow onions, sliced thinly
2 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon oil
½ cup port wine
½ cup diced Gruyere or Colby cheese cup shredded Parmesan or Romano and Gruyere or Colby
6 slices buttered toasted French bread ½ -inch thick
1 tablespoon butter, melted

Saute onions in butter and oil until limp. Cover and simmer for 15 minutes. Pour in beef stock and simmer 30 minutes. Taste, season if necessary. Add port wine and simmer 30 minutes longer.

Add diced cheese to hot soup. Ladle into individual bowls if preferred. Top casserole or bowls with toasted bread, sprinkle with cheese, drizzle with butter. Place in 425 degree oven for 10 minutes, turn on broiler and heat until browned. Serve at once.

Alletta Schadler, Lebanon County extension director, demonstrates making hearty soups and casseroles at a recent workshop held at the extension center.

CHICKEN STOCK

5 pounds chicken pieces
4 quarts water
2 onions, peeled, quartered
4 stalks celery with tops, cut into 2-inch pieces
4 carrots, scraped and cut into 2-inch pieces
1 large bay leaf
6 sprigs fresh parsley
1 tablespoon fresh thyme
6 springs fresh dill
½ teaspoon black peppercorns

Combine chicken and water in a large stockpot; bring to a boil, skimming the surface to remove excess fat and foam.

Add onions and remaining ingredients. Return to a boil; reduce heat, and simmer, uncovered, 2 hours, skimming surface, if necessary. Cool.

Line a large wire-mesh strainer with a double layer of cheesecloth; place in large bowl. Pour stock through strainer; reserve chicken for other uses, and discard remaining solids. Cool slightly.

Cover and refrigerate stock. Remove and discard solidified fat from top of stock. Refrigerate upt to 2 days or freeze up to one month. Yield: 2 quarts.

BEEF STOCK

5 pounds beef or veal bones
2 large carrots, quartered
2 large onions, quartered
4 stalks celery, quartered
4 quarts water, divided
3 tablespoons tomato paste
6 to 8 sprigs fresh parsley.
3 to 4 sprigs fresh thyme
4 whole cloves
½ teaspoon black peppercorns
1 bay leaf
2 cloves garlic, crushed

Place bones, carrots, onions, and celery into a large roasting pan; bake at 500 degrees for 1 hour, turning occasionally.

Transfer mixture to a large stockpot; discard drippings into roasting pan. Set aside.

Add 1 quart water to roasting pan; bring to a boil over medium high heat, stirring to loosen pieces. Pour into stockpot; add 3 quarts water and remaining ingredients. Bring to a boil; reduce heat, cover, and simmer 2 hours.

Line a large wire-mesh strainer with a double layer of cheesecloth; place in a large bowl. Pour stock through strainer, discarding solids. Cool slightly.

Cover and refrigerate; remove and discard solidified fat from top of stock. Refrigerate up to 2 days or freeze up to one month.

You ask You answer

This column is for readers who have questions but don't know whom to ask for answers.

"You Ask—You Answer" is for non-cooking questions. When a reader sends in a question, it will be printed in the paper. Readers who know the answer are asked to respond by mailing the answer, which will then be printed in the paper.

Questions and Answers to this column should be addressed to You Ask—You Answer, Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. Attention: Lou Ann Good.

There's no need to send a SASE. If we receive an answer to your question, we will publish it as soon as possible.

QUESTION — Blanche Hertzler, Mt. Wolf, would like to purchase some old readers used in public school in the 1930s. ANSWER — Vonnie Davis, Manchester, wanted to know how to make pine cone fireplace starts that burn in different colors. Thanks to a reader for sending the following instructions.

Colorful Burning Pinecones

1½ gallons hot water
3 plastic or ceramic containers, one for each color
½ pound copper sulfate (for green flame)
½ pound boric acid (for crimson flame)
½ pound calcium chloride (for yellow or yellow-orange flame)
Pinecones

Pour ½ gallon hot water into each container. Add one chemical to each container of hot water.

Stir until chemicals are dissolved.

Add pinecones and soak overnight.

Allow pinecones to dry thoroughly in warm dry air for two days.

Add cones to fire two or three at a time. The colorful flames will last only a short time.

Warning: Keep this solution out of the reach of small children and pets. The chemicals may be toxic.

ANSWER — Evelyn Michaels, Beaver, wanted to know where to find Ole Oid, a type of linament made in the 1930s. Thanks to Blanche Hertzler, Mt. Wolf, who writes that she does not have the answer but her grandma Hursh made a liniment that is very good. Here is the recipe: 1 pint rubbin alcohot, 1 cake of camphor, and 2 tablespoons turpentine. Oil of clove and sassafras may be added.

Milk Too Warm?

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — The number one reason children say they don't drink milk at school is because it's not cold enough. To maintain and increase sales in schools in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, the American Dairy Association and Dairy Council, Inc. (ADADC) has launched an extensive milk temperature study.

The ideal temperature for milk storage is 32 to 40 degrees F. For every five degree rise in milk's temperature, there is a 50 percent decrease in shelf life and a substantial loss in flavor. Children can taste the difference!

The purpose of ADADC's study is to identify temperature problems in schools and correct them. To do so, food service directors from the three states will monitor the temperature of milk and refrigerated units in their schools. Milk temperatures will be recorded at the time of delivery, at the beginning of each lunch period, and at the end of lunch.

A survey conducted in Pennsylvania schools in 1990 revealed that 54 percent of students reported that the milk served in school was frequently warmer and did not taste as good as milk served at home. According to Margaret Pettingell, ADADC director of nutrition services, "If children are consistently served warm milk at school, not only will they stop buying it, they will also begin to form a negative opinion about milk's taste."

ADADC's milk temperature study will educate school food service staff about proper handling and storage of milk, and in turn increase school milk sales and children's desire for milk.

Watercolor Painting Class

HERSHEY (Dauphin Co.) — The Hershey Museum is offering a watercolor painting class which will be held on Thursdays, March 9 through April 27 from 10 a.m. - noon. Robert Nisley, a well-known local watercolor artist, will instruct participants in a variety of watercolor techniques. The class is appropriate for painters on a variety of levels from novices to those with a moderate degree of experience. The sessions are structured so that participants can progress at their own rates. Registration for the class is necessary and there is a class fee of $35 for the eight sessions. Registration deadline is March 6. For complete information, please call (717) 534-3439.

Farm Women Societies

Lancaster Society 20

Lancaster Farm Women Society #20 met with Velaria Ferguson and Jane Ferguson at the Union Presbyterian Church on Thursday, February 2. It was an all-day meeting with a covered dish lunch, and 306 bed pads were sewed. There were 20 members present and those who did not wear something red were fined 25¢.

Valeria read the scripture from the Book of Isaiah and had the reading "Love is the gift of God." The Lord's Prayer was prayed in unison and the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag was repeated.

Nancy Axe, president, presided at the business meeting. Nancy, Marie Foose and Anna Mary Groff were the delegates to the State Convention and the report was given by Marie. The Sunshine report was one bouquet and six cards sent. The meeting closed by singing "Brighten the Corner" and the March meeting will be at the home of Vera Herr with Jean Ressel as co-hostess.

Berks Society 3

Group 3 of the Berks County Society of Farm Women held its January meeting at the home of Mary Hill, East Fourth Street, Boyertown. Nine members were in attendance. Vice president Regina Moyer conducted the meeting. Reports were given on the state convention and the county board meeting. Members will assist with bingo at Berks Heim on April 6. The 30th Annual Spring Rally of the Society of Farm Women will be held at Dickinson College in Carlisle on May 23.

A review of the society's by-laws, noting the recent changes, concluded the meeting.

Highlight of the February meeting will be a "proud auction" at the home of Sonya Moyer, Koch Road, Boyertown. Each member is asked to bring something wrapped in red weighing one pound.

Lancaster Society 8

Society of Farm Women No. 8 met on February 8 at the Trinity Lutheran Church in Mount Joy. Arlene Witman gave devotions. The hostesses for the meeting were Shirley Trimmer, Arlene Witman, and Helen Wivell. Slides were shown on "Safety Around The Home and Farm." A representative from P. P. & L. also showed slides and spoke of 'Energy in the 90s." The program had many interesting points of information and new technical knowledge. The March 8 meeting will be at the home of Mary Anne Spangler in Marietta.

You Ask, You Answer

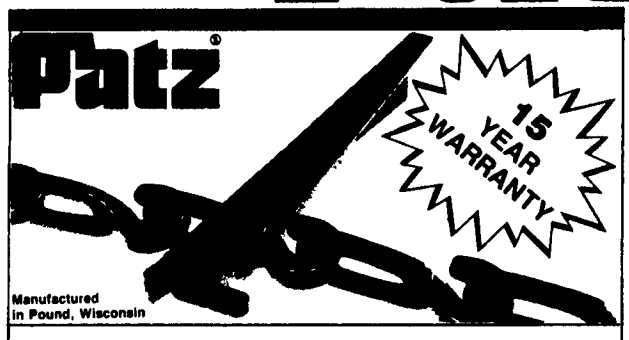
ANSWER — Nancy E. Cummings wanted to know how to store sweet potatoes so they do not wither. Thanks to Rachel Fisher, a Quarryville reader, for sending instructions.

Harvest sweet potatoes before the soil temperature reaches 55 degrees. Try to harvest on a mild day the week of the first frost.

Be gentle with the potatoes so that the skin is not broken by the spading fork. Don't toss the potatoes. Lay them in the garden for 30 minutes in the sun. Wrap in newspaper and store in a warm place 85 to 95 degrees for one week, then at room temperature for one week, then in a cooler place for the winter. I put mine in the basement, which is about 55 to 60 degrees. Use a cardboard box, not plastic, to store the sweet potatoes. Since I use this method, I can use sweet potatoes out of my garden all winter.

ANSWER — Roland Kamoda, Monongahela, wanted to know how to pluck a duck or goose and dress it. And, how to tell the difference between a young duck and a goose. Thanks to an anonymous reader for writng that she dressed hundreds of ducks and lots of geese. She writes that ducklings are short and yellow and have black eyes. They make ducky noises when fed. Baby geese have longer necks and talk. They fuss when a person comes near them. To pluck the feathers, the goose or duck must be dead. Dip body in very hot but not boiling water with baking soda added. If the water is too hot, the skin will scald and come off. It it's too cold, you can't pull out the feathers. she often took a stick and brushed the feathers backwards to let water underneath the feathers.

Patz®



Here is something often overlooked...

Only Patz gives you 45 years of experience with hook-and-eye chain, resulting in a chain so good that others are attempting to copy it.

Many Patz Gutter Cleaner chains are still working well after more than 30 years of use

After the Patz patent on hook-and-eye chain expired, some other companies have attempted to copy the Patz chain Some promote 10- and 12-year warranties on chain—but they have not yet had 10 or 12 years of experience with hook-and-eye chain

Patz has continued to improve its chain for 45 years with special-formula steel, special forging techniques and special steel hardening processes

Rely on the proven, long-life chain. Patz provides a 15-year chain warranty because so many chains are working well long after 15 years of use

Better yet, your Patz chain warranty is backed up by a solid, reliable company that has been serving farmers for 45 years with the same family ownership

Insist on Patz chain!

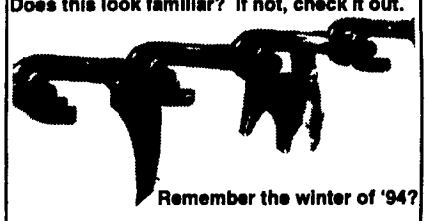
Affordable Financing from Patz Financial Services

Does this look familiar? If not, check it out.



Remember the winter of '94?

Frozen silage? No problem!

For frozen silage and hard-packed haylage, the Patz cutter-and-claw gathering chain outperforms augers. This time-proven chain with its chain-saw cutting action cuts out frozen silage aggressively. Shouldn't your next unloader have a gathering chain?

The Model RD-820 Silo Unloader features:

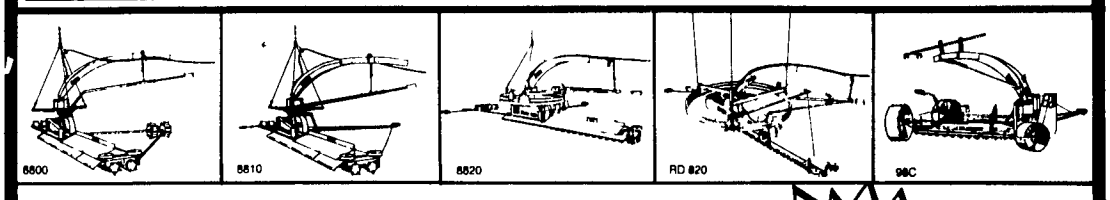
RING-DRIVE: With the roller-chain ring drive, only one motor powers the machine.

AUTOMATIC LOWERING OPTION: A winch lowers the RD-820 automatically after each complete revolution

POWER CUTTER: Spring tension keeps high-speed, self-sharpening blades tight to the silo wall to shave it clean.

TORQUE LIMITER: Ratchet-pin design protects the ring and drive system while working through tough conditions.

Affordable financing directly from Patz.



The full unloader line....

Outstanding Farm Bureau Women's Program Chosen

KAREN BUTLER
Maryland Correspondent

OCEAN CITY, Md. — Frederick County Farm Bureau Women's Committee was named the Outstanding Farm Bureau Women's Program for the State in 1994 recently at the 79th Annual Maryland Farm Bureau Convention. Shirley Zimmerman Chair of the Women's Committee, accepted the award at the Convention held in Ocean City in December. Frederick County Farm Bureau received the prestigious Outstanding County Farm Bureau Trophy, awarded to a County that has achieved program excellence in eight areas. The Women's Committee is one of those eight areas.

Gold Star Awards were presented to Frederick County Farm Bureau in the areas of Membership, Public Affairs, National Affairs, Information, Women's Committee, Young Farmers, Discussion Group, and Service to Member. Eight other counties also received eight Gold Stars and were in the running for the top honor.

Membership in Frederick County Farm Bureau exceeds 1,200, according to Don Easterday, Frederick County Farm Bureau secretary. Maryland Farm Bureau has more than 14,000 members. While Frederick is the state's largest dairy county, "all commodities in Frederick County are well represented, including dairy, sheep, pork, and the orchards," according to Shirley Zimmerman.

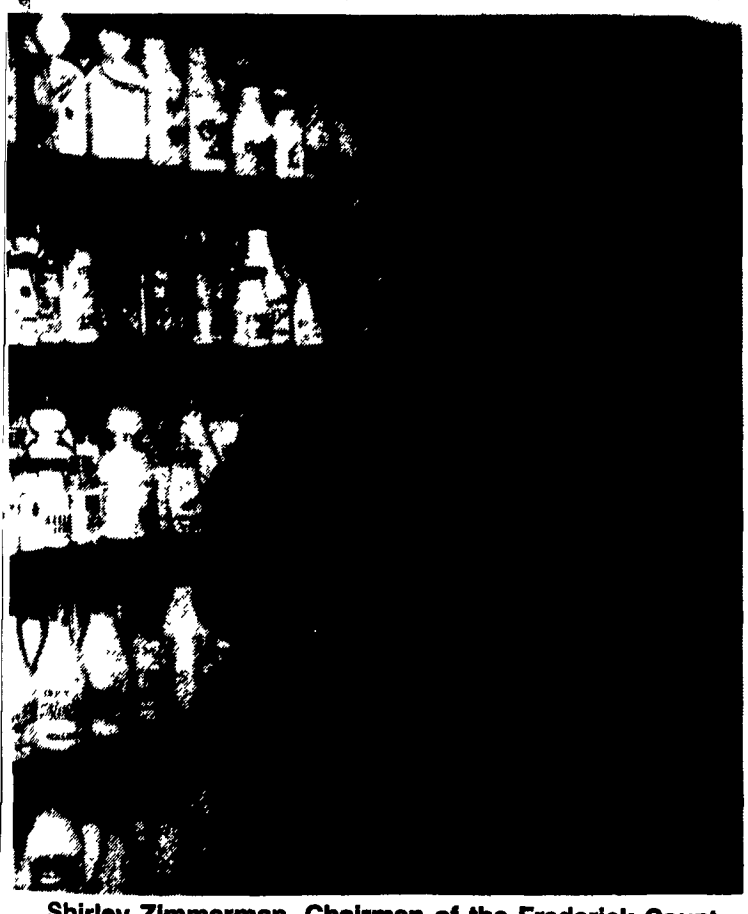
In addition to Mrs. Zimmerman as chairperson, other officers of the County Women's Committee include vice-chair, Louise Stup; recording secretary and corresponding secretary, Lisa Gaver; and treasurer, Louise Ediger. Mrs Marianne Browning is the chaplain and historian, and Peggy Garst serves as women's information director. There are five districts in Frederick County, and three members from each district are directors, appointed for three year terms.

1994 was a busy year for the Women's Committee as they helped promote and activate the entire Farm Bureau program throughout the county. A legislative day held in conjunction with Pomona Grange, Women's Day in Annapolis to meet with county delegates, Ag Week at the mall, and the Farm Queen contest were all annual events the ladies participated in. The women were also active in the state sponsored Ag in the Classroom workshop for teachers. They would like to establish a similar program at the county level.

A number of exceptional new outreach programs were also implemented by the group during the year. A farm tour seminar, sponsored in conjunction with Maryland Farm Bureau, titled "Beyond the Hayride" brought approximately 65 participants from throughout the state to the 4-H Camp Center to explore new ideas for on-farm tours for the public. The first Farm Safety Camp for Kids was another program the ladies helped sponsor.

Jane Smith, chairperson of the Farm Bureau Safety Committee, organized the event, which brought approximately 60 youth to the camp for talks on subjects ranging from equipment safety to sun protection. It was also the first year that the Frederick County Farm Bureau had an information booth at the Great Frederick Fair. It was successful, and Mrs. Zimmerman said the ladies were "looking forward to going back" next year.

Other highlights of the Women's activities throughout the year include sharing their enthusiasm with a display booth with the theme "Partners in Progress" at the Extension Office's Farm City Day, participation in the fundraising efforts of the "Halfacre Club" to acquire more land for the 4-H Camp Center, and volunteering their time at the Farm Museum at Rose Hill Manor. The Women also donated $500 to the Christmas Cash for Kids program, which helps needy children. Members also sold food at the weekly hay sale sponsored by Frederick County Farm Bureau.



Shirley Zimmerman, Chairman of the Frederick County Farm Bureau Women's Committee, holds plaque the group was honored with.

Stuffed Chicken Breasts

4 medium sized chicken breasts, boneless
4 slices Monterey Jack cheese
Seasoned salt
Paprika

Filling:

½ cup butter
½ cup chopped onions
2 cups soft bread cubes
1 teaspoon oregano
1 teaspoon dry mustard
2 teaspoons parsley

Sauce:

1 can cream of mushroom soup
1 can water

Mix together. Sprinkle seasoned salt inside breast. Place a slice of cheese on each breast and top with filling.

Fold sides of breast over center, tuck in edges, secure with toothpicks to keep filling inside. Place in a casserole dish. Pour sauce over breasts. Sprinkle with paprika. Bake at 375 degrees for about one hour or until done.

ANSWER — Gladys Lillya, Salem, N.J., wanted a recipe for breakfast casserole made with potatoes, eggs, and sausage. Thanks to Diane Strickhouser, Taneytown, Md., and a Reinholds reader for sending recipes.

Meat-Potato Quiche

Preheat oven to 425 degrees. In 9-inch pan, stir together:

3 tablespoons vegetable oil
3 cups coarsely shredded raw potatoes

Press evenly into pie crust shape. Bake at 425 degrees for 15 minutes until just beginning to brown. Remove from oven.

Layer on:

1 cup grated Swiss or cheddar cheese
¾ cup cooked diced chicken, ham or browned sausage
¼ cup chopped onion

In a bowl, beat together:

1 cup evaporated milk
2 eggs
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Pour egg mixture into other ingredients. Sprinkle with:

1 tablespoon parsley flakes

Return to oven and bake at 425 degrees about 30 minutes or until lightly browned and knife inserted one-inch from edge comes out clean.

Allow to cool 5 minutes before cutting in wedges.

Breakfast Casserole

2 tablespoons butter
6 medium potatoes, grated
Salt and pepper
½ cup onion
½ cup green pepper
1 pound sausage meat
3 eggs
⅓ cup milk
Grated cheese

Melt butter in bottom of 9x12-inch baking dish. Arrange potatoes on bottom. Add meat, onions, and peppers. Season. Beat eggs, add milk and pour over top with cheese. Bake at 350 degrees for at least 45 minutes until potatoes are tender. Can also be done on stovetop in a non-stick pan. Hashbrowns may be substituted for potatoes and ham instead of sausage.

ANSWER — Karen Martin, Berks Co., wanted a recipe for Yorkshire pudding. Thanks to Shirley Womet, Middleburg and others for sending recipes.

Yorkshire Pudding With Roast Beef

1 cup all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
2 eggs

Mix all ingredients with hand beater until smooth. Thirty minutes before beef roast is finished, prepare pudding batter. Heat a 9x9x2-inch pan in oven for 5 minutes. Remove enough beef drippings to measure ½ cup. Add melted shortening if needed.

Increase temperature to 425 degrees. Place hot drippings in heated square pan, pour in Yorkshire pudding batter. Bake 35-40 minutes. Cut into squares. Serve with roast and gravy.

This pudding puffs high during baking then collapses in center, leaving high crispy edges.

ANSWER — N.Martin, Bowmansville, wanted recipes using Clear Jel? Thanks to Lois Petre, Boonsboro, Md., A. Fetherolf, Hamburg, and others for sending recipes. Also, check the Home on the Range section on page B6. A. Fetherolf writes to use in pie, combine 3 tablespoons instant Clear Jell with ½ cup sugar. Add 1 cup water or fruit juice. Combine with enough fruit for one pie. Add more sugar, if necessary. May be used like this or baked in a shell.

Kool-Aid Thickened Fruit

4 cups water
1½ cups sugar
8 tablespoons instant Clear Jell
1 small package Kool-Aid

Put ingredients in blender and process. Add 2 quarts fruit and chill. The flavor of Kool-Aid and the kind of fruit used may vary. We enjoy cherry Kool-Aid with fresh or frozen strawberries or orange Kool-Aid with raw apples or canned peaches, pears, and cherries. Fruit juice may be used in place of the water, but then the sugar must be reduced to approximately ½ cup.

The instant Clear Jel does not have as clear a look to it as the Clear Jel that requires cooking, but this is the simplest for busy farm wives.

ANSWER — Robin O'Brien, Reading, wanted a recipe for a hard candy with nuts called Mooshie. Thanks to Linda Boyer, Narvon, for sending one.

Mooshie

Mix together:

1 cup molasses
½ cup sugar
1 tablespoon butter

Boil until mixture tests brittle (270 degrees). Pour into buttered pan and sprinkle with nuts. Chill until cold and it breaks apart.

Pour the mixture into a bowl and cover. Place inside a larger bowl that contains ice and water. Set in freezer to cool for about 45 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Combine the heavy cream, vanilla, and orange extract in a small bowl; whip until stiff peaks form. Fold into the cooled orange juice mixture and add the food colorings to make an orange color, if desired. Freeze the mixture in an ice cream maker according to the manufacturer's directions. When ice cream is frozen, transfer it to a bowl. Cover and freeze overnight. Let the ice cream soften in the refrigerator for about 30 minutes before serving.

Stuffed Cabbage Rolls

1 medium-size head cabbage
32-ounce jar spaghetti sauce
1 pound ground beef
3 cups cooked white rice
1 envelope dry onion-mushroom soup mix
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Remove core from cabbage, then remove the 20 largest leaves. Bring water to a boil in a large saucepan; add the cabbage leaves and cook for 3 minutes or until tender. Drain and set aside.

Pour the spaghetti sauce into a 13x9x2-inch baking dish and set aside. Brown the ground beef in a medium-sized skillet; drain off and discard the excess fat. Combine the ground beef, rice, soup mix, salt and pepper. Place 3 tablespoons of the beef mixture at one end of each cabbage leaf. Tuck the sides of the leaf over the filling and roll up. Secure the rolls with wooden toothpicks. Place the stuffed cabbage rolls in the prepared dish. Cover and bake for one hour. Remove the toothpicks before serving.

Scrambled Cabbage

3 tablespoons vegetable oil or bacon drippings
1 clove garlic, very finely chopped
3 cups finely shredded green cabbage
2 medium-sized tomatoes, peeled and cut into cubes
1 medium-sized onion, thinly sliced
1 cup thinly sliced celery
1 cup frozen corn
½ cup chopped green pepper
1 teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon dill weed, optional
¼ teaspoon black pepper

Heat the oil in a large skillet over medium heat. Add the garlic and cook one minute. Stir in the cabbage, tomatoes, onion, celery, corn, and green pepper. Sprinkle with the seasonings. Cover and cook 5 to 8 minutes or until vegetables are crisp-tender, stirring once or twice during cooking.

Sausage And Cabbage

1 pound pork sausages
1 large cabbage, quartered
Boiling water
3 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 cups milk
1½ cups soft bread crumbs
3 tablespoons butter, melted

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Grease a glass baking dish. Put sausages in heavy skillet and add a little boiling water. Simmer until water evaporates, then fry sausages until well browned and cooked through. Cut each sausage in 3 pieces.

Put cabbage in a single layer in a large saucepan while sausages are cooking. Add enough boiling water to about half cover cabbage pieces. Cover pan and cook gently just until tender, about 20 minutes. Lift out cabbage pieces and chop the cabbage coarsely. Put a layer of cabbage in the prepared baking dish, top with the sausage pieces and the remaining cabbage.

Melt 3 tablespoons butter in saucepan. Sprinkle in flour, salt and pepper and let bubble. Remove from heat and add milk all at once. Stir to blend and return to moderate heat and cook until boiling, thickened and smooth, stirring constantly.

Pour over cabbage-sausage mixture slowly so it runs all through the meat and vegetable. Combine bread crumbs and 3 tablespoons melted butter. Sprinkle over top. Bake 30 minutes or until crumbs are brown and sauce is bubbling well. Serve immediately.

Beef And Cabbage Turnovers

3 tablespoons butter
¾ cup finely chopped onion
1½ pound lean ground beef
4 cups grated cabbage
¾ cup grated raw carrot
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon mace
¼ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
2 tablespoons water
Pastry dough
1 egg yolk
1 tablespoon water

Heat butter in large saucepan. Add onion and cook gently until tender, about 5 minutes. Add meat and cook and stir until all redness disappears. Add cabbage, carrot, salt, pepper, mace, Worcestershire sauce, and water. Cover and simmer 15 minutes. Uncover and continue cooking until all excess liquid cooks away. Meat should be moist but not wet. Cool.

Heat oven to 425 degrees.

Roll pastry very thin into oblongs or squares, cut into 6-inch squares. Make 18 squares.

Lay the pastry squares on the counter, top each one with ¼ cup meat mixture. Moisten 2 adjacent edges of the squares with water and fold pastry over to form a triangle, pressing together along edges with the tines of a fork to seal. Prick tops of turnovers in a few places with the tines of a fork. Put on large cookie sheets. Beat egg yolk and water together and brush over tops of turnovers. Bake 25 to 30 minutes until well browned. Serve hot.

Dutch Style Beef And Cabbage

1½ pounds beef round steak
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
3 cups sliced onions
¾ cup hot water
1 tablespoon vinegar
2 teaspoons instant beef bouillon
1 small head cabbage

Cut meat into cubes. Combine flour, salt and pepper. Toss meat cubes in flour mixture to coat. Fry quickly in vegetable oil in hot skillet, browning all sides. Drain fat. Put meat in crockpot, add onions. In skillet, combine water vinegar, and bouillon. Stir together, over low heat, scraping browned bits from skillet. Pour into crockpot. Cover and cook on low heat setting for 8 hours. About 15 minutes before serving, cut cabbage into 4 or 5 wedges. Cook in large amount of salted water to cover for 10 to 12 minutes or until tender. Drain. Serve beef mixture over hot cabbage wedges.

A powerful - high producing herd of cows that will suit anybody. Top AI sires used throughout herd
Your inspection and attendance is appreciated. No Sunday visits please.

Due to the continual increase of our herd through the raising of our heifer calves we will be selling all cows and all of the heifers due to freshen before August.
This auction will give the owners an opportunity to visit some church missions throughout the country. They plan to start milking again in the fall. Over 100 heifers & cows have been sold from this herd in past years and have performed well for their new owners.

Auction in heated building - good food available - toilet facilities. Out-of-state buyers need bank letter of credit addressed to this auction.

Firestone The Leader in The Field

Super All Traction 23°

R-1

- New top-of-line bias-ply tractor rear, featuring our long bar/long bar design for tread stability, and heavy bar bracing to extend tread life.
- Long wearing and smooth riding, due to the more uniform, flatter contour of the long bar/long bar design.
- Proven 23° bar angle for traction and open center for self-cleaning.
- Bead and rim protector shields the rim to help keep stubble and soil from getting between the bead and rim flange.

Progress, Potential Of Checkoff Programs Is Feeder Topic

CHICAGO, Ill. — Lamb checkoff programs were top-of-mind at the National Lamb Feeders Association annual meeting Jan. 19-21 in Albuquerque.

The sheep industry's only voluntary checkoff program, developed and managed for the industry by the National Live Stock and Meat Board, appears to have made significant progress during the past year.

Price is a high concern and is a barrier to achieving consumer purchases and demand, said the Meat Board's H. Ken Johnson, who spearheads the lamb program there. "We're in a situation where retailers can't determine the value of lamb. Several checkoff programs are addressing this aggressively," he said. Specifically:

• Revisions to the Uniform Retail Meat Identity Standards, which assigns a uniform name to each lamb cut. "We can't track what is actually sold unless we call the same cut the same thing from store to store," said Johnson. These revised standards will be released this spring by the Meat Board, incorporating UPC bar codes as well.

• CARDS (Computer Assisted Retail Decision Support) computer software has been completed for lamb and is ready to market to retailers and packers. This state-of-the-art program puts dollas and cents to lamb value by combining product yield with labor costs.

• The Meat Marketing and Technology Center will open for classes in 1995. The curriculum and consulting aspects will be managed by the Meat Board, with classes held at the prestigious University of Chicago School of Business. Top level retail executives will learn about how to make their meat departments as technologically advanced and with the same profit potential as the rest of the store. "This brings our Value Based Meat Marketing effort full circle," said Johnson. "It takes the meat marketing systems developed with checkoff dollars and puts them into action at progressive, high-volume supermarkets."

Information programs targeted at consumer influences such as educators and nutrition experts saw substantial success during 1994, and will be even more important for the lamb industry in 1995, said the Meat Board's Johnson. "These influencers carry such a high degree of credibility with the consumer that they must be part of lamb's marketing program," he said.

Johnson called specific attention to youth education programs, whose distribution increased seven-fold between 1992 and 1994. "The meat industry has gone from distributing 50,000 school kits in 1992 to 350,000 this past year. And we've become more sophisticated with how we get lamb's message to the consumer," said Johnson.

Agricultural Industry Leaders Welcome FFA Officers

ALEXANDRIA, Va. — The 1995 national FFA officers will visit with agricultural business leaders across the country during a series of upcoming business and industry visits.

The six officers, accompanied by representatives of the National FFA Foundation, will travel Feb. 27 through March 10 in Arkansas, Georgia, Illinois, Iowa, Michigan, Missouri Nebraska, New Jersey, Ohio, Texas and Wisconsin.

"These tours make it possible to introduce the agribusiness leaders of the future to those who are at the helm today," said Dr. Larry Case, national FFA adviser and coordinator of agricultural and rural education, U.S. Department of Education. "The officers learn firsthand the latest developments in agribusiness. At the same time, industry leaders get an update on how agricultural education and FFA are changing to involve more and more young people in the agricultural industry."

The group will begin its tour in Kansas City, Mo., by meeting with H. D. Cleberg, president and chief executive officer of Farmland Industries, Inc. Cleberg serves as the 1995 chairman of the national FFA Foundation Sponsors' Board.

After meeting with Cleberg, the FFA representatives will divide into three teams to visit a variety of businesses and learn more about the industry of agriculture and the economic factors affecting it.

Corey D. Flourney, national FFA president from Chicago, Ill., said, "The National FFA Organization receives strong support from all sponsors each year. They make important suggestions to our leaders in order to plan for the future needs of the industry. We are grateful for the efforts of industry leaders such as Mr. Cleberg who invest generously of their time and talent on behalf of the FFA."

Along with Flournoy, the tour will include Travis Hagen, national secretary from Chico, Calif.; Trisha Bailey, southern region vice president from Dover, Fla.; Jennafer Neufeld, central region vice president from Inman, Kan.; Greg Vetter, western region vice president from Carpenter, Wyo., and Lee Schroeder, eastern region vice president from Leipsic, Ohio.

The U.S. tour follows the national officer team's return from a two-week visit to Japan sponsored by Mitsui & Co. (USA), Inc., as a special project of the National FFA Foundation, Inc. The tour to Japan provides the officers with a better understanding of international trade relations and its importance to American agriculture.

A column to update hog producers on the Pennsylvania Pseudorabies Eradication Program.

NATIONAL PSEUDORABIES ERADICATION PROGRAM PROGRESS IN PENNSYLVANIA

Dr. Max Van Buskirk, Jr.
Director
Bureau Of Animal Industry
Pennsylvania
Department Of Agriculture

Pennsylvania swine producers are poised to advance from Stage II (control) to Stage III (cleanup) in the national pseudorabies (PRV) eradication program.

Qualification of a state for Stage III status requires that no more than 1 percent of swine herds are infected, that random surveillance monitors at least 10 percent of the state breeding swine population annually, that transportation of swine is regulated to control the movement of infected or exposed swine, that infected swine are quarantined, and that the department is implementing mandatory herd cleanup procedures.

The number of herds quarantined because of PRV was reduced during 1994 to 74 herds from a high of 118 herds last January. Prevention of spread and reduction of pseudorabies virus appears to have been the result of intensive vaccine use in high PRV risk areas and rigorous culling of infected breeding animals by owners of infected herds.

Pseudorabies Stage III status is important to Pennsylvania swine producers because interstate commerce involving Pennsylvania swine is facilitated. As other states progress to Stage III and higher, they restrict swine movements from states of lesser PRV eradication status.

Eradication of PRV from the United States will ultimately result in free movement of swine with minimal regulatory constraints and reduced PRV associated production costs. The Pennsylvania PRV Eradication Committee has set 1998 as the goal for Free State Status. Attainment of this goal will necessitate advancement to Stage III by July 1995, elimination of pseudorabies virus from Pennsylvania swine within two years, and keeping swine free of PRV for at least one year thereafter.

Stage III is the period of pseudorabies control effort most critical to the eradication program s ultimate success. It is essential that all infected and all exposed swine herds in the state are identified and that they all move in step towarfl elimination of the virus. The department will be monitoring within the next six months every swine herd in high risk areas and areas surrounding infected herds that have not been tested within 10 to 12 months. Owners of infected herds will be obligated by (pending) regulations to adopt plans for rapid elimination of the virus. Vaccination of PRV exposed swine will continue to be important until the last infected animal is gone.

Statewide surveillance of swine breeding herds to meet Stage III PRV prevalence requirements includes reliable identification of sows and boars to permit crediting negative as well as positive test results to the farm of origin. Similarly, reliable identification of feeder pigs is necessary to assure that exposed swine remain within permitted channels and that adequate biosecurity is maintained. Records must be kept of swine movements, and PRV test positive animals in transit must be traceable to their origin. Swine movements must meet intrastate and interstate transportation regulations.

Stage I and Stage II of the national program have been largely accomplished by individual effort of swine owners. Stage III will require an industrywide commitment to preventive measures — owners, tenants, integrators, transportation agents, marketing agents, slaughter establishments, servicemen and animal health providers will need to work together to eliminate PRV and prevent new introductions.

Industry commitment for PRV eradication program advancement is a major Stage III (Program) requirement. Questions or concerns regarding advancement of the PRV eradication program should be directed to the department at (717) 783-6677.

Beef Expo Junior Events Planned

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The sixth annual Pennsylvania Beef Expo is scheduled for Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, March 10-12 at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg.

As in previous Beef Expos, a wide variety of activities for juniors, including heifer and steer shows, will be offered. This year, in response to requests by the junior cattlemen after the 1994 Expo, junior show cattle will be received at the Farm Show Complex after 4 p.m. on Thursday, March 9.

The junior heifer and steer shows will begin at 8 a.m. on Sunday, March 12. Special junior activities will be held on Friday and Saturday, March 10 and 11. New activities tentatively scheduled include a safety clinic and demonstration, cattle behavior and handling exhibits, and cattle roping demonstrations. Back by popular demand will be the cattle obstacle course and the Beef Skillathon. The obstacle course consists of juniors leading their cattle through various obstacles such as water or railroad ties, fitting chutes, and loading/unloading in a cattle trailer.

The Beef Skillathon is also a competitive event where individual junior cattlemen or clubs test their knowledge about beef skills and management practices. According to Ray Grimes, Beef Expo Committee co-chairman and past president of the Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Association, "We are further expanding the scope of the Expo junior activities. These activities are not only fun and educational for the juniors, they are quite entertaining and informative for anyone involved with animal agriculture."

There will be a Cattlemen's Trade Show on Friday and Saturday. More than 45 exhibitors of cattle equipment, supplies, and services are expected. Cattle sales are planned for Saturday, March 11, with additional breed sales still possible.

The annual Expo reception will be at 4:30 p.m. on Friday. A beef judging contest will be held at 8 a.m. on Saturday, March 11, for juniors and junior clubs.

A special feature this year will be the Saturday night barn dance and party. Information on junior activities is available from Sue Clair, 568 Rock Road, State College, PA 16801, (814) 238-1233. General information is available from Glenn Eberly at the Expo office, located at 651 Fox Hollow Road, State College, PA 16801, (814) 865-5857.

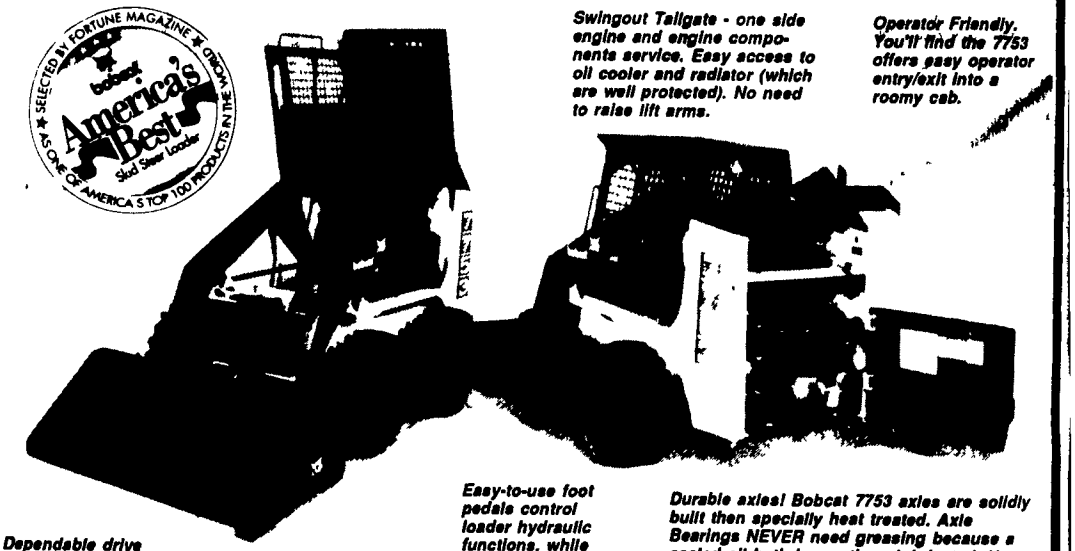
Bobcat 7753 Long-Wheelbase Skid-Steer Loader

It's What's Inside That Counts!



Swingout Tailgate - one side engine and engine components service. Easy access to oil cooler and radiator (which are well protected). No need to raise lift arms.

Operator Friendly. You'll find the 7753 offers easy operator entry/exit into a roomy cab.

Dependable drive chains that NEVER need adjusting. The "bow tie" design uses prestressed, heavy-duty drive chains in two short continuous loops per side. That means long-life in the most rugged use and NO periodic, time-consuming drive chain adjustments.

Easy-to-use foot pedals control loader hydraulic functions, while two steering levers allow precise maneuverability.

Durable axles! Bobcat 7753 axles are solidly built then specially heat treated. Axle Bearings NEVER need greasing because a sealed oil bath keeps them lubricated. New axle hub design protects axle seal from damage from wire or twine. Hub is easily removed if service is required.

Experience America's Best.
Melroe company has over 30 years of skid-steer loader experience — longer than anyone else That's one of the reasons Fortune Magazine has twice recognized the Bobcat loader as one of the 100 products "America Builds Best "

Reliable Components.
Other than a few daily checks and fills, you can rely on the PERFORMANCE of the 7753 Bobcat It has been designed and built with durability and low maintenance in mind.

Great Serviceability!
The Bobcat 7753 has been designed to be serviced quickly. For example, there's single-side access to the transversely-mounted engine, a lift-out oil cooler for easy cleaning and a tip-up cab to expose hydraulic and hydrostatic componentry. For repairs, the exclusive BOSS® System can help quickly diagnose system problems. These features, along with a factory-trained service technicians and "top-shelf" parts availability, mean your loader can be back on the job in no time.

TOTAL HAND CONTROL!

Top Pa. Soybean Growers Honored

SALISBURY, Md. — The yields were not bin busters, but for three Pennsylvania soybean producers, they were enough to capture the top three spots in the state's second annual soybean yield competition.

The competition, sponsored by the Pennsylvania Soybean Promotion Board, climaxed in mid-January at the Pennsylvania Crops Conference in Carlisle with the presentation of trophies to Gary E. Truckenmiller of Watertown (Northumberland County), Clifton Swartz of Danville (Columbia County), and Charles Chilcoat of Seven Valleys (York County).

Truckenmiller topped the competition with a yield of 61.8 bushels an acre. He planted Asgrow 3935 seed in 7.5-inch rows with a no-till drill.

Swartz's yield was 58.7 bushels an acre. He also planted no-till, using Dekalb 415 in 15-inch rows.

For Chilcoat, it was his second consecutive year in third place. He drilled Chemgro 4039 seed in 7-inch rows following minimum tillage.

His yield in 1994 — of 57.2 bushels an acre — was indicative of the yields overall in the competition. Chilcoat was third in 1993 with a yield of 69.4 bushels, and the top yield in '93 was 74.8 bushels an acre.

John Yocum, Penn State senior research associate stationed at the Lancaster Research Center who is in charge of the competition, said his only disappointment was the final number of participating growers.

About 75 farmers had asked for applications for the program, Yocum said, but only eight submitted entries.

"I certainly would like to boost the participation next year," he said.

The competition is open to any Pennsylvania farmer who grows five or more acres of soybeans within the state's boundaries. The contest is restricted to non-irrigated beans but there are no restrictions on varieties, fertilization, row spacing or other cultural practices.

Farmers are asked to enlist the help of an independent "designated representative," such as their county ag agent, to measure the three-acre contest block, supervise the harvest and calculate the yield.

It is perhaps the necessity to prepare for the competition and to have things in place when harvest time arrives — "when it's time to get the combine in there, that's when you do it," Yocum said — that may discourage some growers.

But the fact remains, he said, that '94 was "a good year for soybeans" in Pennsylvania and that, based on his conversations with some growers, some fields slated for entry in this year's competition may have produced yields in excess of the 61.8 bushels an acre which awarded Truckenmiller the winning trophy.

"But you have to play to win," said Yocum, "and we'd certainly like to get more players for the 1995 competition."

Contest rules and entry forms for '95 may be obtained by writing Yocum at P.O. Box 308, Landisville, PA 17538.

Farmers are asked to file with Yocum a notice of intent to participate each year no later than Aug. 15.

Beef Expo To Feature Junior Activities

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Junior activities will again take center stage at the annual Pennsylvania Beef Expo.

Headlining this year's list of activities is the Skillathon, which will be held Saturday, March 22 from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. in the Small Arena at the Farm Show Complex.

The Skillathon is an excellent opportunity for junior cattlemen to test their beef industry knowledge and learn important skills needed to be a successful cattle producer. By incorporating project skills and industry basics in a series of mini-learning stations, participants can test their abilities in areas such as identification of beef breeds, retail cuts, feed ingredients, quality assurance practices, food safety, EPD evaluations, and management decision making. The entire contest will take approximately 35 to 45 minutes to complete, with eight minutes at each station.

In addition to the Skillathon, this year's Expo will also include a beef judging competition at 8 a.m. and a beef quiz bowl at 6:30 p.m. on March 11. Upon completion of the junior competitions, everyone is invited to attend the barn party and dance, where dinner can be purchased.

All competitions are open to all members of the Pennsylvania Junior Cattlemen's Association, 4-H, and FFA. Divisions for the skillathon include senior (16 to 21), intermediate (12 to 15), and junior (8 to 11). Judging and quiz bowl competitions include two divisions, senior (14 to 21) and junior (8 to 13). County, club, or school teams consisting of four members in one division are also invited to participate.

For more information and registration, contact Tammy Balthaser at (800) 572-2020 by March 1.

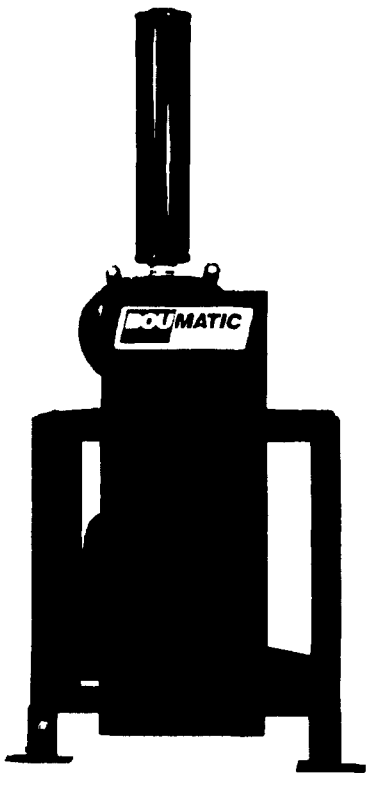
BOU-MATIC

CONSIDER THE PURE POWER ALTERNATIVE FOR YOUR DAIRY

BOUMATIC MILKING SYSTEMS Total Dairy System

Put the pure power of the Bou-Matic® Air-Star™ vacuum pump to work on your dairy to save money and help clean up the environment.

The Bou-Matic® Air-Star™ vacuum pump uses rotary displacement technology to create vacuum, so it uses much less oil for internal lubrication and doesn't consume oil like the oil-vane vacuum pumps. This pure power sure beats the messy alternative... oil-vane vacuum pumps that spew oil through the exhaust creating a hazardous, messy build-up near your pump exhaust.



Available Sizes: 5 hp to 30 hp.

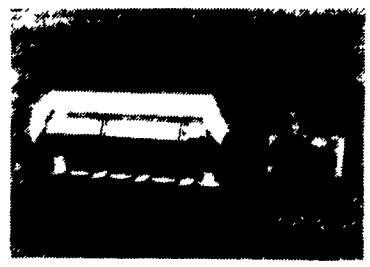
Kuhn Introduces Multidisc Mower

A new model multidisc mower, the GMD 801, has been released as an addition to the GMD "100" Series product line of multidisc mowers from Kuhn Farm Machinery, Inc., USA, and Kuhn S.A., Saverne, France.

GMD 801 incorporates all the new and advanced features of the "100" Series with a working width of cut of 10 feet 2 inches (3.11m).

Kuhn applied 25 years of research and development in the field of disc mowers to manufacture the new GMD 801 multidisc mower. At its heart is a completely re-engineered cutterbar. Rigid and low profile, its design eliminates all sharp angles where soil or crop residue could accumulate. Cut grass flows freely over the cutterbar, even in dense crops. Discs are optimally placed so that the knife overlap cuts clean under all conditions.



A new model multidisc mower, the GMD 801, has been released as an addition to the GMD "100" Series product line of multidisc mowers from Kuhn Farm Machinery, Inc., Vernon, N.Y.

The GMD 801 is also more durable and easier to maintain. Discs, disc guards, and skids are made of surface hardened steel for maximum wear resistance.

Kubota Appoints Senior V.P.

TORRANCE, Calif — Kubota Tractor Corporation President T. Soh has announced the appointment of Robert "Robin" F. Killian Jr. as the company's senior vice president of sales and marketing. Killian brings to Kubota some 20 years of sales and marketing experience in the equipment manufacturing industry, primarily at J.I. Case.

Since joining Case in 1975, Killian has held a number of key sales and marketing positions throughout the United States. Most recently, he served as regional manager for Case's eastern region. There he was responsible for sales, marketing, service and parts for agricultural and construction equipment in Case's largest-volume region.

Prior to joining Case, Killian served in the U.S. Army. A native of Missouri, Killian received a bachelor's degree in marketing from Southwest Missouri State University in Springfield, Mo., in 1969 and earned an M.B.A. from the University of Wisconsin, Milwaukee in 1982.

Killian will direct sales and marketing efforts that support the company's national network of 1,100 dealers.

Robert "Robin" F. Killian Jr.

Kubota Tractor Corporation markets a complete line of tractors from 10 to 91 PTO horsepower, along with a line of performance-matched implements, compact construction equipment, pumps and generators, consumer lawn and garden equipment and commercial turf products. For more information about Kubota products, contact Kubota Tractor Corporation at 3401 Del Amo Blvd., Torrance, CA 90503.

Drill Auger Fills Seed Hopper

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — Kasco's exclusive "Rocking Track" single auger system for grain drills offers an economical and easy way to fill the seed hopper on today's new generation no-till and minimum till grain drills.

Kasco's "Rocking Track" single auger system incorporates a vertical auger mounted on the drill with a rocking slide frame. The track's design allows the operator to remain on the catwalk while filling.

Showing auger in filling position. Auger is moved from catwalk during filling.

To fill the drill, begin at one end of the drill and simply slide the auger along the frame to the other end. The auger's hopper remains in the same spot on the ground. There is no need to move the wagon.

Kasco Products are distributed through servicing dealers by Hamilton Equipment, Inc., 567 South Reading Road, Ephrata, PA 17522.

Magnum Tractors Honored Among AE 50

LITITZ (Lancaster Co.) — The latest generation of Case IH Magnum™ tractors, the 7200 Series, available from Binkley & Hurst Bros., Inc., has been named among the Agricultural Engineering 50 as one of 1994's most outstanding innovations in product or systems technology.

A panel of national engineering experts chosen by Agricultural Engineering magazine reviewed nominations from component supplies, equipment manufacturers, and systems developers representing many different industries. According to the magazine, the panel selected developments that "embodied the application of new technology or the innovative application of an older technology" and would make "worthwhile contributions to the advancement of engineering technology."

Recently named among the Agricultural Engineering 50, the Case IH 7200 Series Magnum™ tractors, available at Binkley & Hurst Bros., Inc., Lititz, incorporate the field-proven engine, transmission, hitch technology and superlative cab comfort that are the hallmarks of the Magnum line. The 7250 is one of five Magnum models.

Magnum tractors have earned recognition among the AE50 three times, according to Hurst. The tractors were listed for the first time following the original introduction in 1987, again with the introduction of the 7150, the largest MFD tractor on the market, and in 1994 following the introduction of the new 7200 Series.

"Farmers are under pressure to be more productive and cost effective in their operations," said Hurst. "The 7200 Series Magnum tractors are dependable, versatile machines that help them achieve that."

Tractor Winners From Corn Days Announced

YORK (York Co.) — York Farm Credit, ACA and two area farm implement dealers announce the winners of Adams and York counties extension corn day drawings.

James Reichart of Littlestown was the big winner at the Adams County Corn Day, held Monday, January 23, at the York Springs Firehall. Reichart won seven days free use (40 hours maximum) of a new Case IH tractor sponsored by York Farm Credit, ACA and Carlisle Farm Service of Carlisle. Kevin Harner of Carlisle Farm Service will coordinate a week with Reichart for delivering the tractor for use on his farm.

Gene Sauble of York Springs won the $75 gift certificate to Central Tractor, sponsored by York Farm Credit.

Joseph D. Kilgore of Delta was the big winner at the York County Corn Day, held Wednesday, January 25 at the York County 4-H Center. Kilgore won seven days free use (40 hours maximum) of a new John Deere Tractor sponsored by York Farm Credit, ACA and Waltemyer's Sales and Service of Red Lion. Jim Waltemyer of Waltermyer's Sales and Service will coordinate a week with Kilgore for delivering the tractor for use on his farm.

Travis Doll of Glen Rock won the $75 gift certificate to Tractor Supply Company, sponsored by York Farm Credit.

"We like working with local machinery dealers to sponsor prizes that really help the farmers," said Mike Hosterman of York Farm Credit, ACA. "The response to these drawings has been great and shows that York Farm Credit, Carlisle Farm Service, and Waltemyer's Sales and Service are dedicated to serving the needs of farmers."

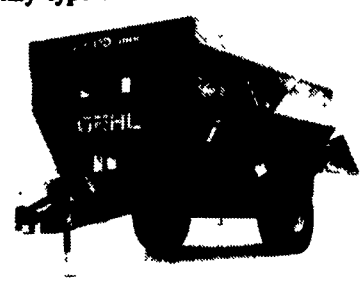
Mixer-Feeders Allow More Long-Stemmed Hay

WEST BEND, Wis. — New "Total Mix" TMR mixer feeders let you mix more long-stemmed hay into your ration — up to 30 percent by weight depending on hay type and moisture content.



A breakthrough in four-auger design gives the new Gehl "Total Mix" mixer feeder unmatched long hay handling proficiency.

A breakthrough in four-auger design gives the new Gehl "Total Mix" mixer feeder unmatched long hay handling proficiency. Gehl's secret is a remarkable "Hay-Slicer Auger" that incorporates four unique knife assemblies as an integral part of the two bottom augers. These assemblies break up long hay material for a quicker mix with less chance of wrapping — they're standard on the four largest mixer feeder models.

Gehl's four auger system is known for exceptional blending and mixing of all feed ingredients into the most homogenous ration possible. And in much less time. The new "Hay Slicer Auger" delivers that kind of fast mixing action in a wider variety of feed materials.

Feature for feature the Gehl "Total Mix" line of TMR mixer feeders gives you more. From the improved planetary drives that power the four mixing augers to the hydraulically driven unloading conveyor, these rugged, cost-effective mixer feeders deliver top performance.

Choose from five mixer feeder models with struck capacities ranging from 210 to 455 cubic feet. The two larger models are also available as truck-mount units.

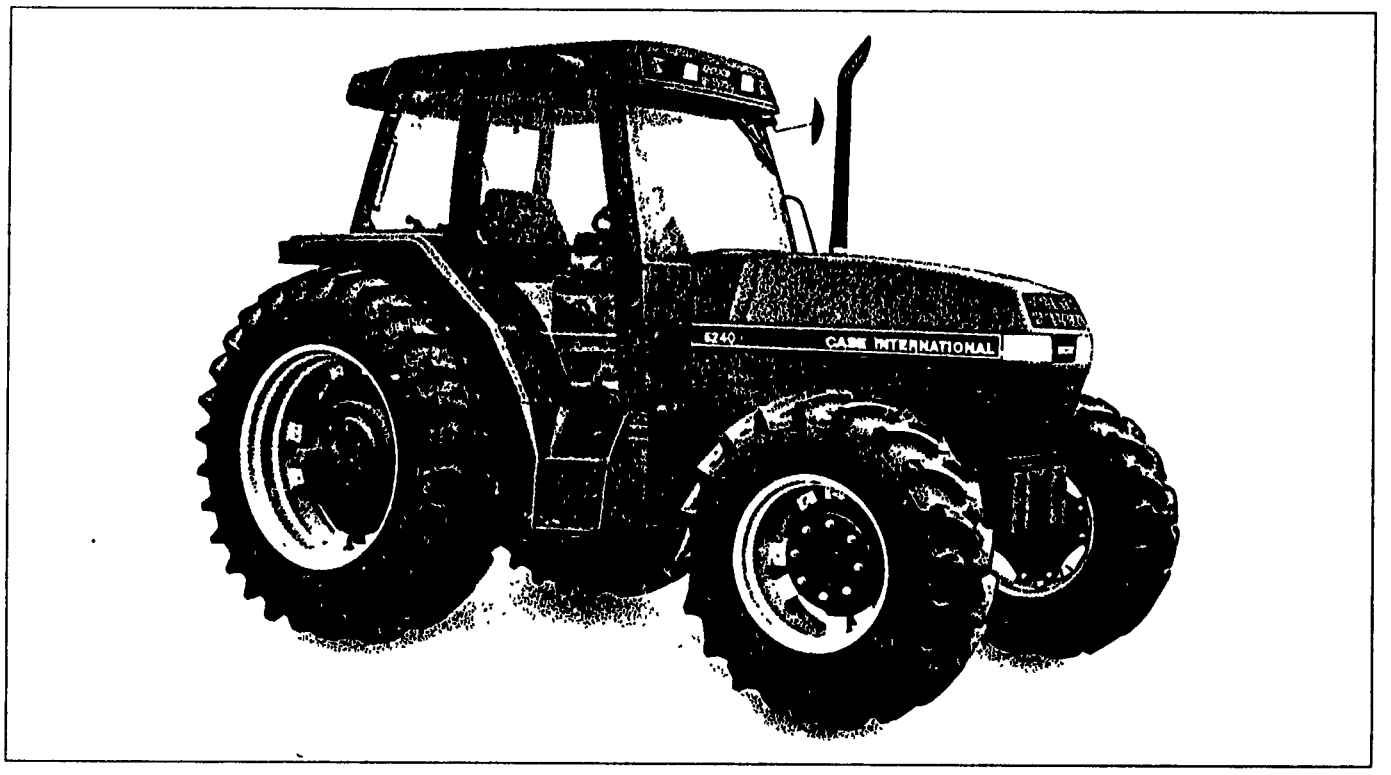
MAXXUM



Case IH MAXXUM® set new standards for mid-size tractors. With the introduction of the 5200 Series, those standards have been raised even higher.

Trust Names 3 To New Positions

WASHINGTON, D.C. — American Farmland Trust a national farmland conservation group based in Washington, announced the appointment of three people to newly created positions within the organization.

Julia Freedgood, public education specialist for the group's Northeastern Region in Northampton, Mass. since 1989, was promoted to director of technical education and outreach. Sharon H. Phenneger, previously with the Center for Marine Conservation, was named director of administration and finance. Robert C. Wagner, director of AFT's Northeastern Office since 1985, was promoted to director of state and local programs.

Freedgood is responsible for developing a national technical education and outreach program for AFT. Prior to her promotion, she developed such a program for the group's Northeastern Region and was the author and principal researcher for the widely heralded study, Does Farmland Protection Pay? The Cost of Community Services in Three Massachusetts Towns. She also was project manager, writer and editor of various farmland conservation brochures, publications, articles and newsletters and produced the critically acclaimed documentary, "Farmland Forever." Before joining AFT, she had been executive director of the Federation of Massachusetts Farmers' Markets and a researcher and community organizer for the "Sustaining Agriculture Near Cities" project at Tufts University School of Nutrition.

Phenneger oversees the organization's administrative and financial functions. A certified public accountant, she came to AFT from the Center for Marine Conservation in Washington, D.C., where she had been director of finance since February 1992. Previously, she had been controller for Alphin Aircraft, Inc., Hagerstown, Md., senior accountant for Linton, Shafer & Co., Frederick, Md.; and trust operations manager for the Bank of Charles Town, Charles Town, W.Va. She has a bachelor's degree in physics from the College of William and Mary and a concentration in accounting from Shepherd College.

Wagner has responsibility for the oversight and coordination of the organization's state and local programmatic activities. Previously, he directed AFT's farmland protection strategy for the 10-state Northeastern Region, including local and state policy development, public outreach and individual land protection projects. Among his activities, Wagner managed the organization's role in the passage of New York's Agricultural Protection Act of 1992, provided advice and consultation to communities across the region seeking solutions to protect farmland and promoted the cause of farmland protection through numerous speaking engagements and presentations. Before coming to AFT, he served as an adviser on environmental and energy issues to James M. Jeffords, now a U.S. Senator from Vermont. He has a bachelor's degree in biology from Bucknell University and a master's degree in natural resources planning from the University of Vermont.

Export Federation Responds To Peso Crisis

DENVER, Colo. — The U.S. Meat Export Federation (USMEF) has moved quickly to advance a six-point plan to address the halting effects of the devalued peso on U.S. meat exports to Mexico. Since the peso's devaluation on December 20, USMEF estimates U.S. beef and pork exports to Mexico have declined 70-80 percent.

The six-point plan, according to USMEF President and CEO Philip M. Seng, will accelerate the resumption of meat trade by helping both U.S. suppliers and Mexican buyers deal with higher produce costs and credit shortages.

"The purpose of the MEF plan is to get us through to the point where the underlying market fundamentals, which are still strong in Mexico, can once again take over," said Seng. "The crisis is real, but it's only temporary. The sooner we can get trade moving and investor confidence back, the sooner the crisis will pass."

Seng stressed that the United States and the international community have a vested interest in helping Mexico resolve its economic crisis as quickly as possible. "What we're trying to do at the industry level," he said, "is to speed the recovery and weather the storm."

Prior to the peso's devaluation, the exchange rate was 3.5 pesos to the U.S. dollar. Since then, it has fluctuated in a range of 5.4 - 5.8 pesos to the U.S. dollar. The Mexican government expects the situation to stabilize this year at 4.5 pesos to the U.S. dollar.

The USMEF initiative includes six distinct elements:

1. Securing credit for commercial transactions at reasonable rates: Central to the USMEF plan is a request for an additional $100 million in GSM-102 credit guarantees. The official request was made last week in a letter to USDA's Foreign Agricultural Service. The GSM-102 program offers an important level of protection for banks in Mexico and the United States to finance purchases of U.S. red meat products during the economic crisis. The prime loan rate in Mexico has more than doubled since the devaluation, and Mexican banks have sharply curtailed lending.

2. Promoting the GSM-102 program and conducting the training necessary for its implementation: Only a handful of U.S. companies and buyers in Mexico are familiar with the GSM-102 program. Even fewer understand how to use it. USMEF is organizing seminars to teach the U.S. and Mexican trade how to use the program and how to obtain credit for commercial transactions.

3. Demonstrating new ways for the retail sector to carry U.S. beef and make a profit: USMEF is conducting special training for Mexican retailers to demonstrate how to purchase U.S. beef and sustain profits, despite the peso's devaluation. These sessions demonstrate how to merchandise new, less expensive cuts of U.S. beef; how to work with narrower margins; and how to use proper handling techniques and innovative merchandising to offset higher product costs.

4. Stepping-up the exchange of critical market information: USMEF has expanded its information network in Mexico and the U.S. to more readily exchange market information, monitor purchasing plans, and identify specific problems as they arise. This information is being shared with the U.S. embassy in Mexico City, USDA, and the U.S. and Mexican trade.

5. Helping U.S. companies collect delinquent payments: The cost of U.S. meat products in Mexico increased as much as 50 percent overnight as a result of the peso's sudden and unexpected devaluation. The result has been that a number of U.S. exporters have been unable to collect the full amount due them for transactions made prior to the peso's devaluation. To assist U.S. companies in this position, USMEF is developing a procedural guide for exporters considering relief through legal channels.

6. Focusing on risk management tools to lessen future risks: USMEF is developing a curriculum that focuses on ways to help the trade in Mexico manage the risks associated with exchange-rate fluctuations. This aspect of the plan is longer term, but will serve to create a more stable and predictable trade environment; the result of which will be more robust trade.

"Beyond the current crisis, we see tremendous export opportunities for U.S. red meat products in Mexico," said Seng. "What's important now is that we do everything we can to stabilize the situation and get business back on track as quickly as possible. We just need to work through it."

USMEF projects total U.S. red meat trade with Mexico will more than double over the next six years, surpassing the $1 billion mark in the year 2001. This past year, total U.S. red meat exports to Mexico (beef, pork, and lamb) are projected to hit a record 240,000 metric tons, valued at $423 million. Sales of U.S. beef and beef variety meats (116,000 metric tons) and U.S. pork and pork variety meats (118,000 metric tons) to Mexico in 1994 are estimated to be up 45 percent and 28 percent respectively, over 1993.

Area Growers Sought For West Chester Market

WEST CHESTER (Chester Co.) — Farmers looking for a new opportunity to retail their products this season are invited to attend an exploratory meeting about a new producer-only growers' market in West Chester.

The meeting at 10 a.m. on Saturday, Feb. 25 will be held in the Council Chambers of the West Chester Municipal Building. The Municipal Building is located at 401 E. Gay St., West Chester.

Selling fresh produce and other farm products directly to consumers at a new market is a golden opportunity to either expand your existing sales, or get started in retail marketing. New growers' markets in some neighboring states have proven to be a wonderful bonanza to both new and existing farmers.

This meeting will help set the direction of such a market. Farmers who raise fruits, vegetables, herbs, eggs, plants, honey or any other shelf-stable farm product should attend. They will hear a brief overview of the opportunity and have ample time to discuss it. Details such as rules, products and sale times will be covered.

West Chester has a vibrant downtown where many customers shop. Downtown West Chester is within a 15-minute driving distance of a large population base. City officials are very supportive of a growers' market operating in downtown West Chester.

This marketing effort is being sponsored by the Pennsylvania Association for Sustainable Agriculture (PASA). If you would like additional information about the meeting, contact Leon Weber at (610) 683-1401.

Pa. Jr. Holstein Members Alive In 1995!

WEST MIDDLESEX (Mercer Co.) — Hundreds of members of the Pennsylvania Junior Holstein Association attended the annual convention held last weekend at the Raddison Hotelin West Middlesex and gave credance to the convention theme: Holstein's Alive in '95.

In addition to tours, seminars, educational and fun-oriented activities and other types of organizational business, a number of member achievements were recognized during the convention, and recipients of the association's distinguished member awards were announced.

The $1,000 scholarships are to be used by each winner to better themselves through some type of educational program, according to the association.

Scholarship winners include Justin McMurray, of Eighty-Four, son of John and Patty McMurray, who is a Penn State University student majoring in mechanical engineering; Amy Packard, of Troy, daughter of Richard and Marilyn Packard, who also attends Penn State and majors in dairy and animal science; and Jesslyn Oberholtzer, of Elizabethtown, daughter of Clair and Laverne Oberholtzer, who is a student at Lebanon Valley College where she is majoring in elementary education.

Scholarship funds come from donations and the program is administered by the state Holstein Association.

Dairy Bowl

Also during the convention, the junior members hold dairy bowl contests and this year 30 teams competed in two age divisions. There were 16 junior teams and 14 senior-age teams.

The winner of the junior-age division was a Berks County team with members Jennifer Neiman, Mike Meiman, Erica Davis, Melissa Werley, and coach Teresa Davis. This team came back through the loser's bracket to battle their way for the title, taking the win after defeating the Crawford County team with members Debbie Duncan, Stephen Kalinowski, Jason Miller, Jim Kalinowski, and coach Lee Livingston.

The senior-age division winner was a team from Cumberland County with members Matthew Day, David Day, Heath Ocker, John Creek, and coach Ann Day. The team was undefeated and won its final round over a Franklin County team with members Donald Harwood, Beth Meyers, Tia Crider, Joel Mills, and coach Donna Harwood.

Distinguished Members

The distinguished junior member award program is designed to award outstanding members in

In each division, six finalists are selected and then two are selected from the finalists.

Receiving honors for having bred a cow that has classified as an Excellent are, from the left, Joe Stitt, Matthew Day, Jeremy Welk, and Jeff Smiley.

Other junior-aged finalists were Emily Cloninger, of Centre Hall; Jody Crawford, of Rome; Adam Raney, of Adamsville; and Jason Turton, of Ulysses.

The six finalists were selected from a field of 11 contestants, each on the basis of a scrabook listing their activities and involvement in Holstein work, school, community activities and leadership positions. They were to have also completed a story highlighting their work on the home farm and tell about plans for the future.

In the intermediate-age division, the distinguished junior members were Joy Hess, daughter of John and Bonnie Hess of Gettysburg, and Chris Connolly, son of Ronald and Denise Connolly of Pennsylvania Furnace.

The other finalists included Joe Best, of Holtwood; Erica Davis, Kutztown; Danielle Mummah, Port Royal; and David Packard, of Troy.

The intermediate-aged finalists were selected from 17 contestants, and in addition to a scrapbook detailing their involvements and activities, and stories, they were each interviewed by a panel of judges who discussed with them the future of agriculture and Holsteins.

In the senior-age division, Jill Harnish, daugther of Edwin and Arlene Harnish of Christiana, and Rachel Tanis, daughter of Jake and Sallianne Tanis of Centre Hall, were named distinguished junior members.

The other senior finalists included Stephanie Anderson, of Myerstown; Nichol Bozlinski, Wampum; and Justin McMurray, of Eighty-Four.

The senior finalists were selected from a field of eight entries. In addition to the scrapbooks and essays on their ideas of the future of agriculture and the Holstein industry, each finalist was interviewed by a panel of judges.

These two senior-age winners are to represent Pennsylvania in the national distinguished junior member contest held during the national convention.

Production Awards

Also recognized during ceremonies at the junior convention were the member-owners of the top-producing registered Holsteins. There were 266 entries submitted by more than 120 members in the separate milk, fat and protein production recognition contest.

For each of the three aspects of dairy production considered, there were four cow-age classes, and 10 places officially recognized.

The top milk-producing 2-year-old was Braund-Valley Leadman Milly, owned by Greta Braund, with 31,659 pounds milk on a 305-day lactation started at 2 years, 11 months.

The top milk-producing 3-year-old was Allegen Dixiecrat Barbara, owned by Danielle Sparling, with a record of 31,502 pounds of milk. The average of the 10 top 3-yea-olds was 29,521 pounds milk.

Among the cows aged 5 years or older, Teresa McIlwain's Cha-do Ned Boy Carren made 33,515 pounds of milk with 3.3 percent fat and 3.2 percent protein to top the list. The average of the 10 aged cows was 31,118 pounds milk.

In the fat production category, starting with the 3-year-olds, Araron Sheeley's Braund-Valley Jet Krissy leaded with 1,215 pounds, or 4.4 percent fat, on 27,730 pounds of milk.

The top 4-year-old for fat production was Matthew Day's Tri-Day Astro Jet X-Eve, a cow that made 1,370 pounds of fat, or 4.9 percent, in 27,950 pounds of milk.

In protein production, Rachel Tanis's Ideals Inspiration Raquel was the top producer with 1,021 pound of protein which came with 31,423 pounds milk and 1,205 pounds of fat.

By age group, the average production based on the whole number of entries was reported as: 2-year-olds, 94 entries, 20,999 pounds milk, 759 pounds fat, and 670 pounds protein; 3-year-olds, 74 entries, 24,432 pounds milk, 875 pounds fat, 773 pounds protein; 4-year-olds, 25 entries, 24,415 pounds milk, 878 pounds fat, 760 pounds protein; and 5-year-olds, 73 entries, 25,455 pounds milk, 911 pounds fat, and 790 pounds protein.

30,000 Pound Cow Award

Another type of production recognition is associated with the Junior Holstein Association's award to those members who have bred and owned cows that produced 30,000 pounds of milk in one 305-day lactation.

Four members were presented with awards and were congratulated for breeding and developing animals with the ability to make top milk records.

Rachel Tanis's Ideals Lot Suzanne made 30,248 pounds of milke with 1,239 pounds of fat and 1,075 pounds protein during a lactation she started at 7 years, 2 months of age.

Matthew Guise, of York Springs, was honored for the production of his Buttonwood Tone Blare-TW cow which made 30,830 pounds of milk, 1,150 pounds fat, and 918 pounds protein during a lactation started at 4 years, 8 months.

Donald Harwood, of Shippensburg, was honored for his Harwood Hippy Julie, a cow that made 30,938 pounds milk, 912 pounds fat, and 885 pounds protein during a lactation started at 4 years, 10 months.

Also honored was Rebecca Kelly, of Tyrone, for the production of 30,248 pounds milk, 1,065 pounds fat, and 918 pounds protein that her cow, Spring-Lane Cleitus Bleach, made during a lactation started at 3 years, 6 months.

The breed organization also recognizes outstanding "type" in animals its members breed by presenting its Breeder of an Excellent Cow awards. Those members who have bred and owned a cow that scores "Excellent" were recognized during the convention.

In order to qualify for receiving an award, the animal must have been bred by the junior member; must have been scored Excellent; and must have been alive the year the application is made. An animal can only win the honor once and those who seek the award recognition for their animal must send a photo copy of the registration paper with the entry form.

Those members how have bred Excellent cows and were honored are Matthew Day, of Shippensburg, for his Tri-Day Mark Darling, E-90; Joseph Stitt, of Mechanicsburg, for his Sue-Bets Lone Star Marta, E-90; Jeremy Welk, Quarryville, for his Welk-Acres Marvel Marlene, E-90; and Jeffrey Smiley, of Berlin, for his Bervalon Tab Melanie, E-90.

Progressive Breeder

One of the most coveted awards for young Holstein breeders is to receive recognition as a "Junior Progressive Breeder." The award recognizes a young breeder's achievements in developing — through breeding — a consistent output of strong producing, strong typed dairy cattle.

This recognition program is a little more complicated than some of the others, and sets five, milking-age categories for cows that correspond to minimum production and classification levels, in order to receive award recognition.

Further, for each qualifying animal, a breeder is awarded a "star." Those with five stars automatically are designated progressive breeders. The stars may be accumulated over the years.

There are a number of different additional minimum standards that are required, though the breeder does not have to own the animal.

As part of the entry, a copy of the registration stating the breeder's identity; the latest official DHIA 305-day (or less) lactation production record and a copy of that record; and a copy of the latest official Holstein classification record are required. Further, an animal can earn a progressive breeder star for its owner only once.

For animals with a lactation started as a 2-year-old, the cow must have made 17,000 pounds of milk and classified at least 81 points; 3-year-old, 18,000 pounds milk, 82 points; 4-year-old, 19,000 pounds milk, 83 points; 5-year-old, 20,000 pounds milk, 85 points; and aged cows, 21,000 pounds milk, 86 points.

Receiving recognition as five-star progressive breeders were Matthew Day, Donald Harwood, Teresa McIlwain, and Amy Packard.

Three-star junior progressive breeders were Erica Davis, Jason Ruffaner, of Armstrong County, and Joseph Stitt.

Two-star breeders honored were Carrie Bryant, of Wayne County; David Day; Dixie Doll, of York County; Dianne Glock, of Juniata County; and David Packard.

First-star breeder awards were presented to Gregory Davis, of Berks County; Robert Fredd, of Centre County; Todd Getz, of Lebanon County; Ryan Graham, of Butler County; Danette Nolt, of Lebanon County, and Angela Werley, of Berks County.

All-Pennsylvania Show Awards

Another award presented during the convention was the 1994 Junior All-Pennsylvania show award. Recipients of those were announced in January and photos of the top cows published in the state Holstein magazine, Profiles, and in Lancaster Farming.

There were 15 show classes recognized in the annual contest, which recognizes consistently outstanding achievement of an animal showing in its age class during the course of a year.

In each of the 15 classes, one All-American winner is selected, as well as a reserve champion. In addition, depending on achievements, honorable mentions are also made.

There were 55 entries for the contest, with 36 honorable mentions.

Pennsylvania Emu Farmers Form Association

MILLVILLE (Columbia Co.) — Members of a recently formed Pennsylvania Emu Farmers Association (PEFA) held a mail-ballot election of officers and announced that it intends to participate in the Eastern Emu Expo and Trade Show, set for May 12-13 at the Lancaster Host Resort, in Lancaster.

According to its president, Joanne Long, of Bloomsburg, the PEFA organization was created because of the large number of emu breeders within Pennsylvania.

She said that as the membership within the American Emu Association has continued to grow, it has further subdivided into affiliate chapters.

The AEA members of Pennsylvania, formerly with the Eastern Region of the AEA, are now automatically considered to be members of the PEFA. Through a mailing list of members, ballots were sent out and members elected officers.

In addition to Long, Michelle Henninger, of Shippensburg, was elected vice president; Kay Harmon, of Berwick, its secretary; and Patricia Russell-Souder, of Perkiomenville, was elected treasurer.

Long said that the organization's first board meeting was scheduled to be held today (Feb. 18), and part of the agenda would be to decide when and where to hold a first statewide meeting. She said she hoped that the statewide meeting would be held in March.

The organization has received preliminary approval to be an affiliate of the American Emu Association.

"Primarily, PEFA was formed to set up zoning within the state," said Joanne Long, president. "There will be eight zones, allowing members to hold local meetings, get to know each other on a more personal level, and share the latest industry information in a timely fashion."

Emus are being raised in 48 states in the United States as well as Canada. The AEA currently has more than 5,300 members.

According to the news release, "One of PEFA's goals is to educate the public about the many byproducts of the emu. Emu produce a red meat similar in texture and taste to beef, an oil which is currently being used in cosmetics, hides for leather products, as well as feathers, toenails, and green eggshells, which are used for a variety of crafts and jewelry."

For more information, write or call Long at: PEFA, P.O. Box 479, Millville, PA, 17846, (717) 437-9185.

NEW

BELT FEEDERS & CONVEYORS

Big Capacity Delivery... With All The Advantages Of Dependable, Efficient, Low Profile Direct Drive Design!

That's what farmers really appreciate about the new Jamesway family of Direct XPress Feeders and Conveyors. All models feature a dependable and efficient heavy duty industrial drive with enclosed oil bath and standard 1, 2 or 3 H.P. C faced motors. Our direct drive design eliminates pulleys, jackshafts, sprockets, chains, V belts and shields. The low profile motor and drive can be mounted on either side for added installation versatility.

The Direct XPress family includes
- DXF 1400 Single or Divided Lot 14" Wide Belt Feeder 180 Maximum Length
- DXC 1400 14" Wide Belt Conveyor 180 Maximum Length
- DXC 1800 18" Wide Belt Conveyor 180 Maximum Length
- DXC 2400 24" Wide Belt Conveyor 124' Maximum Length

"X" Sides Are Standard
All Direct XPress System models feature heavy 16-gauge weather resistant galvanized steel sides in 2-1/2' 5' and 10' sections. We call them "X" sides because they are "X tra" strong and will span 20' between supports. And they are built to last and will stay looking good "X tra" long!

Do It Your Way!
Match your feeding layout and requirements with reversible elevating conveyors, inclines and declines without sacrificing capacity, speed and uniform delivery. All inclines and declines are infinitely adjustable up to 30 degrees elevation for textured belt and up to 15 degrees elevation for smooth belt.

Tough 1/8" thick polyester belt with PVC covering and dependable stainless steel industrial splice is a year round performer and flexes in sub-zero weather. Choice of smooth or textured belt for conveyors in 14", 18" and 24" widths. Belt speed is 230 feet per minute.

PLANNING FOR 1995 FEED STORAGE... WILTED HAY...SILAGE...HI-MOISTURE GRAINS

Significant savings in time and money are possible when you store and deliver your feed from a poured concrete silo, equipped with a Big Jim Distributor/ Unloader.

At SOLLENBERGER SILOS CROP. we know a lot about feed storage and handlig... we've been in the business since 1908. If you are thinking about new or additional feed storage, give us a call. We'd like to contribute to your success.

The Best of the Best

The Wheeling 2 oz. Seal of Quality coating represents the best of the best in the Wheeling Corrugating line of premium galvanized roofing and siding. Every panel that carries the 2 ounce coating assures you are getting the toughest, the most durable, the most corrosion resistant galvanized sheet available in today's marketplace.

Genuine Old-Time Quality
Every Wheeling 2 oz sheet is manufactured from heavy gauge steel, topped with an extra thick zinc coating and formed into profiles that contribute strength and good looks Build with a Wheeling 2 oz sheet and you'll be working with the kind of durability and dependability that s been a standard in the industry for almost 100 years

The Proof is in the Process
The performance behind the Wheeling 2 oz Seal of Quality is possible because of Wheeling's patented Cook Norteman manufacturing process This technology allows a more consistent quality product, and a more uniform coating with unsurpassed zinc adhesion The process takes more handling and more time, but the end result is a super premium panel that has its own limited 20 year performance warranty

Dimensions and Specifications
If your building plans call for roofing and siding materials with exceptional corrosion resistance minimum upkeep and old time toughness you ll want to check the specs of Wheeling 2 oz Seal of Quality galvanized

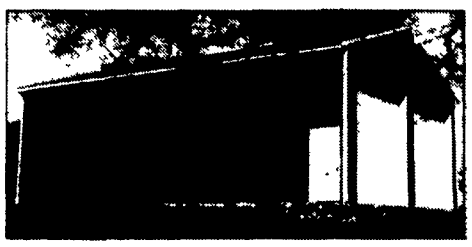
Side with Alumax ALU-TUFF Steel



When you put up a building, you expect it to be attractive and to last. A building constructed with ALU-TUFF will meet those expectations. That's because ALU-TUFF is made using top-quality materials, super-tough protective coatings, and a unique rib design that's both functional and attractive.

Years from now when other buildings are starting to show their age, your building will still look good.

- A STRONG PROFILE High 3/4-inch ribs on nine-inch centers give ALU-TUFF exceptionally high spanning properties for its weight and thickness, while stiffening ribs in flat areas prevent rippling.
- MADE TO LAST To keep Alu-Tuff working hard and looking good for years to come, we protect it with an oven-cured system of four different coatings.
- A GREAT LOOKING PANEL You don't have to sacrifice good looks to get a tough steel panel.
- MORE QUALITY FEATURES Each ALU-TUFF sheet is 38 inches wide to provide 36-inch coverage. That's wide enough to minimize the number of side laps, yet narrow enough to be easy to handle.

MUELLER

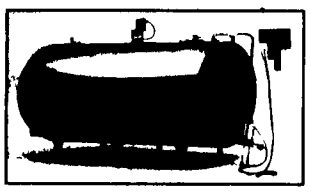
Offer

Scroll-Compressor Technology

New in 1994



You may pay less for some dairy farm equipment... but it can cost you more!

Equipment cost is not the only cost of cooling milk

In the long run, total operating costs of a Mueller milk-cooling system are generally substantially less than those of "bargain-brand" milk-cooling equipment.

Example	Mueller	Competition
Cost of equipment	$31,000	$28,000
Cost of electricity @ .08 kW for 12,000 lbs milk/day for 10 years	$17,350	$22,850
Total operating cost for ten years	$48,350	$50,850
Savings	$ 2,500

8a EXOTIC ANIMALS

LLAMAS LLAMAS LLAMAS

If you've been considering starting in llamas, or having a llama for a pet, why not stop in to see our herd.

Our young males start at $500, our weanling females at $2,500, our pregnant females at $3,500. A deposit will hold any of our crias (baby llamas) for you.

We prefer selling off the farm, rather than subjecting our animals to the stress of auctions.

All of our llamas are registered with the International Llama Registry. Some of the finest wool and blood lines can be found in our herd, including Otter Creek Harold.

All llamas can be halter led, and are gently trained by teenagers.

COMPLETE RODENT CONTROL PROGRAM

WE DO THERMAL FOGGING

- Disinfects
- Insecticide
- Long Lasting Fog

Kills all types of beetles and insects in hard to reach areas that cause structural damage. We recommend fogging in addition to our regular spraying.

COMPLETE PEST CONTROL PROGRAM
Programs available for rodent, fly and beetle control. We can tailor a program to suit your needs. Don't let rats and mice eat your profits!

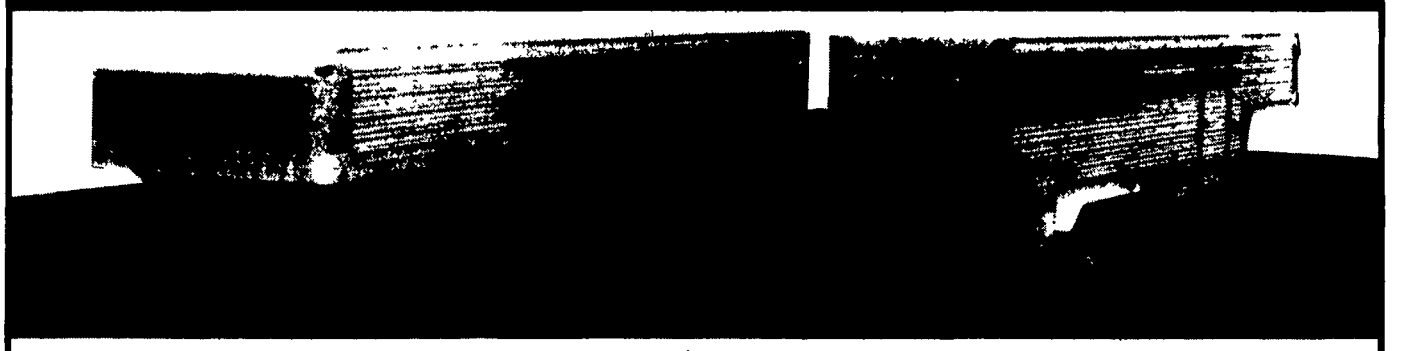
Anything Less Isn't Good Enough



If livestock is your business, Eby Gooseneck Trailers include these features to protect the livestock you transport:

- Durable all-aluminum construction with less weight for more payload
- Axies, wheels, tires and brakes that are designed to carry the weight the trailer will hold
- Gates and doors designed for easy loading/unloading
- Proven post and slat design to control airflow and easily close up for winter conditions
- Aerodynamic design to improve fuel economy

Eby Gooseneck Trailers are available in lengths from 12 to 32 feet with a choice of widths and inside heights. We offer every custom option, including stainless steel front end for great looks.

Whatever kind of livestock you transport, you can rely on EBY products to do the job right.

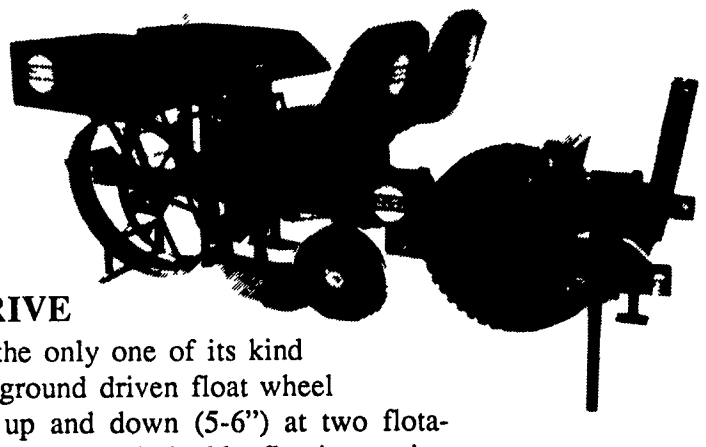
For The Grower That Demands The "VERY FINEST"

The High Performance Model 1000

has increased planting speeds 20 to 30%.



OUR PATENTED FLOAT WHEEL DIRECT DRIVE SYSTEM is the only one of its kind available. This ground driven float wheel moves straight up and down (5-6") at two flotation points. This patented double floating action maintains correct ground contact at all times for both the drive wheel and rear packing wheels letting the units float independently no matter how many rows. No weight of any hitch, toolbar, or water tank is resting on the drive wheel to compact the soil. The wheel just smooths, firms and ideally prepares the soil providing accurate plant placement, proper depth control, and positive spacings from 6" and up in all soil conditions.

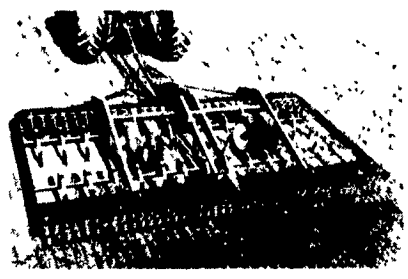
ROLLING ON...IN THE 90'S Brillion MEETS THE CHALLENGE

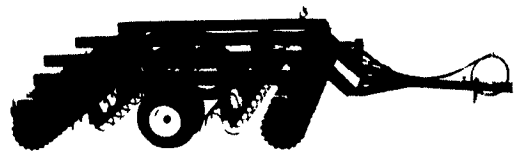
M,MD, ML & WL PULVI-MULCHERS 7'4" THRU 30'

BETTER SEEDBEDS...BETTER YIELDS

M, MD SERIES
7'4", 10'4", 12'4", 13'8" and 15'



ML03 SERIES



ML Pulvi-mulchers feature the 20", six-spoke ductile iron notched roller wheel and now available with 20" ductile iron crowfooot wheel. The Brillion Pulvi-mulcher crushes both surface and buried lumps and converts fall and spring plowing into a clod-free seedbed. The ductile iron wheels carry a five-year warranty against breakage. Available in 12'6", 13'10", 15'2" and 18'9"

WL03 SERIES

The WL is the latest example of how Brillion has met the challenge of the earth and competition. The front rollers break up surface clods. "C" shaped ribbon teeth or "S" spring tine teeth break up the soil to 6" in depth and pull clods to the surface. Available in 21'6", 25' & 30' Widths. Ductile Roller Wheels firm without compaction.

Hoffman Seeds Receives 'The Special Award'

LANDISVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — Hoffman Seeds, Inc. has been selected as the 1994 recipient of "The Special Award," the highest recognition given by the Pennsylvania Forage and Grassland Council. The award was presented during the Pennsylvania Crops Conference held in Carlisle.

The award is presented annually to an individual or company that has made a major contribution to the PFGC as well as to Pennsylvania's forage and livestock industry and conservation farming. Contributions may have been in production agriculture, industry, research, extension, teaching or other public service.

Three Hoffman Seeds employees have served the PFGC as president, including Chris Nissley (1964), Ivan Kauffman (1976), and John Itle (1978). In addition to the individual contributions, Hoffman has been a member of the PFGC for more than 20 years.

1995 Dairy Of Distinction Farms Sought

Kingston (Luzerne Co.) — Do you take pride in maintaining your dairy farm? Does your dairy farm project an attractive, wholesome image to consumers? If so, the Dairy Of Distinction Program of New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania will consider your farm for the program's annual recognition awards.

The Northeast Dairy Farm Beautification Program was first started in 1983 to recognize the hard work and dedication of the farmers who maintain attractive farms. The purpose of the program is to instill a greater sense of confidence in the wholesomeness of dairy products, and increase their sales.

Farms that apply are judged on the roadside appearance of buildings, grounds, and surroundings, since this is what our dairy product consumers observe as they drive by. The cleanliness of the barnyard, feed areas and manure management are other aspects of the farm operation taken into consideration. Roadside judging is conducted during the month of May. Former winners of past years are also rejudged to ensure they continue to meet the standards of excellence.

To qualify for consideration, you must be actively dairy farming and shipping milk. Applications are available from your state secretary, Pennsylvania: Paul Nichols, American Dairy Association and Dairy Council, Inc., 239 Schuyler Avenue, Box 5 , Kingston, Pa. 18704, (717) 283-2204, New York: Carol Weddle, N.Y. Holstein Association, 957 Mitchell Street, Ithaca N.Y. 14851, (607) 273-7591, or New Jersey: August Knispel, R.D. 1, Box 325, Pittstown, New Jersey 08867, (201) 735-4989. All applications muse be completed and returned by April 15th, 1995.

The Dairy of Distinction program is financed in Pennsylvania by Dairy Farmers through the American Dairy Association Dairy Council and Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program, plus Agribusiness organizations. The Pennsylvania Dairy Of Distinction Program is conducted with advice and help by Penn State cooperative extension.

Application

PURPOSE OF PROGRAM

Attractive dairy farms give the consumer greater confidence in the wholesomeness of milk and stimulate milk sales which encourages public support for the dairy industry. The award gives recognition to the dairy farmer for maintaining a well-kept farmstead.

ELIGIBILITY

All Northeast dairy farms producing milk for sale are invited to make application for the award. Dairies receiving the 10 highest scores in each of the 91 districts will receive an 18" x 24" Dairy of Distinction sign to be displayed in front of their farm.

APPLICATION

Northeast Dairy Farm Beautification Program Inc.

Dairy of Distinction
Dairy Farm Beautification Program

HOW IS YOUR FARM SCORED?

Northeast Dairy Farm Beautification Program, Inc.

Awards will be based upon neatness, good maintenance and other factors which can be controlled by the farmer. Attractive background scenery should not be weighed heavily in judging. All judging observations should be made from a vehicle at one or more points on an adjacent public highway (or if farm is off the road, the nearest lane). Judging should give equal consideration to old wood construction and new construction of metal or concrete block.

The award program may be used for subsequent advertising or promotion activities for dairy products or dairy farming. Farmers who apply for awards agree that; if selected they will cooperate with these activities and make all reasonable efforts to maintain both the exterior and interior of their properties in an acceptable condition.

HOW THE APPLICATION WORKS

The owner or operator of the dairy farm should sign the application and send it to NEDFBP secretary by April 15.

HOW THE JUDGING WORKS

Judging teams will visit farms during the month of May. Farms will be judged each year as the award is presented on an annual basis. Any dairy failing to maintain appearance standards will be asked to remove their sign. The Dairy of Distinction signs remain the property of the committee, not the property of the dairy farmer. All farms must achieve a compliance score of 90 percent on their Dairy of Distinction score card. Your cooperative or milk handler will be contacted to approve your milk quality.

RULES FOR THE DAIRY OF DISTINCTION AWARD

1). The Dairy of Distinction sign remains the property of the Northeast Dairy Farm Beautification Committee.
2). The post and bracket shall be supplied by and maintained by the dairy farmer. It is suggested that a wood post 4' x 4' x 12' or iron pipe 2' x 12' be used. Posts or pipe should be installed and maintained in true vertical position with 8' above ground. Top of the bracket shou'd be lower than six inches from the top of the post.
3). Sign shall be displayed in front of the dairy at roadside. An attractive post and bracket, or other frame, shall be used to display the sign. No more than three signs should be displayed from the sign frame or post, and all shall be of a style, general size and quality comparable to the Dairy of Distinction sign. Sign should be secured on all sides to avoid wind damage.
4). Signs shall not be moved to other premises. New owners of a Dairy of Distinction farm must apply to retain the sign.
5). Replacement of damaged signs shall be the discretion of the committee.
6). No producer shall be charged with scoring or sign expense.
7). Judges' decisions will be final.
8). Judging will take place between May 1st and May 31st.
9). Farms awarded a Dairy of Distinction sign in previous years will be judged between April 1st and April 30th. If they do not qualify, they will be rejudged between May 1st and May 31st so they have the opportunity to keep the sign.
10). Farms that do not requalify will return the sign to their regional Dairy of Distinction Committee.

SYSTEM 48-PLUS

The Engine "Life-Saver"

System 48-Plus is a heavyweight formula that you add to your oil in gas or diesel new or old engines at a rate of 8 oz. per 5 quart over 2 oz. per quart when engine is warm and let engine run 30 minutes. It is a formulation specifically developed to

- distribute lasting protecting in the form of a film that can support enormous between metal-to-metal contacts
- makes a smoother running engine that gives better gas mileage
- increases compression and horsepower
- more engine pep
- more power and ability to function smoother and quieter
- faster starts in colder weather
- longer engine life
- does not flush out with oil changes once treated
- Is recommended to last 30,000 miles or 3 years
- and is fully covered by limited warranty which plainly states that you must be completely satisfied or the manufacturer will issue you a refund of your total purchase price for one empty container per buyer up to 10 to 20 years so you can try one at manufacturer risk.

Price Per 8 Oz. Can 48-Plus $15.90 (Incl. Tax)

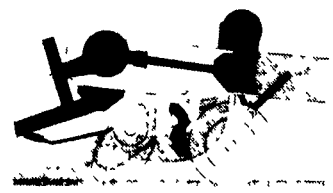
STRAIGHT TALK ABOUT FASTER BALING

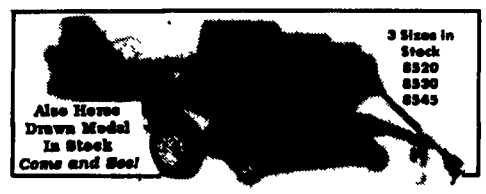
Uniquely Designed Case International Balers Put Crop Quality Into Every Bale



This Baler Can Save Thousands Of Dollars With Increased Milk Production In Greatly Reduced Leaf Loss Obtained With Our Direct Feed Crop Flow System (Unbiased Testing Has Proven The Facts—

Your Best Buy In Balers is From Binkley & Hurst Bros., Inc.

The Baler That Works!



WHY STRAIGHT IS BETTER THAN SIDEWAYS . . .

Reason #1 Transport width ranges from 7'11" to only 8'88" on our 8550 Model Conventional balers are generally 1-foot wider in transport

Reason #2 No need to widen our baler out once you're in the field or narrowing when leaving the field The conventional baler must be narrowed and widened Reduced time and effort means money

Reason #3 Never a need to pick up bales when opening a field and cropping them on the ground — you can even leave the bale thrower on and drop the back chute. Since the baler and tractor straddles the windrow, the bales dropped on the ground from previous rounds never interfere with the operation

Reason #4 Gauge wheels are mounted on both sides for better performance. Not so with conventional balers

Reason #5 Our pickup is half the height of conventional balers This means less leaves are lost because less travel distance up and over the pickup is required An optional hydraulic pickup lift is even available

Reason #6 Conventional balers use high maintenance cross feeders or sweep arms to move hay to the chamber Our baler feeds hay from the pickup straight into the chamber by the use of a simple stuffer mechanism. Leaves don't fall to the bottom of the chamber and later fall out the back. Due to our design, leaves are placed evenly throughout the bale — the leaves are not given time to settle to the bottom.

Reason #7 Due to our design, our plunger stroke distance is 25-30% less than conventional balers. Example John Deere 327, 337, 347 and 467 Models = 30" stroke, Case IH 8520 = 21.6" stroke and a high of 23" on our 8550. The result: Less wear, less side to side stress force and less repairs!

Reason #8 The clearance of our needles from the ground far exceeds conventional balers due to the high position of our chamber. This translates to less breakage and bending of the needles due to hitting high places in the field, etc.

Reason #9 We have equal baler weight distribution on both carrying wheels for easier handling and less side pull on hills

Reason #10 The distance from the end of our bale chamber to the thrower belts is enough so that the thrower doesn't fight the bale, i.e., the bale is not still wedged in the chamber when the thrower first contacts the bale

Reason #11 Our bale edges are sharp and corners are square on all types of hay - excellent when stackers are used or hay is hauled by truck

Reason #12 Proven and reliable Deering type knotters on all center line balers.

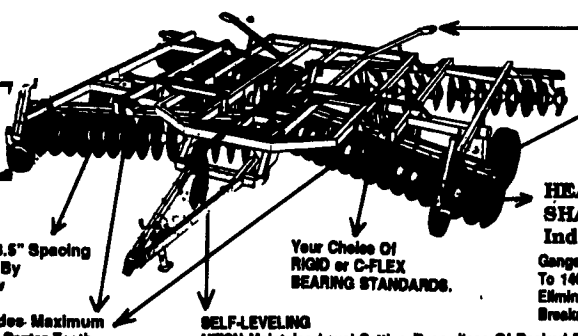
WHY BUY A SUNFLOWER DISC HARROW?

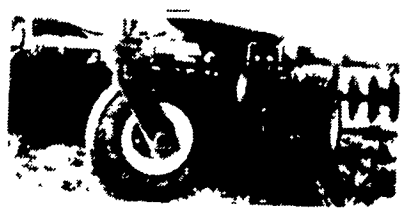
The Reasons Are Obvious! Sizes From 10' to 15' And 18' to 32' Folding

Check Out The Rest - Then Buy The Best! SUNFLOWER

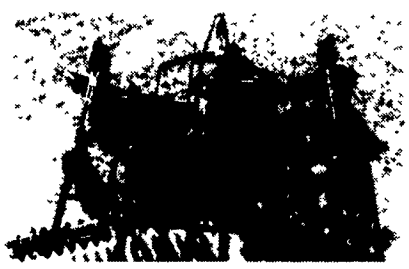


TRANSPORT WIDTH On Wing Units Up To 24'2" Working Width Is A SAFE 12'4" Transport.
3 YEAR WARRANTY On Triple Lip Sealed Trunnion Mounted, Regreasable BEARINGS
WING GAUGE WHEELS Eliminate Gouging
BLADES: ¼ "x22" or ¼ "x24" On 8.5" Spacing 3 Sided Blade Prevents Erosion By Eliminating A Continuous Furrow
Your Choice Of RIGID or C-FLEX BEARING STANDARDS.
HEAVIEST AXLE SHAFTS In The Industry - 1¾ " Dia. Gangs Are Hydraulically Torqued To 1400 Lbs. & Spring-Loaded To Eliminate Loosening, Wear And Breakage.
DOUBLE OFFSET DESIGN Provides Maximum Leveling Without A Middle Buster Or Center Tooth
SELF-LEVELING HITCH Maintains Level Setting Regardless Of Desired Depth Or Tillage Application

The Secret To A Level Field Is The Sunflower GAUGE WHEELS



A trademark on all FLEXIBLE Sunflower Discs is Front-Mounted Gauge Wheels. This Important Feature Prevents the Front Gangs Of The Wing Frame From Gouging, Buckling or Cutting Deeper Than The Other Gangs, Promoting A Level Ridge Or Furrow-Free Field. The Heavy Duty Gauge Wheel Features A 5-Bolt Hub And 8.00x10 Ply Tire & Tube.



DOUBLE OFFSET DESIGN

TRY A LITTLE TENDERNESS

Bulk-handling systems were developed for one primary reason: greater efficiency in larger operations But sometimes, bulk-handling can mean rough-handling

That's why Binkley & Hurst is your one-stop source for a complete line of bulk-handling equipment that treats seed and grain with kid gloves Our unique auger with brush-flighting, for example, is ideal for movement of beans and other delicate seeds. The compact bristles produce a gentle sweeping action at the flight edge which smoothly conveys seed into the planter and limits varietal contamination.

Brush-flighting is also available as an option on Unverferth's 6-inch truck and grain box augers that serve your planting and harvesting needs

NO-TIL GRAIN DRILL SPECIALISTS

Building NO-TIL DRILLS Since 1982

GETTING SEED IN THE GROUND IS THE REASON FOR BEING...

FEATURING Parallel Linkage, Double Disc Openers
GREAT PLAINS Drills Put Seeds Where You Want It -
But The LITTLE THINGS Make the Difference!

1 SPEED-CHANGE GEARBOX makes seeding rate changes easier

3 DIAL-A-DEPTH system makes changing planting depth quick & easy

2 FLUTED SEED CUPS - a Great Plains exclusive - deliver outstanding accuracy. Whether the seed you're drilling is small, large or fragile, the Great Plains time-proven metering system will deliver the rate you choose evenly and gently - without scuffing.

4 LARGE ALL-WELDED SEEDBOX holds up to 3 bushels per foot. The lid is rain tight to protect your seed.

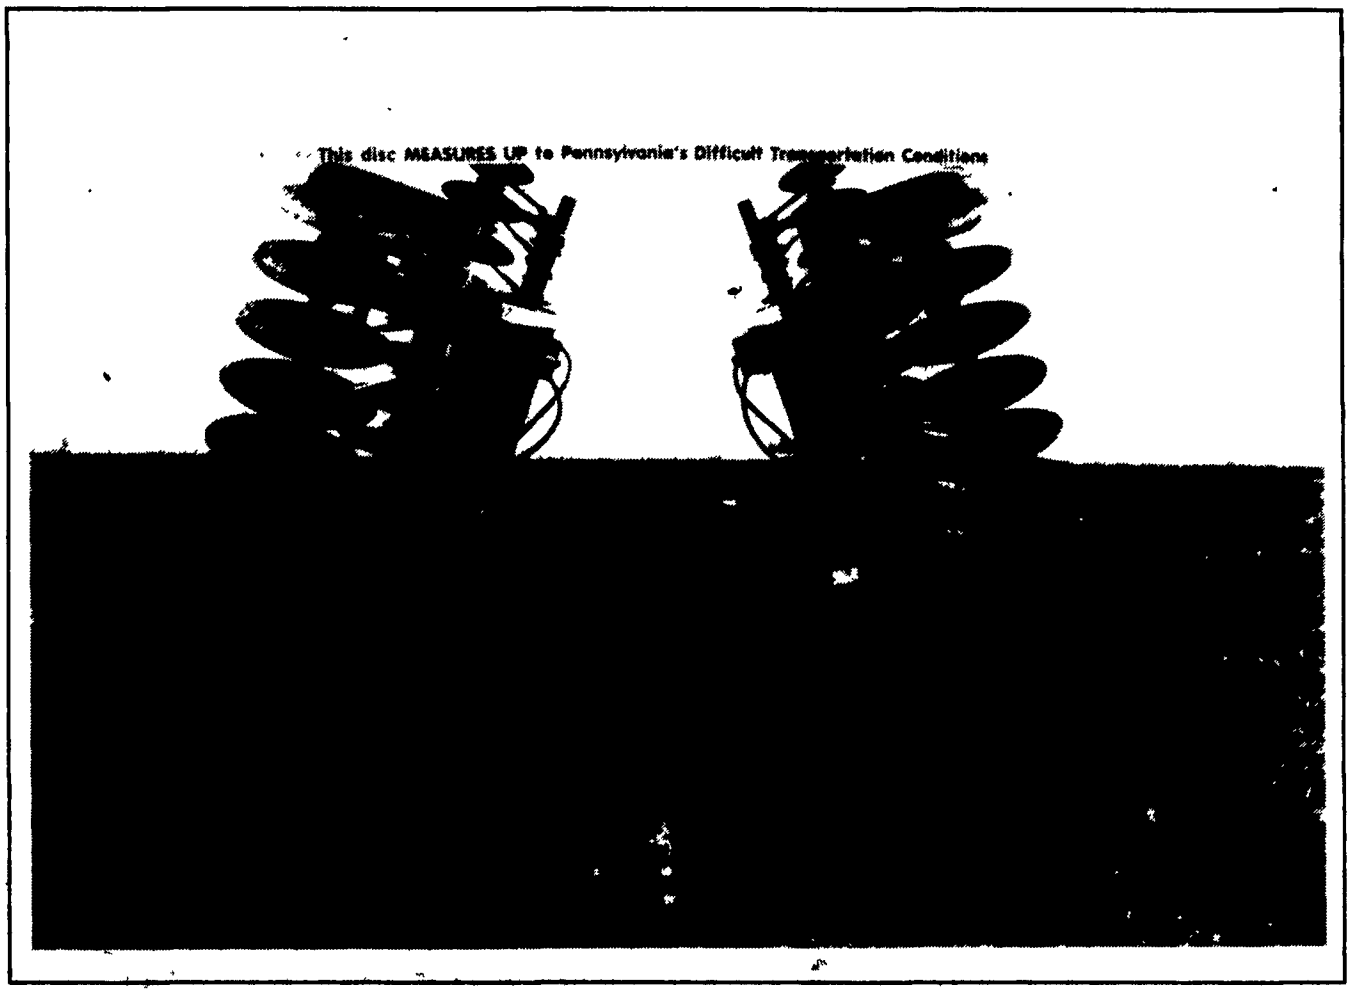
KRAUSE CONSERVATION TILLAGE

ROCKFLEX DISC HARROWS

Conserve Your Soil...



KRAUSE PLOW CORPORATION has always been THE LEADER in building CONSERVATION TILLAGE systems designed to prepare a level seedbed in all types of soils and field conditions...

- From Krause you've always expected a superior job of cutting & finishing to produce top crop yields.
- Now that the Government has dictated you increase your crop residue, KRAUSE has responded with conservation blades that will increase your crop residue over older discs.
- And you still get engineered dependability just like you always have with KRAUSE.

Choose from (6) Series
Series	Width of Cut	Blade Size	Blade Spacing

February 20-24 - Refreshments Feb. 23 9 to 4

The advanced air-cooled engines in the 7600 Series eliminate 40% of the parts that cause engine downtime. No gaskets, no radiators, no water pumps, no hoses, no thermostats, no anti-freeze. Just hassle-free maintenance. Precision individual Bosch fuel injection pumps provide quicker starts, better fuel economy and greater productivity. These high performance 89 to 128 PTO hp tractors also come with 24F/12R transmissions for more versatility. With all-wheel drive and comfortable operator cabs, you get maximum efficiency. Plus, they're backed by a strong AGCO warranty - four years or 4,000 hours as standard. See your local AGCO Allis dealer today, and ask about flexible Agricredit financing.

We redesigned the GLEANER® rotary from header to spreader with fewer moving belts and chains. So you get greater reliability and reduced maintenance during harvest. And now, three of four models* offer you an engine choice – a high torque rise Cummins diesel or a low maintenance air-cooled Deutz, both loaded with power to spare. Check out the combine that's built for greater reliability and backed by a strong AGCO warranty and superior service – the GLEANER rotary. Visit your local AGCO GLEANER dealer today. Silo Unloader

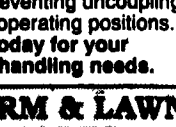
When it comes to cold weather performance, Badger's FROST BUSTERS are unsurpassed by any other silo unloader. They are the heavyweight division champions for cutting through and delivering frozen, hard-packed silage. They thrive in conditions that would send most others packing. That's why they're called FROST BUSTERS. From the tough chipper wheel to the spout, the FROST BUSTER won't let you down. The BN2610 is available as a Ring Drive or Pack Drive model. The FROST BUSTER... make it your unloader.

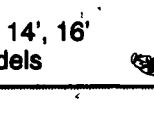
Gutter Cleaner Chain



The hook chain makes this barn cleaner different. The Badger name makes it dependable.
- One piece, precision machined, cast iron transmission frame
- Heavy box beam, corrosion resistant, high strength Cor-Ten steel elevator standard
- Smooth operation with proven reverse curve
- Heavy-duty cast iron corner rollers with large diameter pins for long life
- Unique Hook-Lok feature means easy assembly and disassembly while preventing uncoupling during normal operating positions.

See us today for your manure handling needs.

Forage Boxes



- High strength alloy steel frame
- 23-½" wide high-speed cross conveyor
- Three slant back spiral beaters
- Galvanized roof and multiple reinforced cross ties and "knee braces"
- Lifetime warranty on sides and deck
- Choice of 14', 16' or 18' models

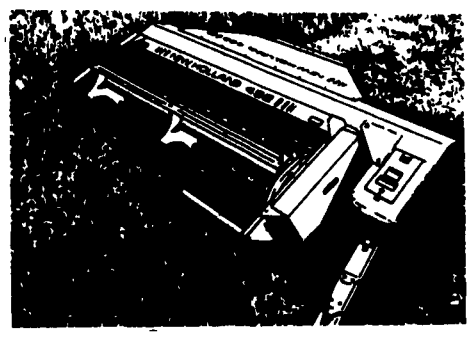
NEW HOLLAND

CLOSE, EVEN CUTTING

The Model 492 Haybine ® is the ultimate nine-foot mower-conditioner. Its unique lightweight header floats over ground contours for a close, even cut and less cutterbar damage.

Get all your crop. Stop by and take a look at the Model 492!



NEW HOLLAND

ROLABAR® RAKES WITHSTAND THE TEST OF TIME

Models 256 & 258 In Stock

Don't settle for second best when it comes to rakes. Choose the original -- a dependable New Holland Rolabar® rake. The rake more farmers buy over all other brands combined. Why? Because its rugged construction makes it one hard-working, hay-grabbing machine.

See the original Rolabar rake today.

THE TEDDER THAT RAKES

Now, you can rake and ted with the same machine – the New Holland Model 254 rake tedder. The Model 254 lets you perform a variety of haymaking functions... rake a swath into a windrow, rake two windrows into one, turn windrows, and move crop away from treelines and fences. And, without tools you can convert the Model 254 into a tedder that will fluff up wet, matted-down crop for quick drying.

Stop in today. Let us show you the flexibility of the New Holland Model 254 rake tedder...only from Ford New Holland.

NEW HOLLAND

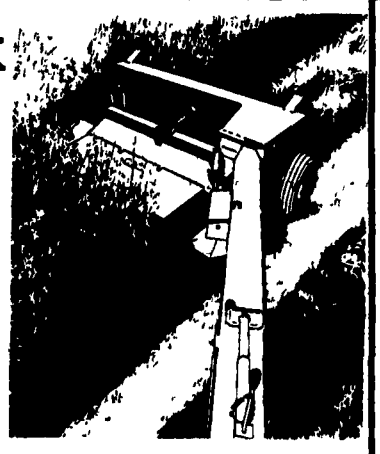
MAKES QUICK WORK OUT OF TOUGH CUTTING

You'll mow through tough crops fast with a Model 411 Discbine® disc mower-conditioner. You get:

- Six discs for a 9'9" cut.
- Sensitive header flotation for a clean, even cut.
- Chevron-design rolls and torsion-bar roll-pressure for gentle, consistent conditioning without plugging.

Stop in for details.

NEW HOLLAND



YOU'RE IN CONTROL

The Model 900 forage harvester puts you in control of your harvest:

- Rugged 21-inch, 12-knife cutterhead for a uniform chop.
- Exclusive flip-up feedrolls provide convenient access to the shearbar and smooth rolls scraper.
- Electromagnetic clutches provide instant response in controlling feedroll and attachment drives.
- Optional Metalert® II metal detector protects cutterhead and your valuable animals.

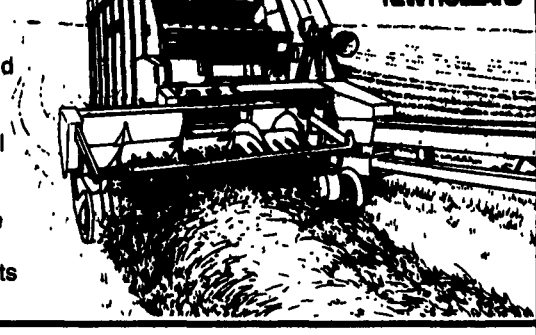
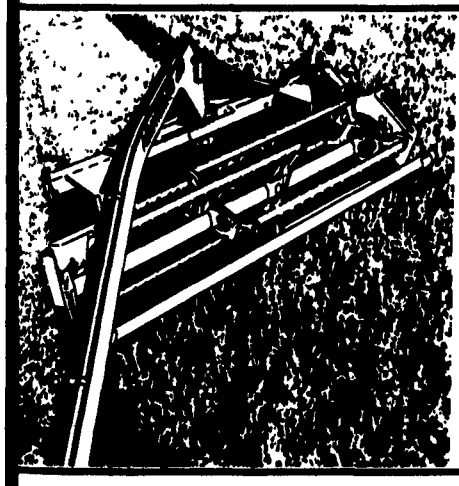
NEW HOLLAND





CAPACITY AND CONVENIENCE

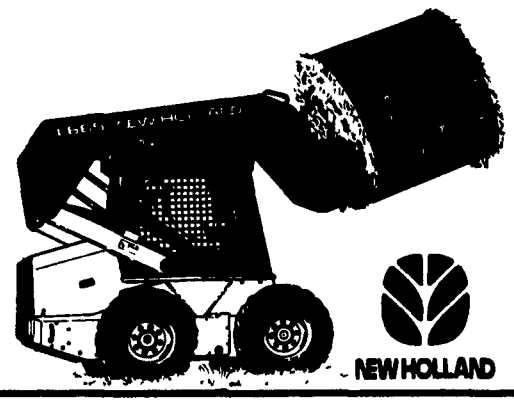
The Model 499 Haybine® mower-conditioner gives you 12-foot capacity with pivot-tongue convenience, plus:

- Patented Rollareel header - no auger needed.
- Fast, clean cutting from dual sickles.
- Thorough, plug-free conditioning from chevron-design rolls.

Put a "499" to work for you.

NEW HOLLAND

WHAT MAKES YOU SO TOUGH?



With the New Holland Model LX665 Super Boom™ skid-steer loader, the answer is simple: everything. The "LX665" is designed for the best in durability, reliability and performance.

The "LX665" has 50 turbocharged horses and a 1,700 pound operating load. And, with the Pick Up 'n Go™ universal attachment system, you can really get hooked on this machine.

So stop in today and see what makes the "LX665" so tough.

NEW HOLLAND

SAVE TIME AT THE SILO

Increase your productivity with a Model 40 forage blower. The Whirl-A-Feed® table breaks up clumps and spins crop into the blower at high speed. This means less drag on the fan and more efficient use of your tractor's horsepower.

Stop by and learn more about the Model 40.

NEW HOLLAND

THE BENCHMARK FOR DURABILITY

New Holland builds grinder-mixers right and backs them with quality parts and service.

The Model 358 has a 125-bushel tank specially designed to eliminate bridging. The optional electronic scale more than pays for itself by weighing accurately for more feed efficiency.

Crop flow is the secret

Four intake and precompression rollers pack the crop together densely Hydraulic dampers smooth out any bumps in crop flow, if irregularities should occur. the rollers are driven positively by gearboxes and drive shafts. The lower front roller houses the latest generation CLAAS "PROTECTOR" metal detector. The 17" distance between it and the drum is greater than on any other forager, thus improving the chances of stopping metal from getting into the cylinder, and giving a much faster feedroller speed.
Easy, comfortable chop length adjustment. The gearbox provides for 6 different chop lengths: 5/32, 13/64, 1/4, 9/32, in corn, plus two extra lengths in grass. when so equipped, the changeover between two lengths in each range can be done at the touch of a button The header is also switched over from slow or fast at the same time.

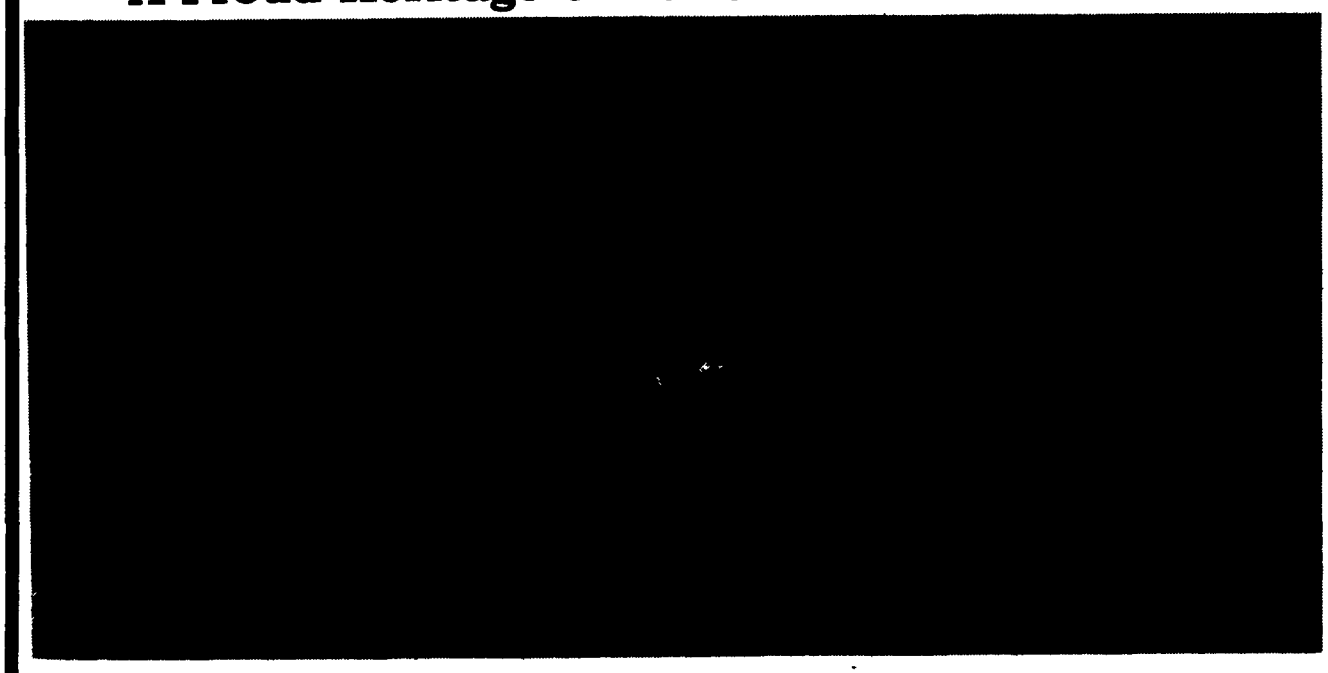
A Proud Heritage of Performance And Value Continues. MF 200 Series



The newest MF 200 Series tractors carry forward the traditions set forth by Harry Ferguson when he invented the first modern tractor over 75 years ago.

Ferguson, a successful tractor dealer and talented mechanic in Ireland, observed that simply relying on the weight of the tractor for traction was inefficient. In addition, simply hitching a plow to the drawbar frequently caused tractors to rear over backward when the plow struck an obstruction. Late in 1917, Ferguson applied for the first of a long series of patents that defined what came to be known as the "Ferguson System"

MASSEY FERGUSON

For serious loader jobs, you can't beat an MF 253 with the speed of an optional synchro shuttle transmission and the traction of 4-wheel drive. New for '93!

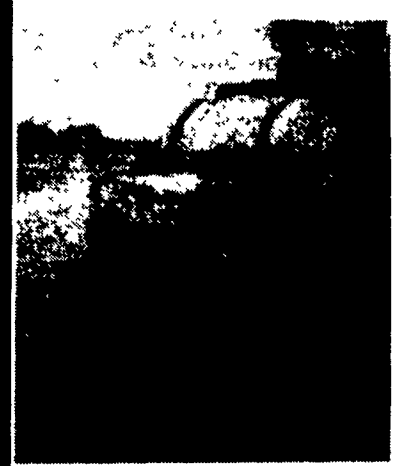
AG-AIR MIST SPRAYER

The Closer You Look - The Better We Look



FRUITS & VEGETABLES

Many producers/growers have sprayed their crops with Ag-Air Mist Sprayers. They have reported excellent results and in half the time in such crops as sweet corn, tomatoes, cabbage, onions, cucumbers, strawberries, peppers, melons, grapes, cranberries, raspberries, wild blueberries and edible beans. For vegetable fungicides and insecticides, they are using approximately 1-2 gallons of total spray per acre at swath width ranging from 40' to 60'. With vine crops such as melons, cucumbers, pumpkins and grapes, the Mist Sprayer will deposit spray droplets on the underside of the leaves. This is next to impossible with a conventional boom sprayer or aerial spraying. With a Mist Sprayer there are no streaks or missed spots as in aerial spraying and 100% better control of the chemical and its target area with proper application and bordering.

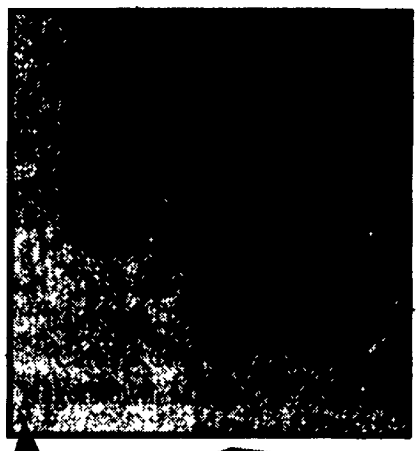
IT'S ABOUT TIME

- About the time you waste stick welding.
- About the time you spend chipping slag.
- About the time you spend grinding spatter.
- About the time you spend breathing fumes.



GET A M.I.G.!

115 VOLT

SYSTEMATIC'S MP 140 is the heaviest duty 115 volt M.I.G. welder available. By using the same components as they use in industrial machines SYSTEMATICS is able to give you 140 amps, at a 60% duty cycle. This machine is ideal for the handy man, body shop, or light fabricator. This machine comes ready-to-run, with wheels, regulator, wire, and a Tregaskiss "Tough Gun" mig torch.

SYSTEMATIC'S MP 175 has copper windings, giving it a smooth and stable arc, is spool-gun ready for aluminum work, has a voltmeter, fan cooling, and thermal overload protection. It can produce up to 200 amps, and is capable of welding 1/4" material in a single pass. It also comes ready-to-run, with the Tregaskiss "Tough Gun" mig torch.
